A Level Headed King
Goodbye, Horse
The Talmud, On Woman
A Useful War

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1936, by King Features Syndicate, Inc., International Copyright and all other rights reserved.)

A LEVEL HEADED young man is the new English king. After seeing the new giant Cunarder named for his mother, walking seven miles up and down in it, he visited the slums of Glasgow, called the worst and "reddest" in England. Some ultra "left wing" city councilors refused to be presented to him. "That's perfectly all right," said the king. "Tell them I'll come over and have tea with them instead." This he did. Two thousand shipworkers cheered, and called him "good old Teddy."

The king who visited individual tenements, knocking at the doors, patting babies on the head, keeps up with the times. No English king did that before.

THE AUTOMOBILE has conquered. After struggling vainly, New York's Riding club has folded its tent, "ceased to be." Its members in the past fifty-five years included Morgan, Carnegie, Belmont, Astor, Thomas Fortune Ryan and six Vanderbilts. For years it was hard to "get in"; then nobody wanted to join, the membership dwindled to almost nothing and now the club is as dead as the Queen of Sheba's camel.

The horse has seen his day, except on farms, and as a gambling machine on the racetrack.

MRS. MARY BEARD who feels that men do not appreciate women sufficiently, as indeed they do not, will find comfort in the writings of the Talmud. Those old rabbis spent their lives in study and observation and understood woman's value. For instance:

"Who is rich?" He who has a good wife."

"Woman has better instincts in gauging the character of a stranger than a man.

"A man should be careful lest he cause a woman to weep for "God counts their tears."

THOSE WHO BELIEVE, some sincerely, that the so-called proletariat should or could lead the world should read the Talmud story of the snake's tail. It complained to the head, "You always lead, I stay in the background. Why should I not lead some times?" The head said "all right, lead." And the tail led the way into a muddy ditch, then into a fire, next into thorns and finally said to the head: "You lead. I'm sick of it."

There are many collections of Talmudic tales that would interest you.

NEXT SUMMER, Chicago entomologists will watch fifty million mosquitoes after they have been dyed red, green, yellow, blue and brown, and learn how far mosquitoes can fly.

The mosquito swarms will be sprayed with various colors, letting scientists keep track of their wanderings. The question, unfortunately, is not how far a mosquito can fly, but how far railways, motor buses and, now, airplanes can carry mosquitoes, to start colonies elsewhere. If men ever have time for useful war they will begin with a fight on mosquitoes, rats and ground squirrels, carriers of the most dangerous plagues.

IT IS UNPLEASANT news that Sir John Simon, British home secretary, gives the house of commons concern-

MYSTERY INJECTED INTO STATE PROBE OF PRISON BREAK

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 7.—(AP)—A question as to the identity of the ringleader of the sensational prison break yesterday which cost three lives injected a note of mystery tonight into Governor Tom Berry's investigation of the crime.

Word came from Burlingame, Kan., raising some doubt whether the lanky 18-year-old gunman who maneuvered the break actually was the person he said he was, Claude Carrier, a brother of one of the principals.

Burlingame police said all five brothers of Harold Carrier, whose attempted liberation set off the episode which authorities termed the most serious in the state's history, were at home and that none was named Claude.

They said they planned to question closely both Harold and his avowed brother, who is in a prison hospital under heavy guard, recovering from gun wounds in the arm and shoulder. Harold, serving a six-year term for auto theft was in solitary confinement.

COMPANION IS UNABLE TO SAVE NINE-YEAR-OLD LAD

Fire Department Quickly Recovers Body After Alarm Is Received

Telling his companion that he was "going to learn to swim," Everett Lee Cooper, 9-year-old son of C. E. Cooper, city linesman, living at 506 Morrison avenue, stepped into the water of one of the artificial ponds in the southeastern section of Bernstein park, and was drowned Saturday afternoon.

Young Cooper went to the park about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon accompanied by Delmar Masters, Jr., whose home is at 2800 Gordon avenue, to play. When they approached the pond he suggested to Masters that they both go in for a swim. Masters refused, saying that he could not swim and tried to dissuade the victim from going in. The latter, however, took off his clothes and, saying that he was going to learn to swim anyhow, stepped into the water which at that point is about 10 feet deep, and at once sank. He came up struggling and calling for help and his companion tried to get him out with a stick but was unsuccessful.

Seeing that Cooper was drowning, young Masters ran to the Smoot field airport, and from there telephoned to the fire department, which sent the American Legion emergency truck to the scene and at once dragged the pond, recovering the body with the first drag. First aid treatment was administered by Fire Chief Frank A. Roddy and Captains Tom Dupree, J. W. Faler, H. L. Hale and others, but after working an hour, during which

GOTHAM STRIKE INCLUDES HOTELS

Week-End Receipts Are Affected By Walkouts Of Building Employes

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—Timing their drive to hit the week-end transient business, building service strikers tonight strove to disrupt Gotham's hotel and theatrical centers.

By ordering walkouts a half a hundred hotels they created a situation that was called serious, as it affected week-end receipts.

At the same time the striking elevator operators, porters and other building workers tightened their picket lines at hold-out apartment houses. A definite falling off of week-end reservations was reported by theaters and night clubs.

While most managers discounted the effect of the hotel walkout, one official said the usual week-end influx of guests had changed to a general exodus.

Chris Houlihan, head of the union's hotel division, said 45 members of the United Mine Workers of America, here to negotiate a new anthracite coal contract, had shifted their quarters from the Hotel Commodore to another hostelry "approved" by the union.

Brooklyn and Queens building owners awaited week-end developments, wondering whether threats to carry the strike into those boroughs would materialize.

Meanwhile the realty advisory

BOY IS RECOVERING AFTER OPERATION ON 'INVERTED STOMACH'

NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—(AP)—Eighteen-months-old Michael Dewey Hector, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey J. Hector, of Montegut, La., was recovering today in Tuoro infirmary here from a successful operation for "inverted stomach" performed last Thursday by Dr. Warren Rosen.

Prior to the operation the little patient could partake of scarcely any food, his parents said, and was nourished by glucose injections.

But now, after the operation has been performed, his nurse, Miss Annette Boudreaux, said Michael has retained all the food given him, including oatmeal and milk.

Weighing slightly more than 15 pounds, but constantly losing weight before the operation, Michael is now exhibiting remarkable recuperative powers, his nurse said.

One transfusion was given, the blood of his father being used.

Principals In Europe's Latest Threat To World Peace

FAIRBANKS WEDS BRITISH WOMAN

Actor And Bride Honeymooning Following Ceremony At Paris

PARIS, March 7.—(AP)—Douglas Fairbanks and his bride, the former Lady Ashley, were honeymooning tonight after a civil wedding ceremony had culminated their hectic efforts to have the French marriage laws suspended.

The couple planned to leave on a motor trip to Belgium and Holland and then to sail for China where Fairbanks plans to produce a motion picture based on the life of Marco Polo.

Their marriage was performed earlier in the day by Mayor Gaston Drucker in the gold marriage salon of the eighth ward city hall under a ceiling gaily decorated with pink Cupids.

Miss Elizabeth Govet of London attended Lady Ashley and American Ambassador Jesse Isidor Straus arrived at the last minute to sign the register as Fairbanks' witness.

The wedding brought to a climax several days of concerted effort to win suspension of the French marriage regulations of a 30-day residence and 11-day publication of banns. Final approval for the suspension was given by the state's attorney after Lady Ashley's birth certificate and her divorce decree statement had been brought by plane from London.

Mayor Drucker closed the ceremony with the traditional phrase—"I hope that your love marriage will be very happy"—and wished the newlyweds a pleasant voyage to China.

Fairbanks and Straus kept their overcoats on during the ceremony and all the wedding party were seated on red plush benches before the mayor's desk during the short legal ritual.

The wedding of the American actor and the former wife of the young British nobleman climaxed tangled marital difficulties of both principals.

The athletic actor came into the legal spotlight of the Pickford-Fairbanks-Ashley triangle for the first time when Lady Ashley's husband named him as corespondent in the young nobleman's divorce suit.

Lord Ashley won a decree at London November 28, 1934, on charges of misconduct between Lady Ashley and Fairbanks. Costs of the action, approximating $10,000, were assessed against the American actor.

BOSSIER GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE SLAYINGS

SHREVEPORT, La., March 7.—(AP)—The Bossier parish grand jury will investigate the deaths of two men and the wounding of a third at an inn near Barksdale field last June when it is convened in Benton Monday.

"Smokey" Joe Feducia and Frank Ferraro were fatally wounded in a shooting affray at the roadhouse and Frank Cascio, bartender, was wounded. Joe Armenia of Cleveland, Ohio is being held without bond in connection with the case.

Armenia was arrested in Philadelphia, Pa., six months after the shooting and returned here on a fugitive warrant. He has refused to admit any connection with the case. Another man Nick Cecola, is free under $2,000 bond as a material witness in the case.

DUCE DISPATCHES REPLY TO LEAGUE

Message Bespeaks Determination To Reach Goal In Ethiopia

ROME, March 7.—(AP)—Flanked by an imposing array of conditions, Italy's reply to the League of Nations' appeal for peace in Ethiopia was dispatched to Geneva today in a tenor bespeaking Premier Mussolini's determination to get what he started after.

The reply resolved itself down to this, after a meeting of the cabinet:

First, Italy's peace conversations will be conditioned on the realization by both the league and Emperor Haile Selassie that Italy is in Ethiopia to stay, both in territories already conquered and in others where a semi-mandatory influence will be wielded; the territory where Italy's influence must be felt, it was explained, is "defined by past treaties."

Second, Italy does not intend to let her African armies stagnate. If Ethiopia wants peace, it must seek it with an eye on the Italian mailed fist.

Il Duce made it plain that "equality" as between Italy and Ethiopia does not exist in the Italian lexicon. Hostilities cannot cease, he said, until Italy's needs and demands are satisfied.

Thus did Mussolini accept "in principle" the appeal of the League of Nations for peace in East Africa.

The dictator's demands on which he based any move for ending his campaign of occupation, recently marked by outstanding victories on the northern front, included influence on sections of Ethiopia such as the Lake Tana district, and areas west, south and southeast of Addis Ababa.

Assemblyman Says Vehicle Bureau Used As Detective Agency

TRENTON, N. J., March 7.—(AP)—The attack on Governor Harold G. Hoffman's intervention in the Bruno Richard Hauptmann case was reopened today with fresh vigor.

Basil Bruno, Republican assemblyman from Monmouth county, charged the governor is using the state motor vehicle department as a detective agency in his search for clues to a "complete solution" of the Lindbergh crime.

"And taxpayers," he added, "have to foot the bill."

Bruno introduced a resolution in the assembly Monday night, calling for investigation of the motor vehicle department. He said today he has

COREY OVERPASS GIVEN APPROVAL

Will Cost Estimated Sum Of $116,000; Bids Asked Shortly

A second overpass over the Missouri Pacific railroad will be constructed at Corey, 20 miles south of Monroe, according to information received Saturday by the Louisiana state employment service here.

The project is expected to cost $116,000 and when completed will be similar to the overpass recently completed near Sicard, east of Monroe.

The site of the proposed overpass is a juncture of the Missouri Pacific railroad and federal highway No. 165, which traverses north and south through Monroe. It has long been considered a dangerous section of the road and officials declare that the completion of the overpass will eliminate the crossing hazard.

Although the project has been approved, the contract has not yet been let and it is expected that bids for this work will be asked in the near future.

In order to prepare for the construction of the overpass which was anticipated at the time the highway was paved, a space of a quarter mile was left open so that traffic will be routed without undue inconvenience.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS GATHER AT VICKSBURG

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 7.—(AP)—Knights of Columbus from west Mississippi and northeast Louisiana today welcomed Martin H. Carmody, of Grand Rapids, Mich., supreme knight of the order in the United States.

Arriving here from Atlanta, the supreme knight immediately launched into a full day's program of activities with a dinner and reception tonight.

Washington Believes Grave Problem Created By Hitler

WASHINGTON, March 7—(AP)—Will guns boom again on the western front?

This question absorbed the capital today, as officials tensely watched Hitler's re-militarization of the German Rhineland.

In the absence of immediate official reaction, few would essay an answer. But most observers agreed that the German move, throwing off the final shackles of post-war military restrictions, was fraught with potentialities of the gravest import.

A fundamental principle of foreign policy of every French government since the allied victory over Germany in 1918 has been to keep the German western frontier, marked by the Rhine, demilitarized to remove what the French regarded as an ever present menace to the security of France and Belgium.

The German action in sending troops into the area for the first time since the Versailles treaty became effective threw a direct challenge to France, responsible circles here said,

NATION TO ACT IF PEACE MOVES OF LEAGUE FAIL

Declaration Follows Order For Garrisoning Of Northeast Frontier

HITLER ABOLISHES PACT DEMILITARIZING SECTION

Nazi Troops March Into Zone; World War Allies Study Problem

By John Evans
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

PARIS, March 7.—French officials declared tonight France was ready to use her army, supported by her allies, to compel Germany to evacuate the Rhineland, but that France first would exhaust the peaceful methods possible under the League of Nations.

This declaration followed an order by military authorities that all fortifications along the northeast frontier be garrisoned immediately with their full quotas of troops.

The order was issued shortly after the French government decided to do its "utmost" under the League of Nations' covenant to compel Germany to take its troops out of the Rhineland.

Officials declared France would ask the league to vote economic and financial sanctions against Germany. Remilitarization of the Rhineland violates the Treaty of Versailles, the pact by which the League of Nations also was created.

In authoritative quarters it was stated France would ask Great Britain, Italy and Belgium, co-signatories of the Locarno pact, which Hitler denounced, to demand immediate evacuation of the Rhineland.

This request will be made, it was said, after the league acts on the violation of the Versailles and Locarno treaties.

Russia and Czechoslovakia, it was stated by French officials, have promised France their unlimited backing against Germany's abrogation of the Locarno pact.

The ambassadors of the two nations, officials declared, told French Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin that their governments were with France "to the limit" in any action against the reich.

Authorities said that despite the drastic military order for garrisoning fortifications on the northeast frontier of France, which included the cancellation of all army leaves, the next military class would not be called to the colors before its time nor would any of the recently demobilized classes be recalled to duty.

'WATCH ON RHINE' AGAIN ESTABLISHED

By Louis P. Lochner
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

BERLIN, March 7.—Germany reestablished the "watch on the Rhine" today.

By command of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, troops crossed the famous river, regiment by regiment, to take up the posts once held by the kaiser's armies on the frontier of France.

Hitler called the action a precaution against communism and France's "iron ring around the reich." It smashed the Locarno pact and the remnants of the military clauses of the Versaillies treaty.

Der Fuehrer declared that Germany, reborn as a world power, was ready to reenter the League of Nations, but

FARMERS DESIRE SIX-CENT COTTON

Committee Overrides AAA Suggestions In Its Recommendations

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 7.—(AP)—After two days of warm controversy, a committee of 30 farmers tonight overrode AAA suggestions and recommended to Secretary Wallace that payments for diversion of cotton lands to soil conserving crops in 1936 be at the rate of six cents a pound.

Immediately after the report, H. R. Tolley, former AAA administrator, told delegates to a regional farm conference he would recommend that the secretary follow, if possible, the committee's rate schedule.

"I fear," Tolley said, "that the carrying out of your full recommendations for diversion and rates of payments would stretch to the limit the amount of available funds. It appears to me that this diversion and payment recommendation would be in excess of the allotment of funds to be made to each state."

AAA officials repeatedly had suggested that the subsidy payment for turning cotton lands to soil conserving uses should be five cents a pound.

Increasing the amount of payments to six cents a pound, officials estimated privately, probably would increase the cost of soil conservation in the south by about $27,000,000 for 1936.

For five hours today after other committees had reported recommendations concerning details of the new $500,000,000 program, several hundred farmers walked about a downtown

ACTION OF GERMANY SPLITS MARKET ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—The movement of German troops into the demilitarized Rhineland split the New York stock market today and sent metals and aircrafts higher but depressed other issues.

Among the stocks benefitting by the Nazi action were those of companies producing copper and aircrafts.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 60 cents at $62.30, and the average for foreign bonds declined 10 cents to $71.90 per $100 value. Trading on the New York exchange amounted to 1,472,130 shares compared with 880,760 shares a week ago.

In the foreign exchange market, gold currencies lost steadily against the dollar. Foreign bonds were less sensitive to the war news and French, German and Italian issues lost only fractions to around $1 per $100 par value.

VICTORY FOR TAX PLAN IS FORECAST BY HOUSE LEADERS

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—Victory for President Roosevelt's tax program was forecast today by house leaders as Democratic sentiment began to crystallize back of the plan.

House chieftains were not yet ready to forecast the exact form in which the proposal for a drastic tax on undistributed corporation profits would be framed, but they expressed confidence the basic features would be approved.

Chief point of attack on the president's proposal for raising $620,000,000 annually was that it would discourage corporations from setting up reserves to tide them over lean years.

In reply, Democratic leaders contended that even with an average tax of 33 1-2 per cent on distributed profits, corporations which laid aside a third of their income for a rainy day would pay less taxes under the president's proposal than they do at the present time with an average tax of about 16 per cent on all profits.

NATION TO ACT IF PEACE MOVES OF LEAGUE FAIL

Then, in an effort to prove that his act was the will of the German people, he dissolved the nation's parliament, the rechstag, and ordered elections for March 29. It is the composition of the reichstag which determines the government of Germany.

Hitler called his action a move for peace. He offered to sign a 25-year non-aggression pact with France and Belgium, with Great Britain and Italy as guarantors.

He offered friendship to Lithuania and Czechoslovakia.

He assured Poland that Germany had no designs on Pomorze, the Polish corridor to the Baltic sea.

(But the French and Belgian governments, alarmed, cancelled all leaves for their soldiers. The British government consulted immediately with diplomats of Belgium, France, and Italy, the co-signatories of the Locarno pact.)

The German government's action was delivered with the suddenness so characteristic of Hitler. He called the members of the diplomatic corps, including William E. Dodd, United States ambassador, to his chancellory and delivered to them a memorandum setting forth what he intended to do.

He told the diplomats that Germany was alarmed by the recently concluded treaty of military alliance between France and Soviet Russia and stated: "The obligations which France assumed in the new pact are not compatible with her obligations under the Rhine pact."

He referred to the agreement by which both France and Germany promised to keep their soldiers out of the Rhineland—the area into which the soldiers of the reich marched today.

He said that the German government had no assurance that France would not elect a communist government, and he declared that, in such case, France would be governed from Moscow and not from Paris. (France recently elected a second communist member to the senate).

He continued: "In the interest of the primitive right of a nation to secure her own borders and to safeguard her possibilities of defense, the German government therefore, beginning today, restored the full, unmitigated sovereignty of the reich in the demilitarized zone of the Rhineland."

But, stated Hitler, the world should not consider this act militant.

"In order," he said, "to pledge the purely defensive character of these measures beyond peradventure of doubt, and in order further to give expression to its eternally constant yearning for the real pacification of Europe and states having equal rights and enjoying equal respect, the German reich government declares itself willing, on the basis of the following proposals, to enter upon new arrangements for the erection of a new system for the safeguarding of the peace of Europe.

The suggestion embraced six points:

1. Treaties among Germany, France and Belgium creating new demilitarized zones along their frontiers.
2. A 25-year non-aggression pact among Germany, France and Belgium.
3. The inclusion of Great Britain and Italy as guarantors of this pact.
4. The inclusion of the Netherlands in this pact.
5. A general defensive aviation agreement among all western European nations to guard against a sudden attack by anyone.
6. A non-aggression pact with Poland and other nations on Germany's eastern border.

After he had delivered his memorandum to the diplomats, Hitler went before the reichstag and talked two hours to the accompaniment of cheers from his loyal legislators.

He told them in detail what he had done. He paid tribute to Woodrow Wilson as a statesman who had envisaged a league of all nations "destined to bring peoples nearer each other in mutual regard and understanding."

This was the dream, he said, but the reality was that the league regarded the world as separated into victors and vanquished, and Germany, for the honor of her own people, had to withdraw from the latter classification.

"The German people need no special aid for maintaining their life," he declared. "They merely wish to have no less favorable chances than those accorded other nations."

Observers of the proceedings said they felt that by offering to return to the League of Nations, Hitler had made it impossible for the league to invoke sanctions against Germany.

The men who faced Hitler in the reichstag cheered their leader's words until they were hoarse. Out in the streets, traffic stopped, while the citizens gathered around radio loudspeakers to hear his voice.

People cheered in the streets in unison with the cheers in the reichstag.

Nazi flags suddenly flew from all public buildings, and most homes, as well, in celebration of what the government termed "the regained German freedom."

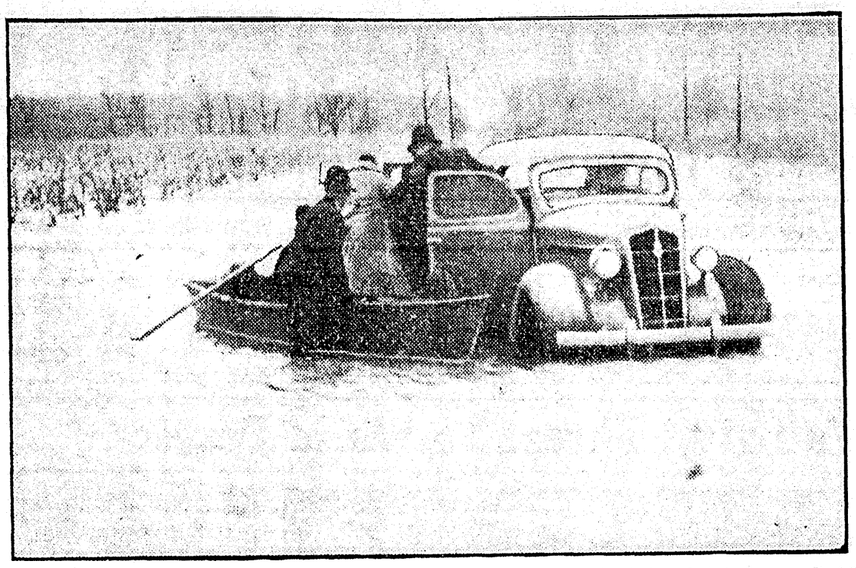
A government announcement said the reoccupation of the Rhineland by the grey-green troops will be completed tomorrow.

Approximately 15,000 men will be stationed there.

Nine thousand infantrymen and 2,500 artillerymen are going into the area from the interior of Germany. The area between the Black forest and the Rhine was assigned the heaviest concentrations.

Other units include air corps groups and anti-aircraft detachments.

BY BOAT AND AUTO FAMILY ESCAPES FROM FLOOD ZONE



Rescue from their flood-besieged home here came to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kornieck and their four small children after they had been trapped for two days by the waters of the Portage river, inundatng thousands of acres of farm land south of Bowling Green, Ohio. State highway employes made a dangerous boat trip against wind and current to bring the family to the auto which they are shown entering, after it had been driven to the flood edge.

BELGIUM CANCELS LEAVES OF ABSENCE

BRUSSELS, March 7.—(AP)—Leaves of absence of all Belgian troops stationed in eastern frontier garrisons were cancelled tonight by the Belgian government.

The military order was announced in newspapers after Premier Paul van Zeeland had conferred with King Leopold and participated in conferences with British, French and Italian ambassadors to Brussels.

The government sought to keep the population of the capital calm after the reichstag speech of Adolf Hitler by broadcasting appeals urging the people not to accept alarming reports.

REACTION SLOW FROM MOSCOW

MOSCOW, March 7. — (AP) — From Moscow—the bolshevik capital upon which Der Fuehrer piled bitter word after bitter word today—the reaction was slow. But some commentators thought the third reich's sudden thrust might hasten final ratification of the Franco-Russian pact.

ENGLAND BELIEVES PROBLEM NOT DESPERATE

By Charles P. Nutter

(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

LONDON, March 7.—Neutral diplomatic circles, after a careful study of Adolf Hitler's memorandum, believed the situation created today by the German remilitarization of the Rhineland is far from desperate if France remains calm and does not demand forceful action.

This is no time, diplomats agreed, for snap decisions.

A week-end conference at the country home of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin was hurriedly arranged by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden after he had discussed Hitler's bold move with the French and Italian ambassadors and the Belgian charge d'affaires.

The government, authoritative sources, said, will proceed "coolly, calmly and carefully." A cabinet session is scheduled for Monday.

Military observers generally agreed Hitler's action came at a moment embarrassing to Britain, both diplomatically and militarily, because of the Italo-Ethiopian precautions.

With about 175 war craft in and near the Mediterranean, together with between 300 and 400 airplanes and between 30,000 and 40,000 troops in Egypt, Britain is in poor condition to assert its voice in western European affairs, observers believed.

If any of these ships, planes and troops were withdrawn for concentration at home, it would likely give Mussolini a freer hand in Ethiopia, and perhaps endanger the vital Suez Canal link to the far east.

The Nazis moved into the Rhineland before Britain had time to approve the immense new defense program announced as designed to repair the gaps in the home defense.

However, Hitler's action was believed to insure acceptance of the rearmament and defense program in the house of commons next week.

The day's rapid-moving developments delayed a decision as to whether Eden would go to Geneva for next Tuesday's session of the League of Nations, originally scheduled to consider the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

NO ACTION IS PLANNED BY ITALY

ROME, March 7.—(AP)—Italy, although a guarantor of the Locarno pact, met the news of Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland today with the determination to do nothing about it.

Well-informed Italians picked up the pieces of the European jig-saw puzzle, swept over Europe by Hitler's denunciation of the Locarno pact, and reassembled them in what they considered the following key position:

1. Italy will not rush aid to France and England to drive German troops out of the Rhineland zone, even though her obligations under the Locarno pact bind her to do so.
2. There is much doubt in Rome if France and England will invoke the Locarno pact against Germany.
3. If they should, however, Italy can always answer: "Why should we help nations employing sanctions against us?"

The Fascists well recall that the enthusiasm brought about by the Stresa conference—at which England, France and Italy agreed upon a joint program of action following Hitler's rearmament of Germany last year—had hardly cooled before Britain signed a separate naval accord with Germany.

Italy has long agreed with Germany that the covenant of the League of Nations should be separated from the treaty of Versailles, which provided for a demilitarized Rhineland zone.

Mussolini has often pronounced the Versailles treaty both unfair and practically invalidated.

M'CLARY NAMED FOR ANNAPOLIS

High Scholastic Standing Results In His Appointment

Cadet Bill McClary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam H McClary, a student at a military institute at Marion, Ala., since last fall, has just been approved by Congressman Riley J. Wilson for appointment at the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, Md.

Young McClary was selected from a large number of applicants due to his high scholastic standing which is such as to admit him to the naval academy without having to pass any mental tests. Only physical examinations will be required, and he has already passed the preliminary physical examination successfully, it was stated here Saturday.

McClary's admittance without examinations is due to the fact that his grades in the Marion institute and in the Ouachita parish high school, where he graduated last May, were unusually high. In his high school class of more than 200, McClary stood third on the list in scholastic rating.

At the Marion institute he was included among the 28 cadets who were named on the dean's list for the month of November which meant that his grades were above 85 per cent.

City Briefs

Six weeks' tests will be initiated at the Northeast Center of Louisiana State university on Monday and will be continued through the week, Dean C. C. Colvert reported.

F. T. Burns, state supervisor of music, will spend Thursday and Friday in Ouachita parish making an inspection of the music work done here. He will be accompanied by Roger Frisbie, director of music in Northeast Center, on the trip through the parish.

The natural history exhibits from the plant of the Coca-Cola Bottling company on Walnut street have been removed to the Northeast Center, where they will remain for the next few days in charge of R. H. Murdaugh.

The U. S. internal revenue office, located in suite 309-310 new postoffice building, will be open until 6 p.m., during the present week to accommodate those who wish to make income tax reports, Ralph C. Griffith, collector, stated. On the night of March 16, the office will be open until midnight, and from now on until then, which is the last day for making returns, there will be an extra staff in the office to assist the public in filling out their income tax blanks.

The Methodist Men's club of the First Methodist church will hold its monthly supper at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the church annex. There will be a musical program in charge of Mrs. George Moffett, director of music in Ouachita parish high school, who will present a mixed quartet. The principal address will be given by Rev. S. S. Holliday, Jr., pastor of Gordon Avenue church.

The Booster club of the Missouri Pacific railroad held its monthly meeting at the clubhouse on Ouachita avenue on Friday night with a large number in attendance. R. R. Gatlin, local wholesale grocer, was the chief speaker of the occasion.

Paul Pace, son of Mrs. Effie Pace of West Monroe, who enlisted in the United States navy last September, has just been transferred from Norfolk, Va., to the U. S. S. Arizona at San Pedro, Calif.

Members of the Neville high school band are proudly displaying their letters that arrived here recently from New Orleans. The letter is in the shape of an "N." Black and gold are used in the color scheme and the design is that of a lyre. The letters are worn over white sweaters. In order to be entitled to receive these letters, the band leader, Charles Gaushell, requires that members play in a specified number of concerts.

The north lane of the paving on Louisville avenue is now completed all the way to the bridge. Dirt work is in progress in order to make ready for the pouring of the south lane. Virtually two miles of the south lane remains to be poured. The distance from the new traffic bridge to the DeSiard street intersection is three miles. Both lanes have been paved to the crossing of the Little Rock and Monroe branch of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

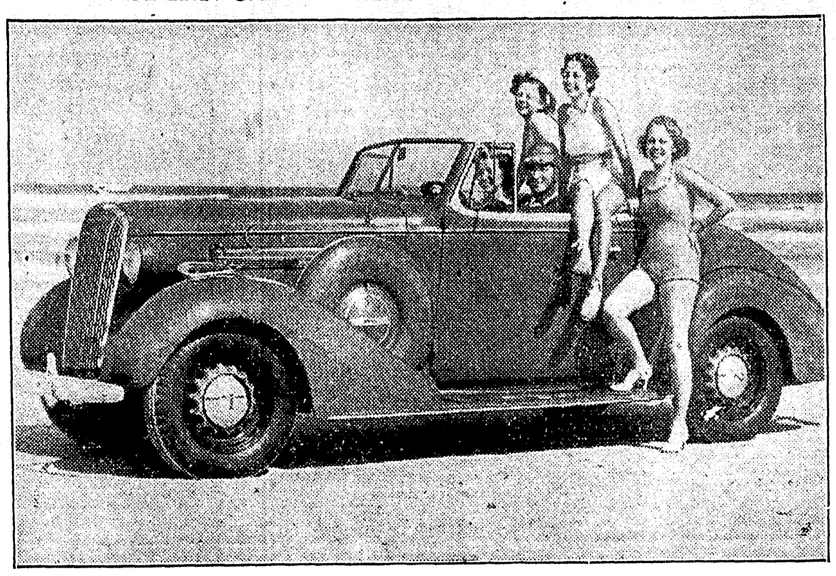
Stockholders of the Monroe Building and Loan association will hold their annual meeting at 106 St. John street, Tuesday at 8 p.m. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. to elect directors. W. R. McWilliams is secretary of the company.

The Neville high school "Band Mothers" have just competed their plans for the appearance here on March 23 at the school auritorium, of the Russian chorus which is directed by Margarita Slaviansky. The chorus appeared in Monroe five years ago and made a big hit with a large audience. Net proceeds will be used for the fund devoted to the equipment of the band members with uniforms.

Prof. J. E. Sturgis, of Cincinnati, who is directing the musical features of the revival services at the First Christian church, will give a program of violin and vocal music over station KMLB from 6 o'clock to 6:30 tonight. Prof. Sturgis will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Sturgis.

Joccelyn James, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. James, is reported seriously ill at a local hospital suffering from an attack of influenza and bronchitis.

EASTERN CHAMP 'TRAINS' FOR AUTO RACE



Auto racing has its perils for George Mackenzie of Eddington, Pa., champion of the eastern states, but there's certainly nothing unpleasant about the way George does his "training" for the National championship stock car race at Daytona Beach, Fla., March 8. BE CAREFUL about sun bathing and how you do it; marvelous for your health, creating vitamin D in your blood, when done wisely. It is dangerous otherwise; the higher the altitude the more dangerous the actinic rays. The humidity laden lower atmosphere protects us. UNCLE SAM may have an international "spy-ring" excitement of his own. Secret service men seek a mysterious "white woman and a cultured Oriental." They want to ask some questions about secret papers concerning our navy. This country shows all foreigners everything it has and you wonder what use there could be for spies, here.

GOVERNOR FITZGERALD of Michigan, in New York, says balancing a budget is easy. "You balance a budget by keeping expenditures within your income and putting your foot down hard when anybody comes along with a scheme requiring that you mortgage future revenues."

It seems simple, but not everybody can do it.

AN INTERESTING experiment is to be tried in the elimination of citizens from public relief. Washington says more than 700,000 WPA workers will be dropped from their jobs before July 1.

The response of the 700,000 to that move will be instructive.

influence which would have fallen to Italy under the peace proposal formulated by Sir Samuel Hoare, the then British foreign minister, and Pierre Laval, then the French premier.

Ethiopia had accepted the peace proposals of the League of Nations' committee of 13 without reservation.

(The league asked for consideration of a peace formula, holding in abeyance for the moment the question of imposing additional sanctions against Italy.)

Prior to Mussolini's announcement, informed sources said he would insist existing economic penalties be lifted before peace could be discussed.

STRIKERS PREVENT AKRON POLICE FROM CLEARING STREETS

AKRON, O., March 7.—(AP)—Strikers used force today to prevent police from clearing streets near the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company of picket shelters.

Two officers suffered slight injuries as strikers and sympathizers overwhelmed 75 city policemen by force of numbers, causing them to retreat after removing four of the pickets' nondescript shacks.

"It means we've got to go in there with drawn guns," declared Police Captain Sam Williams, after Mayor Lee D. Schroy repeated his order to tear down the haphazard structures, saying, "this is defiance of law and order." Williams said: "There are too many of them for us to handle with clubs."

Police Chief Frank Boss said no further attempt would be made immediately to execute the order.

As a producers' milk blockade stopped 85 per cent of the city's consumer deliveries for the second day, J. J. Lawson, an independent distributor, complained to Prosecutor Herman E. Werner against threats he claimed "hoodlums" made against his trucks.

and an indication of what the latter country might do in consequence was awaited with the greatest interest.

News that France intended to submit the matter to the League of Nations gave rise to hope in some quarters that diplomacy might avert the threatening breach. Privately, however, some officials expressed belief that Germany's participation in the league was essential to the preservation of European peace and that its terms for returning to membership in that body probably would not be looked upon favorably.

Predictions also were made that Hitler's offer to sign a long term non-aggression pact on condition that France and Belgium demilitarize their eastern frontiers would not be acceptable to France. For years, that nation has been spending great sums constructing a chain of underground forts along its western border designed to provide a buffer of steel and concrete between it and Germany.

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR TENSAS VET

FERRIDAY, La. March 7.—(Special)—George N. Clarke, 89, sole surviving Confederate veteran and oldest citizen of Tensas parish, was buried in the family plot of the Natchez cemetery Tuesday. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. S. N. Harris, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of St. Joseph, and Rev. Joseph N. Keuhnle, rector of Trinity Episcopal church of Natchez, Miss.

Mr. Clarke died as the result of a fall while visiting in the home of his daughter at Bovina, Miss. He was born in Sicily Island, Catahoula parish, but spent most of his life in Tensas parish. He joined the Confederate army at the age of 16 and served with distinction during the entire war between the states.

The deceased is survived by two sons, Dr. Claude Y. Clarke, Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., Dr. George Carke, St. Joseph, and two daughters, Mrs. Clifton Child, Bovina, and Miss Bessie Clarke, Vicksburg.

The President Urges War On Unbelief

There was a sturdy dose of common sense in President Roosevelt's recent appeal to all religious sects and denominations for a united front in war on unbelief.

Things that have happened in Europe of late—outbursts of religious intolerance that seem to carry us back to the middle ages—have emphasized the sharp differences among the various forms of belief. But none of these differences is as great as the difference between belief and absolute unbelief; and it is on this front that a tremendous struggle for the mind and heart of mankind is going on today.

The human race can be divided into two groups. In one there are the people who look on the life that we have here as a preparation for something greater and better; people who believe that there is a higher court than any on earth, and a vaster destiny for struggling man than any which this workaday world affords.

In the other, there are the people who look on that sort of thing as sheer moonshine and see in the grave the final, pitiless answer to all the blind appeals and hopeful dreams of the heart of man.

Never in all human history has the second group been as numreous or as cocksure as it is today.

You can hear it at work in Russia, denouncing religion as a kind of narcotic which must be abolished if the race is to progress. You can hear it in our own country, helping to shape the arts, pointing the path for theories of science and —incidentally—thinning the congregations in church, in cathedral and in synagogue.

The cleavage between these groups is deeper and more fundamental than that between any other of the economic or political divisions which split the race.

In the course of time the material problems of today will be solved. In one way or another we shall find ways to provide everyone with enough to eat and enough to wear, with a workable guarantee of decent health, with reasonable security for age, with freedom from the fear of unemployment and want.

But when all of that has been done, the oldest of problems will remain. Each individual still will have to ask himself: What am I here for, and where am I going? Is my grave to be the end of everything, or the beginning? When I say goodbye to a loved one over a coffin, is it goodbye forever or only for a while?

Different religious groups answer these questions in different ways; but they do at least have answers for them, and for that reason they are all, basically, in the same camp.

The most foolish thing we can do today is to permit rivalry and hatred among the subdivisions of that camp. We need all our energy for the struggle with the other camp.

RURAL TRAFFIC TOLL

There is a stern warning for rural enforcement agents in a statement contained in the National Safety council's annual report on motor vehicle accidents.

"Two-thirds of all traffic accidents last year," says the council, "occurred in small towns under 10,000 population and in rural areas. Rural fatalities have increased 44 per cent since 1924, whereas deaths in cities have advanced but 27 per cent."

It appears that the larger centers of population, with their well organized traffic bureaus, at least have prevented as marked an increase in motoring casualties as has been realized in the less densely populated sections.

This would seem to place a heavy responsibility upon the control agencies which are engaged in rural traffic enforcement. The situation, in any event, is one that calls for careful attention lest the rural toll shall become progressively worse.

LONG LIVE THE KING!

It comes as a shock to the tailors, but King Edward's renunciation of conventional court clothes doubtless will be hailed by men around the world. The new ruler, dashing aside all conventionality as he did when he was Prince of Wales, has decreed that the black knee-length frock coat is passe in his regime. Instead, the men of the court will wear ordinary cutaways or morning clothes.

What is really significant about all this is that the king leads the way for freedom in male attire. The conventionalities of formal dress may now be divorced from the Middle Ages.

Moreover, Edward's modern outlook presages a swing toward other liberalisms. Britain and the world can truly appreciate such a monarch.

A handfull of intelligentsia in Washington has invented the beautiful scheme to establish a dozen federal "subcapitals" throughout the country. This should be interred in the plot now occupied by doughnut half-cents and square mill pieces.

In the midst of our trials we will pause for just a moment to pay a tribute of respect to the perspicacity of the gentleman in the weather bureau who said last October that this would be a severe winter.

LINES TO A METEORITE

Blazing, gleaming meteorite,
Shooting through the blue,
Where do you expect to light,
If and when you do.
Won't you plot your course for me
So that when you fall
I may fare
Some other where
And not be there at all.

Doubtless you'll put on a show
Well worth looking at,
But you might, as you must know,
Knock a landscape flat.
If my way you chance to stray,
If I should hear you hissing,
I promise you
My best I'll do
To be among the missing.

Why could you not stay in place
Up there in the sky
Where the blazing comets race
And asteroids flit by?
It's very little that I ask,
But if you've got to roam
Pick out some night,
Dear meteorite,
When you're not near my home.

Let Us Defend Our Rights

By BRUCE CATTON

An enormous amount of water has run over the dam since the day when Washington and Jefferson were risking the scaffold for the sake of liberty; and Democracy, trusting lady that she is, seems to have gotten her feet wet 'way up to the ears, or thereabouts.

To prove that statement, you need only reflect that one of the best ways to get yourself a reputation as a dangerous citizen these days is to go about repeating the very phrases which our founding fathers used in the great struggle for independence.

This discovery has been made over and over, of late, by our school teachers and university professors. It is not surprising, therefore, that the most stirring call to arms for the defense of old-fashioned ideas about liberty and freedom should have come from the recent meeting of the National Educational Association at St. Louis.

The author of this call to arms was Dr. Charles A. Beard, famous historian, and his words are worth repeating here:

"Let us rededicate ourselves to the American tradition of liberty and to the faith that error need not be feared where reason is free to combat it.

"Let us assert anew against brute force the values of independent scientific inquiry, of the unhampered search for truth, of the fair hearing and the fair play, and uphold them by fearless and united effort.

"Not for the gratification of pride, nor with any gesture of false superiority. Not out of any academic pique. But because in this spirit and by this procedure alone can American democracy cope with its gravest problems under the force of law, thus maintaining amid the wreck and ruin of parliamentary institutions, east and west, the example of a nation that has not lost its head or its heart."

When you remember how our country was born, and the ideals to which it was dedicated, you can see that no good American can pledge himself to less than that. For that plea simply embodies the fundamentals of Americanism. And in a period when there is so much attempted repression, so many appeals to ignorance and prejudice, we cannot afford to forget them.

Our forefathers thought enough of those fundamentals to fight and die for them. They believed that when a people has lost the right to speak freely, to debate without hindrance, to print what seems good to individual consciences, and to assemble openly whenever the spirit moves it, it has lost everything worth having.

So they fought for and won those rights. But they did not win them forever. It is up to us to be vigilant enough to keep them.

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Congress and the administration have repudiated the theory that scarcity of food is essential or desirable in a program to provide fair incomes for farmers.

That's the important meaning of the so-called "consumer protection" amendment to the new farm relief-soil conservation legislation.

Best available studies have shown that even in prosperous 1929 about 75 per cent of city families couldn't afford a diet adequate for health and that national consumption of food was about 40 per cent below the amount which would be required for a universal "moderate" diet.

The "consumer amendment" will not improve that state of affairs. But it guarantees that the farm administration, in the reduction of crop surpluses incident to its new soil program, will not reduce food supplies below the normal level of consumption. The original legislation carried no standards for such guarantee.

City Members Lead Fight

Two urban members of congress, Senator Robert Wagner of New York and Representative John W. McCormack of Boston, led the fight for the amendment. Wagner introduced one into the senate which was defeated by a 2 to 1 vote and it was evident that many senators didn't know what it was all about.

The McCormack amendment subsequently received endorsement of the administration and of Chairman Marvin Jones of the house agriculture committee. It passed. House and senate conferees on the bill subsequently agreed to retain it.

That McCormack amendment says that the wide powers granted to the secretary of agriculture "shall not be used to discourage the production of supplies of foods and fibers sufficient to maintain normal domestic consumption as determined by the secretary from the records of domestic human consumption in the years 1920 and 1929, inclusive, taking into consideration increased population, quantities of any commodity that were forced into domestic consumption by decline in exports during such period, current trends in domestic consumption and exports of particular commodities, and the quantities of substitutes available for domestic consumption within any general class of food commodities."

Food Figures Vary Little

Average food consumption per capita for the 10-year period mentioned was about 1,450 pounds. This figure hasn't varied greatly. It was 1,422 pounds for the 1920-24 period, 1,474 pounds for 1925-29, and 1,454 for 1930-33.

The principle established by the amendment is no new one, but until now it has appeared that the leaders of farm organizations—including some who might be perfectly willing to create artificial and unprecedented scarcities to boost prices high—would be able to block attempts to enact it into legislation.

Dr. Calvin B. Hoover, as consumers' counsel for AAA, first espoused the principle and the fight for it was continued by his successor Donald E. Montgomery.

Secretary Wallace himself came out for it last year and an attempt was made to get it into last session's AAA amendments—unsuccessfully, thanks to farm leaders.

Feared Political Effect

President Ed O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation attacked the Wagner amendment on the eve of the senate vote and farm-state senators supported him almost unanimously.

But the administration's desire for consumer protection was reinforced by growing realization that successive defeats of the Wagner and McCormack amendments might be bad political medicine and could be used as effective Republican propaganda in cities.

Thanks to AAA and the drouth, retail food prices have advanced 25 per cent since 1933 and although farmers are better off, many city consumers have felt the pinch and reacted bitterly.

The McCormack amendment also contains a provision reminiscent of the old AAA parity price goal which was inserted to square things with the farmers.

This directs the secretary, as rapidly as he deems practicable and in the public interest, to re-establish at the 1910-14 level the ratio between the purchasing power of the average income per person on farms to the purchasing power of the average income per person in the non-farm population.

DEDUCTION FOR INTEREST

Amounts paid or accrued within the taxable year 1935 as interest on indebtedness are deductible, with certain exceptions, from gross income in determining net income. Such items include interest on borrowed money to defray personal expenses, and on money borrowed for the purchase of real or personal property. If a person owes money on a lien or mortgage note on his home, the amount of the interest may be deducted. Indebtedness, however, need not be evidenced by lien, judgment, or mortgage to make the interest on it deductible. Frequently indebtedness is evidenced only by a note.

Interest paid on indebtedness incurred in the purchase of obligations (other than obligations of the United States issued after September 24, 1917, and originally subscribed for by the taxpayer), the interest upon which is wholly exempt from federal income tax, is not deductible. Interest paid on loans on life insurance policies is deductible provided the amount of the loan is not used for the purposes previously referred to in this paragraph.

Interest paid on behalf of a friend or relative where there is no legal obligation on the part of the payor is not deductible. In such cases the amount is the same as a gift.

As interest paid is deductible, so interest received is taxable. All such amounts, including interest received on bank and savings deposits, must be included in the taxpayers' return of gross income.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

EDWARD XI—The 10 Edwards who preceded Edward VIII on the throne of England were: Edward the Elder, King of the Angles and the Saxons (898-924), Edward the Martyr, King of the English (975-978) and Edward the Confessor (1042-1066). The next Edward to sit on the throne of England was Edward I (1239-1307). Between 1307 and 1553 there were five more Edwards on the throne. Edward VII succeeded Queen Victoria in 1901 and ruled until 1910. The present King Edward is the 11th of that name.

Lights Of New York

By George Ross

NEW YORK.—There is positively no use, Stage-Door Johnnie, in hanging around—because the modern chorus girl is different.

The days when a card (preferably engraved) could be sent backstage and a rendezvous arranged, are gone—forgotten along with winebath parties, The Cliquot Kid and Ziegfeld opulence. The ladies of the ensemble now consider their careers. Pul-eeze, Mr. Hemingway, keep your orchids to yourself! And never mind the mink coat. Miss Dolores Delicious or Miss Gay Orlova have previous engagements at the dance studio, the Institute for Dramatic Acting or even the class of Domestic Sciences.

Yes, indeed. A fair number of the superbly fair demosels actually attend kitchen seminars when they are not showing off without any clothes in Broadway shows. Or go home to take care of a husband and a child, for it would surprise and dismay the stagedoor Johnnies that survive, how many chorines are honorably and blissfully wed. But most 1936 showgirls aspire chiefly to movie stardom and work strenuously to get a break. Many of the lovely ladies now employed in Broadway remusicals are pupils of Paramount's New York Dramatic school where they are coached in diction, voice and screen presence.

Or if that does not happen to be their main ambition in life, the pulchritudinous pets try valiantly to turn an honest penny by modeling for commercial artists, fashion designers and beauticians in the afternoon. Claire McQuillen, a "Scandals" beauty and famous poster girl, has been screen-tested by virtually every movie company. A strange girl, she prefers to continue as she is. There are instances of intellectual aspirations among showgirls. Like Eleanor Lovette, another "Scandals" exhibit, who will soon graduate a full-fledged attorney-at-law. Judges everywhere: look out.

Why shouldn't the sweet things harbor ambitions and high hopes? Their sisters of the skin had aspirations before them and came through. Dolores Costello, Louise Brooks, Mae Clark, Ruth Selwyn, Helen Morgan and Susan Fleming were "Scandals" and Ziegfeld chorines and Alice Faye was one, too. The flaxen-haired Alice, by the way, always drops in, when she is around, to see her old friends.

Evidence Too Bare

Feminine form, by the way, won a victory in the courts the other day. To the French Casino, New York's living museum of the Artistic Nude, went a couple of Plainclothesmen last week with liberal expense accounts. They ordered food and spirits frumenti and witnessed the spectacularly undressed show. Then they clapped summonses on the management for giving an indecent performance. The matter came to the attention of the judge the other day and that sage Solomon grilled the detectives about the illicit sights they were alleged to have seen.

For example: "How did you know," the jurist inquired, "the girl was nude and not covered with flesh-colored tights?"

"In the first place," the sleuth replied, "I have good eyesight, and in the second, I've had plenty of experience."

And so on.

New Ball Game

"Josie Baker," Harlem's belle who went gay, gay Paree and returned, opened her own night club the other evening. The Chez Josephine Baker she has named it, so that no one will misunderstand. Americans who fled Paris and La Baker's nocturnerie when the dollar fell, will not worry any more. The Lenox avenue dusky demosel is running her Manhattan saloon just as she did of the Champs Elysees. She is a vivacious mistress of ceremonies the first half of the evening and an enchanting entertainer when she agrees to sing.

At about 2 a. m. she turns the fun over to her audience. By distributing to the formally-clothed guests hundreds of cotton-wad puff balls. Then starts a general melee across the room, with every guest emulating Walter Johnson. Your correspondent came out barely bruised the other evening, having been struck a dozen times by the featherweight pills and once by a chandelier bulb (by mistake).

SCOUTMASTER WITH ARM BROKEN GETS FIRST AID

FERRIDAY, La., March 7.—(Special)—Local Boy Scouts had an opportunity to use first aid recently. While swinging on a trapeze bar at the Catholic scout home on the corner of State and South Union streets, Scoutmaster Robert L. McLean twisted and broke his left arm above the elbow.

Members of his scout troop who were watching young McLean perform on the flying bars said they saw him suddenly shift his weight from one side to the other and that while attempting to right himself on the bar he accidentally placed all of his weight on the left arm which popped and threw him to the floor. They gave him first aid treatment and Dr. J. G. Logan, physician of the Natchez sanitorium set the broken member and removed the scoutmaster to his home.

NEGRO'S APPEAL FROM DEATH SENTENCE DENIED

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 7.—(AP)—E. K. Harris, negro, whose attempted trial on a charge of attacking a young white girl precipitated a bloody riot at Shelbyville December 19, 1934, lost in the state supreme court today in his appeal from a death sentence conviction given later at Nashville.

The supreme court designated May 22 as the electrocution date.

Four persons were killed when national guardsmen repulsed with rifles and machine guns an angry mob that attempted to storm the Shelbyville courthouse and seize Harris from the courtroom. A few hours later the mob burned the courthouse.

A mistrial resulted and subsequently Harris, guarded by militiamen, was tried in Nashville on a change of venue, convicted and given the death penalty.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE JOB ACCEPTED BY HOLLOWAY

MARION, La., March 7.—(Special)—H. G. Holloway, former Union parish director of the national employment service and for the past few months supervisor of adult education of the works progress administration of Union parish, has accepted a position with the Louisiana employment service and will be stationed in Monroe. He is a graduate of the Louisiana State university with about fifteen years' experience as a high school principal, having taught in Red River parish eight years prior to accepting the position as parish director of the national employment service.

COLLEGE APPRECIATION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

WISNER, La., March 7.—(Special)—Centenary college appreciation week will be celebrated throughout several states beginning March 9. The program for the local church here, to be held March 9 at 7:30 p.m. will include the following speakers: Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, Dr. Pierce Cline, president of Centenary college; Dr. W. M. Alexander, director of voice at Centenary; the boys' quartet from Centenary college, J. A. McLellan and Rev. H. L. Johns, presiding elder of the Monroe district of the Methodist conference of Louisiana.

SPINACH CROP BIG

JONESVILLE, La., March 7.—(Special)—The Jonesville Lions club, which sponsored a movement among farmers of this section to plant approximately 100 acres in spinach, reported that despite the adverse weather conditions about 25 carloads of this vegetable will be available for northern markets by April 1.

NINE MILLION PERSONS ASK AGENCIES FOR JOBS

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—Nearly nine million persons were seeking jobs on January 1 through government employment agencies.

This was disclosed today by a labor department survey which last showed the number had increased by 2,241,000 since last June 30.

Officials explained that a large part of the increase from 6,713,047 to 8,954,047 was due to an order directing all employable persons in families on relief to register with the employment service.

Theft of a suit of clothes from the home of Leonard Wheatley, 308 North Eighth street, was reported Saturday to police headquarters.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL OVERRULED

Daisy Alexander Root's 10-Year Sentence Is Allowed To Stand

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 7.—(AP)—Daisy Alexander Root's second degree murder conviction and 10-year sentence for the slaying of her husband, Brenton Root, was allowed to stand today when Criminal Judge Phil Wallace overruled the comely young widow's motion for a new trial.

Root, son of the Rev. Benjamin F. Root, Chicago clergyman, was shot to death at his country home here several months ago a few hours after a night club argument with his wife, who said she resented her husband's attentions to a cabaret "cigarette girl."

On the witness stand, Mrs. Root pleaded self-defense, saying that her husband "reached for his gun," when she entered his home to remonstrate with him about his intentions to Lucile Underwood, then a night club employe, and now Mrs. J. C. Tyler of Dearborn, Mich.

Judge Wallace pronounced sentence immediately after denying the new trial motion. The defense noted an exception and announced an appeal will be made to the Tennessee supreme court.

NEW ORLEANS IS CHOSEN FOR 1937 CLUB MEETING

DENTON, Texas, March 7.—(AP)—Next year's meeting of the Southwest District, International Relations club will be held at Tulane university in New Orleans, members decided at the close of a two-day session here today.

Jack Vornemann was elected president of the district; Miss Betsy Bronson was chosen corresponding secretary, and Wilford Smith was named treasurer. All are Tulane students.

Other officers chosen was C. D. Richardson, East Central Oklahoma Teachers college, vice president, and Louis Shackleford, Arkansas university, recording secretary.

MAJOR BOWES TO SEND UNIT HERE

Performers Will Appear At Ouachita Parish High School Auditorium

Through efforts exerted by the L. B. Faulk post, American Legion, Monroe has been named as a unit for a "Major Bowes" performance which will be held at the Ouachita parish high school auditorium on the nights of March 29 and 30, it was announced here by Bill Perhamus, post commander, Saturday.

There are about 25 units of similar nature throughout the country where performances are given by amateurs who have been accepted by the Major through successful presentation on the radio broadcasts held in New York City. Major Bowes' programs have attained nation-wide fame and popularity and it is expected that the entertainment here will be well attended and will be of an unusually novel nature.

In accordance with the arrangements effected, 50 per cent of the proceeds of the entertainment will be awarded to the local Legion post which will use the money for the fund for furnishing two rooms in the Ouachita parish tuberculosis sanatorium now under erection.

CATAHOULA FARMERS TO ATTEND SOY BEAN MEET

JONESVILLE, La., March 7.—(Special)—Farmers of Catahoula parish have received an invitation from the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce to attend a meeting at Alexandria, March 12, for the purpose of receiving information relative to the production of soy beans. A luncheon will be given, after which agricultural leaders will explain the culture and adaptability of the soy bean plant and will show an exhibit of by-products including meal, oil and paint, as well as data indicating the expanding market for these products.

The soy bean crop is said to be superior to any other substitute for cotton and planters who have raised this crop report considerable success.

GIRL'S LAUGHING STOPPED

Plane Crash Not Solved By Commerce Department

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—The commerce department announced today it could not solve the mystery of the American Air Lines crash near Goodwin, Ark., in January, but suggested as one possibility that a passenger interfered with the pilot.

The ship fell on the evening of January 14, about two miles from Goodwin, killing all 15 passengers and the two pilots.

As its final conclusion, the department said:

"Based on the knowledge or information in possession of this agency, it is the opinion of the bureau of air commerce that, although flying at a low altitude may have contributed to the cause of this accident, the probable cause or causes thereof can not be determined."

The report listed six possibilities including:

Structural failure, passenger interference, erroneous instruments, passenger being shown the pilot's compartment, one fuel tank running dry and co-pilot alone at controls.

"It is possible that a passenger entered the pilot's compartment, either by invitation or otherwise, and incapacitated the pilot, co-pilot, or both, or miliciously interfered with the controls," the report said. "This, however, is not substantiated by any of the available evidence."

Te report noted the "complete absence of any indication" of structural failure and decided that while there were some errors in the instruments these could have been easily corrected by the pilots.

Discussing the possibility of a passenger entering the pilot's compartment, the report said:

"Had this been the case and the cockpit lights had been on, the outside vision of the crew would have been restricted and its attention might have been distracted from the control of the airplane.

"A restriction of outside vision should not have been serious as there were sufficient instruments to permit full control of the flight, but even a momentary distraction at a low altitude could cause serious results."

Real Estate Transfers

The following transactions were recorded in the clerk's office Saturday:

Jerome E. Danna sold to Frank Varino, a tract of land located in the Elisha Stewart private grant in section 18-18-4 east, for $100.

D. J. Dunn sold to E. R. Whitaker lot 4 of block 6 of C. C. Bell's subdivision to Monroe, the consideration being the assumption by the purchaser of an outstanding mortgage.

The W & D Corporation, headed by H. L. Woods, local oil and gas operator, filed incorporation papers in the clerks' office Thursday.

The new company will trade in oil and gas leases and is capitalized for $10,000. Its domicile is in the Ouachita National bank building.

Mr. Woods is the president, A. L. Davenport, vice-president, Lena Mae Woods, secretary, and Irene Roy, treasurer.

ORDINANCE PASSED

TALLULAH, La., March 7.—(Special)—The Madison parish police jury at its last regular meeting voted the readoption of the ordinance providing for compulsory vaccination of dogs against rabies. The vaccination campaign is scheduled to be under way in about two weeks, officials announced.

OPERATION STOPS GIRL'S LAUGHTER

After 10 Days Of Giggling, Patient's Condition Satisfactory

WESTON, W. Va., March 7.—(AP)—Teresa Hawkins' laughter which sapped her vitality for ten days stopped today.

Miss Jessie O'Curran, superintendent of nurses at the Weston State hospital, announced the 18-year-old girl awakened in "very satisfactory condition" after an abdominal operation and a night of rest.

The nurse said Teresa was having no more of the spells of laughing and giggling which seized her while she watched a show February 26.

Dr. J. E. Offner, superintendent of the hospital, who performed the surgery to relieve a psycho-neurotic condition, said he will allow no one to see the girl for at least a week.

GROUP 2 LIONS CLUBS TO HOLD DISTRICT MEET

OAK GROVE, La., March 7.—(Special)—Group No. 2 of Lions clubs throughout the northeastern section of the state, will hold a quarterly meeting here on the evening of March 19, announced D. B. Fiske, president of the local organization. Plans for the occasion are being made by the Oak Grove Lions, who have had a recent visit from Warren O. Watson, district governor, of Baton Rouge.

SEED DISTRIBUTED

JONESBORO, La., March 7.—(Special)—Three carloads of seed Irish potatoes, aggregating 108,000 pounds, have been received here and distributed among planters by Lamar McDonald. Considerable activity among farmers is noted as the advent of better weather ushers in the planting season, with potatoes set out and tomatoes being transplanted to cold frames preparatory to cultivation.

REPRESENTATIVE

T. J. Coenen, of Rayville, who was elected state representative from Richland parish, in a run-off election Tuesday, March 3, against W. D. Cotton, Rayville attorney. Mr. Coenen has served as a member of the state Democratic central committee from Richland parish for a number of years. He has taken an active part in public affairs and especially interested in public improvements, better schools and good roads, but has never before been a candidate for any public office.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE ADDS TO ITS STAFF

Due to increasing volume of business, the Louisiana State Employment service has just added to its staff four new employes who have been named as a result of their having successfully passed civil service examinations. They have been selected from various points in the fifth congressional district of 14 parishes which are all served by the local bureau.

The new employes are three interviewers, Spencer P. Riser of Ruston; Henry G. Holloway of Marian, and Julius Cahn of Monroe, together with another stenographer, Miss Juanita Cotten of Oak Grove.

MANVILLE, WIFE AGAIN SEPARATED

Roofing Fortune Heir Isolates Self From 'Continued Threats'

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 7.—(AP)—The Manvilles have separated again and Tommy, roofing fortune heir, has moved his office here to be safe behind armed gates from "continued threats."

He told the Standard-Star today he would flee to Europe "like Babs did," referring to the Countess Barbara Hutton Haughwitz Reventlow, if he doesn't get "some peace."

His wife, the former Marcelle Edwards, who returned to him from Reno only a few weeks ago, remained in New York. He said he has been having dates with his former third wife, Yvonne Taylor Blackwell.

"Threats against my life, attempts at extortion and pursuit by various women, fictitious or otherwise, have got to stop or I'll go to England to live," Manville declared.

He said Marcelle left him six hours after she got back last month from Reno where she had gone to get a divorce with $100,000 he agreed to settle upon her.

board, chief opponent of the building service employes' union, assailed Mayor F. H. LaGuardia for his stand that the union had submitted a "reasonable" offer to arbitration.

Warning that "danger lurks in every building on strike because government is weak," William D. Rawlins, executive secretary of the board, said:

"The city may well look for further trouble which could have been avoided if the mayor had remained neutral."

"Let my actions speak for themselves," said the mayor.

In identical telegrams to both sides, the mayor tonight proposed they compromise upon a semi-closed shop, name an arbitrator, and resume work while the arbitrator worked out rulings upon hour, wage and contract disputes.

He suggested they agree tentatively to permit the union to fill any vacancy occurring in a job which had been held by a union member. Other jobs would be "open shop."

Headaches Gone, Nerves Quieted; Lauds Gly-Cas

Mrs. Hart Freed of Attacks of Indigestion, Gas After Many Years of Suffering; Entire System Toned By New Gly-Cas.

"I now understand why so many people are praising Gly-Cas, it deserves it all and more too," said Mrs. O. L. Hart, 103 Parker street, Monroe, a highly respected cultured lady of this city, recently in a statement reaching the Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard street:

MRS. C. L. HART

"For years practically all foods I ate was sure to cause me severe suffering with gas and indigestion afterwards," continued Mrs. Hart, "Often bloated until my heart would palpitate, would become dizzy, weak and nervous. Headaches were almost constant with me and in spite of all I tried I could get no better, seemed to grow worse each day. Of course I knew my system was simply filled with poisons but I could not find anything to even help me. Medicine after medicine actually seemed to lose its effect when put to the TEST on my case. And when many of my close friends and neighbors began to get such remarkable results from this new Gly-Cas' use I decided it MUST be one medicine that is different so I gave it the opportunity to help me and found it wonderful."

"Never have I seen a medicine do its work as well as this new Gly-Cas," continued Mrs. Hart, "Within a short time my bowels were regulated, the poisons removed from my system and I am now like an entirely different person. Those dreadful headaches have disappeared entirely. I now eat the foods that had been denied me for years. Gas has been eliminated and I am no longer bothered after eating. My nerves are now quieted, get perfect rest, sleep good the whole night through and cannot praise Gly-Cas half enough for the wonderful health I am now enjoying. Gly-Cas is one medicine that deserves all of its praise and more for it gives desired results."

been assured of 27 votes for the measure and hopes to get the four more necessary for adoption.

"The motor vehicle department has been turned into a detective agency," Bruno said. "We have a state police department for that purpose. Why isn't the governor satisfied with the work they did? If they want detectives in this work, they should use them, and not use motor vehicle inspectors."

Hauptmann, scheduled to die the week of March 30 in the electric chair, was informed today by his counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher, that the governor had no intention of granting him a further reprieve "as matters stand now." The governor said Thursday that if no new evidence was turned up by March 12 there would not be a second reprieve.

Fisher said Hauptmann received the news calmly, reiterating his "hope" and belief he would escape the chair.

The March 12 date marks the 90-day limit of the governor's reprieve powers, dated from December 13 when Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard fixed a new execution date after Hauptmann lost his appeal to the supreme court of the United States for a review of the Flemington trial.

Fisher indicated today the defense might ask the court of pardons to consider Hauptmann's case again, basing the clemency plea on recent developments, including the statement of Alfred Hammond, railroad crossing watchman, that he saw the late Isidor Fisch, Hauptmann's partner in the fur business, near the Lindbergh estate eight or nine times before the kidnaping.

OBITUARY

MRS. LEOLA MILLER

JONESBORO, La., March 7.—(Special)—Mrs. Leola White Miller, 35, died Wednesday afternoon at 6:45 o'clock, after an illness of more than two years.

Funeral services were held Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence in Jonesboro, with Rev. John L. Dodge of the Baptist church officiating, assisted by Rev. G. A. Morgan of the Methodist church. Interment followed in Greenwood cemetery in Ruston. Mrs. Miller is survived by her husband, Ben Miller, and two daughters, Betty Joe and Iva Rae. Mrs. Miller was a niece of A. H. Colvin, publisher of the Jackson Independent. She was born and reared near Dubach, and after her marriage, moved to Jonesboro, where they had made their home.

MRS. JAMES DURHAM

JONESBORO, La., March 7.—(Special)—Mrs. James Durham, 58, died suddenly Wednesday in her home in Bienville. Funeral services were held in the Pentecostal church at Hodge, with Rev. S. L. Wise officiating. Interment was made in the cemetery in Jonesboro. Mrs. Durham is survived by her husband, James Durham.

G. W. PEARCE

JONESBORO, La., March 7.—(Special)—George William Pearce, 69, of Goldonna, died suddenly Thursday morning at his home. Funeral services were held Friday with Rev. Frank Moss, officiating. Interment was made in Pleasant Hill cemetery. Mr. Pearce is survived by his wife and four sons, C. M., H. O., D. Q., and L. E. Pearce, and one daughter, Mrs. R. M. Bazewell.

PITTMAN OPPOSES FORMING WAR DEBT SETTLEMENTS BODY

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—Unqualified opposition to the creation of a commission to negotiate new war debt settlements was expressed today by Chairman Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, of the senate foreign relations committee.

His words coincided with Germany's latest move, which intensified European unrest. In an interview which gave a distinct impression that the administration shared his attitude, Pittman took the position that any reopening of the debt question should be at the request of the debtor.

Senator McAdoo, Democrat, California, who was secretary of the treasury when many of the debts were contracted, has introduced a resolution to set up a commission of nine to meet here with representatives of nations which owe this nation $12,000,000,000 in obligations arising from the World war. Agreements reached would be subject to congressional approval. The commission would have $100,000 for expenses.

hotel impatiently awaiting the rates of payment report. Much of the talk overheard from scattered groups concerned the question of the amount of cooperation the AAA might expect from farmers under the new plan.

Tolley adjourned the conference after telling delegates the AAA restrictions for 1936 would be issued after conclusion of regional meetings in Salt Lake City and New York City next week.

The rates and conditions of payments committee recommended these minimum standards of performance for the south:

Requirement that farmers have planted in soil conserving crops an acreage of not less than 20 per cent of the acreage devoted to soil depleting crops.

Requirement that the 1936 acreage of soil depleting crops be not in excess of a base acreage to be determined.

Requirement that farmers produce enough food and feed crops for home consumption to obtain a payment for diversion of lands which have been planted in these crops.

The committee recommended that the AAA use old plans for 1936 adjustment programs to fix the base acreages for cotton, tobacco and peanuts.

CONTROVERSY HOLDS DELEGATES' ATTENTION

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 7.—(AP)—A prolonged farmer controversy—behind the closed doors of a committee room—over the rates of subsidy payments to be recommended for the south in the administration's soil conservation program, today held attention of delegates to the Memphis regional conference.

As the committee on payments concluded two days' work to reach a unanimous agreement on subsidy recommendations, farmers awaiting the report said it may serve as a tentative guide for planting operations until the AAA issues formal regulations for 1936.

Reports seeping from the committee room indicated considerable differences of opinion concerning rates to be recommended. But, authoritative sources said, leaders pushed for approval of a flat payment of about 75 cents an acre for farmers who maintain the normal number of acres in soil conserving crops, plus payment of about five per cent a pound for tobacco and cotton lands shifted to soil conserving purposes.

Farmer delegates speedily smashed a resolution offered by U. S. Senator-Elect Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana urging Secretary Wallace to give "due consideration" to welfare of the small farmers in the new program. By both vocal and standing vote, the delegates by a heavy majority rejected the resolution. There was practically no debate.

Ellender said he believed the soil conservation act a "good law," but insisted the small "one horse" farmer be given a break. He suggested that provision be made to give all farmers an adequate minimum requirement for shifting crop lands to obtain payment. This, he said, would permit them to share fairly in subsidy payments without having to lose a substantial part of their income from cash crops.

Following the voting, H. R. Tolley, former assistant AAA administrator presiding at the conference, explained he believed the adverse vote was recorded because the soil conservation and domestic allotment act specifically stipulated that small farmers receive just consideration.

Without appreciable discussion, the conference received a unanimous report recommending this division of subsidy payments between landlords and tenants:

30 per cent to the applicant for payment. (This individual will be the man responsible for compliance with conservation conditions and may be either landlord or tenant.)

25 per cent to the landlord.

10 per cent to the owner of equipment and workstock.

35 per cent to be prorated as the crop is divided.

Officials pointed out there could be many combinations and many sorts of payment divisions. However, they said tenants should receive a slightly larger share of payments than under the AAA.

Another committee recommended immediate organization of national, regional state, county and committees to study plans for the 1937 program. The committee urged the AAA to draft a model bill for states to enact for proper participation in the permanent federal-state cooperative program.

Programs for rice and sugar planters, another committee suggested, should be similar in requirements to those operated under the AAA.

WHAT'S THIS, COL. KNOX?

Looks like a serious case of fraternizing, this hobnobbing of Col. Frank Knox, one of the G. O. P.'s leading presidential candidates, with the Democratic donkey. The colonel seems to be trying to swing the donkey over to his side, giving him his views on national affairs. But the donkey doesn't seem to be much impressed, his attention apparently wandering toward the oats he's going to have for dinner. The conference took place at Wickenburg, Ariz., where Col. and Mrs. Knox are spending their vacation.

Mrs. Susie D. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Maury Stanton are visiting Mr and Mrs. Ralph Pearson in New Orleans. After leaving New Orleans, Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will make up a party motoring to Tampa, Fla., where they will visit Mrs. Adams' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orlando Adams. All of the party will make a visit of two weeks, except Mrs. Adams, who will visit her son, Frank Adams, and Mrs. Adams for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Curry spent Sunday afternoon in Tallulah. They were accompanied as far as Tallulah by Thompson Clarke, who went on to Rayville from Tallulah. Mr. Clarke expects to make his home in Rayville in the future, and will be in the office of George Wesley Smith in Rayville.

George N. Clarke, who since his accident at his home in Bovina, Miss., has been at Street's sanitarium in Vicksburg, is slightly improved. His brother, Dr. Claude Clarke, of Mount Pleasant, Tenn., is with him.

The Wesley auxiliary met with Mrs. Samuel T. Yourtee at her plantation home, Delta Bridge. Mrs. Claude Kirkpatrick reported on the zone meeting in Tallulah. Mrs. Holliman Cook reported on the missionary rally held in West Monroe recently. The devotional was given by Mrs. Holliman Cook. Study of the mission book, "Toward Christian America," occupied the rest of the meeting. Tea, cake and sandwiches were served during the social hour which followed. Besides the hostess, members attending the meeting were Mrs. Holliman Cook, Mrs. Claude Kirkpatrick, Mrs Fred Smith, Mrs. A. B. Wilkerson, Mrs. E. H. Biggs and Mrs. Jessie Smith. Guests of the auxiliary were Mrs. George Lyons and Mrs. Strothers.

PAY FOR PLAY

Baseball players in Florida are reported to have banded together in a drive to force the club owners to pay them during the spring training period. The fact that umpires have been assigned to the spring camps this year and are drawing down pay for their efforts is said to have planted the seed of discord in the minds of several leaders of the group.

While the general impression is that a ball player earns all he can chisel out of a club owner, this latest move seems to be carrying the thing a bit too far. It's true that a player's span of usefulness is short, comparatively speaking, and he should draw down a salary that will enable him to provide for his so-called old age, yet an owner can't be expected to provide most of the luxuries of life, plus entertainment, plus a fat salary while the regulars and the rookies are conditioning themselves for five and a half months of employment.

Spring training is a most expensive proposition for the various clubs, even if thousands turn out at each stop on the exhibition schedule to see the great names of baseball perform. In fact, one year the St. Louis Cardinals found it so expensive that they couldn't scrape up enough money to send the squad south.

The two Chicago clubs, for instance, will part with about $25,000 apiece before they check in at the home port for the opening of the current campaign. Their exhibition games will help get some of this money back, but most of it will be considered well spent in conditioning the crew and advertising the clubs throughout the hinterlands. Tack the payroll of the two clubs onto this $50,000 and you've got a figure that sounds like the president's budget message.

Look at some of the pictures that come out of the training camps in Florida and California. The lads pose with bathing beauties, with their golf clubs, riding surfboards, sunning on the beach, hob-nobbing with movie stars, etc., etc. As far as real work is concerned, it's like a paid vacation. A couple of hours work on the diamond is all that is required of the gentlemen who make up these spring squads. With that out of the way, they play poker, golf, swim, fish and have fun generally, not to mention putting on the feed bag in a big way at swanky hotels. It's all on the boss, of course.

Yessir, whenever the talent starts prodding the front office for more pay, we're fur 'em, whether they get it or not. But let's be reasonable, boys. Remember that old gag about the goose that laid the 14-carat cackleberries.

'LITTLE WHITE LIES'

Brusie Ogrodowski, recruit Cardinal catcher, has broken in the big time and the story about how his "little white lie" converted a second baseman into a catcher is going the rounds.

The yarn goes that Greenboro in the Piedmont league needed a catcher back in 1933 and one day Brusie showed up and informed them that he was the backstop they wanted. Ogrodowski never caught more than one or two games in his life but he soon got the hang of it, and developed into a major league prospect.

We know a better one than that. It happened in the old Cotton States league several years ago.

Your old friend Josh Billings was managing the Baton Rouge club and he had a husky youngster named Bill Atwood playing the outfield. One night we sauntered out to Forsythe park a little ahead of time and found Atwood behind the plate in fielding practice and somebody else in Bill's spot in the outfield.

"Pretty handy fellow, this Atwood," we remarked to Josh, "Plays the outfield and catches too."

"I hope he can catch," Josh shot back. "This is his first crack at it. Anyway, he's a catcher."

"Whaddaya mean?" we asked.

"Just this," drawled Josh. "Birmingham wants a catcher and is willing to pay $500 for him. Five hundred berries is big dough these days. So Atwood's it."

SUDDEN DEATH

The mortality rate among football coaches is about as high as in any line of endeavor you can name offhand. Despite the fact that football has faded out of the picture long ago, they're still firing the guys who taught it last fall. All of which makes us wonder just what a football coach has to accomplish to hold his job. In some instances, one unlucky break has been enough to put the skids under a gridiron mentor.

Take the case of Ted Cox. Now that all the hullaballoo has subsided with the appointment of a new head coach at Tulane, calm reflection indicates that Brother Cox wasn't such a flop at coaching football as one might imagine from the storm that descended upon his unlucky head after the Greenies lost to L. S. U.

Before Cox succeeded Bernie Bierman at Tulane, he established quite a reputation as a line builder. He developed such stars as Jerry Dalrymple, Lefty Haynes, John Scafide, Preacher Roberts, Winnie Lodrigues, Homer Robinson, Calvert deColigny, Elmer McCance and Charlie Rucker.

Two years after he was made head coach, Tulane tied Alabama for the 1934 Southeastern championship. Also at the end of that campaign, the Greenies beat Temple in the first Sugar Bowl game. He lost 19 lettermen from that team, yet last year Cox's eleven won six games of a tough 10-game schedule.

Cox has gone to Oklahoma A. and M. now and all that's water under the bridge. However, his case serves to illustrate the point that a football

HAVANA SHADES CARDS

HAVANA, March 7.—(AP)—A wild throw to third by Ed Heusser spoiled an old-fashioned pitchers' battle today and gave Havana an 11-inning 2 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. A crowd of 20,000 saw the game at Tropical stadium.

Three St Louis pitchers, Roy Parmelee, William McGee and Heusser, gave only eight hits while Rossell, going the route for Havana, yielded twelve.

Score:

REDS BEAT A'S

MIAMI, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Cincinnati's Reds, aided by five walks, a sacrifice, and two hits, scored all their runs in the fifth inning today to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 4, for the second straight day.

BROWNS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—The Browns' entire pitching staff "cut loose" today, displaying speed and curves for the first time since the spring training season began.

Manager Rogers Hornsby, appearing very much pleased at the workout, nominated Walkup and Caldwell to pitch against Andrews and Van Atta in an intra-squad practice game tomorrow.

SENATORS

ORLANDO, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Dick Lanahan, young southpaw pitcher, appears likely to be one of the rookies Manager Bucky Harris will bring back to Washington when the American league season opens in mid-April.

Lanahan tried out with the Senators last June but was one of the first cut off the training camp squad. However, he did so well later with Chattanooga that he was brought to Washington near the end of last season.

Lanahan's work in practice the last few days has been encouraging.

YANKEES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Red Rolfe, a bit overweight but boasting a good batting eye, joined the Yankees for his first practice session today. His hitting and Monte Pearson's hurling were the features of the day's drill. Lefty Gomez, who claims his poor showing last season was due to too much weight, also did some fine work on the slab.

SEMI-FINALS PLAYED

UNIVERSITY, Miss., March 7.—(AP)—Potts Camp and University high school successfully overcame first half leads to win their semi-final games here today in the north Mississippi basketball tournament. Potts Camp defeated Fulton, 22-20, working into a six-point lead early in the third quarter after trailing, 8-6, at half time. University high kept in the running on the efforts of R. Pitts. Behind, 16-11 midway through the game, the locals came back to score 22 points for a 33-19 win. Pitts scored 19 points.

TULLOS DEFEATED BY DALLAS QUINT

Southern A. A. U. Defending Champions Upset By Peppers, 37-31

NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—(AP)—Tullos, La., defending champions and top-heavy favorites to retain their Southern A. A. U. basketball championship, were victims of an upset tonight at the hands of the Dallas Peppers, 37-31.

Henderson, Dallas forward, supplied the spark that led his mates to victory. He rang up 13 points to lead the winners in the scoring column and played a bang-up floor game.

Medica and Mallory, Tullos guards, counted 27 of their team's points, but got no assistance from their forwards, Roden, G. Rooney and Bowen.

Score at halftime: Tullos 13; Dallas 18.

The Gaylords of Bogalusa gained the other berth in the finals by turning back the highly rated Loyola university five 40 to 30.

Loyola, like Tullos, entered the game favored to win but was unable to withstand the sharpshooting of a pair of Gaylord guards, Cooper and Dewitt. Cooper found the basket for 12 points and Dewitt for 13 to account for 25 of the winners total.

Hughes and Lyons starred for the losers.

The Gaylords will engage the Dallas Peppers tomorrow afternoon for the championship and the right to enter the national A. A. U. tournament at Denver later in the month.

Coach Priester is an experienced official, having worked in numerous tournaments while attending school in Brookhaven, Miss., and later at Mississippi college.

EIGHT TIGERS WIN INDIVIDUAL TITLES IN MITT TOURNEY

Locals Win Lightweight, Heavyweight, Team Trophies; Farmers Second

FARMERVILLE, La., March 7.—(Special)—Neville high school of Monroe made a clean sweep of the first annual Farmerville invitational boxing tournament, winning the lightweight, heavyweight and team trophies in the closing events of the two-day meet here tonight. The Tiger team piled up 65 points, leading the lightweight division with 34 points and coming out ahead in the heavyweight bracket with 31 points.

Farmerville high school placed second in total points, with 32, and likewise was second in the lightweight division with 28 points. Homer high school was second in the heavyweight class with 10 points. Farmerville's 32 points gained them the Farmerville Lions club trophy, which was offered the Union parish team making the largest point total.

Neville boxers won eight individual championships, while Farmerville furnished three champions, Homer two, and Linville and Tallulah one each. Medals were awarded the individual winners. The finals in two weight classes found fighters from the same school competing, and thus no title bouts were fought. Andrews and Williams of Farmerville were finalists in the 90 pound division, and P. Snyder and Brady were the survivors in the 145 pound class.

A large crowd attended the finals and was rewarded with some real action from the opening bell. Five technical knockouts were registered in the championship matches.

The championship finals resulted as follows:

84 pounds—Irvin, Tallulah, beat Davis, Neville.

90 pounds—Andrews and Williams, both of Farmerville, were finalists.

105 pounds—Clark, Farmerville, beat Spaugh, Neville.

112 pounds—King, Neville, beat Holloway, Farmerville.

135 pounds—Earl, Neville, beat Compton, Farmerville.

145 pounds—P. Snyder and Brady, both of Neville, were finalists.

Heavyweight—H. Snyder, Neville, won from Whatley, Lake Providence, by forfeit.

Officials who handled the tournament were "Chic" Pipes, Charles Hoover, Don Wiley and Thomas Deas, all Louisiana Tech boxers, who alternated as judges and referee.

Consolations

Following are results of the consolation, o. third place, bouts:

78 pounds—Fairly, Tallulah, beat Banfield, Neville.

90 pounds—Stout, Neville, beat Jacobs, Linville.

98 pounds—Braziel and Terrell, Farmerville, draw.

Simmons A Bargain At $75,000---Al Says He'll Prove It Himself

Former Chisox Star Adopts Lighter Bat And Sounds Warning

LAKELAND, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Al Simmons is serving notice that the American league is going to concede, before the 1936 campaign is very old, that he is well worth the $75,000 in cash which transferred him from the Chicago White Sox to the world champion Detroit Tigers.

The flashy-fielding outer gardener was the first Bengal to report for spring training here. He scaled more than 200 pounds, and immediately began a campaign to get down to 190 by opening day.

To Use Lighter Bat

"I look for a great season," he said. "For years I've used the heaviest bat in baseball, one 42 inches long and weighing 38 ounces. At Manager Cochrane's suggestion I'm trying out a shorter bat weighing about 33 ounces and I think it will improve my hitting."

Simmons is all enthusiasm. The construction of a new grandstand at Navin Field, Detroit, has shortened the right field distance, and Al always has been a slashing, center and right field hitter. He looks for a season in which he will bat .350 or better.

Manager Cochrane has indicated that Simmons, who will play centerfield, will bat fifth in the Bengal lineup. The Tigers likely will present this batting order when the season opens: Fox, rf, Cochrane, c, Gehringer, 2b, Greenberg, 1b, Simmons, cf, Goslin, rf, Rogell, ss, Owen, 3b, and the pitcher last.

A lot depends on Greenberg, husky first-sacker and most valuable player in the circuit in 1935, who had not signed when Cochrane led the vanguard of Tigers into camp.

Gehringer Is Confident

Charley Gehringer, who expects to have another great season at second base and at the plate, believes the Tigers will repeat in the American league and then play the St. Louis Cardinals in the series next October.

The scrap for positions in the outfield will be a lively one. The Bengals apparently are slated to have one of the best outer gardens in several years. Simmons, Fox and the veteran Goslin appear to have the edge, if they escape injury during the training session, but the club has Gerald Walker, brilliant young ball-hawk and good hitter; Jo-Jo White, regular centerfielder last year, and Hubert Bates and Chester Morgan, both rookies.

Don Ross, Gilbert English, Dixie Howell and Chet Laabs are likely recruit infielders and Owen, at third, will have to improve his hitting if he is to keep a full-time hold on his job.

FAST FIELD FOR FOUR-BALL MEET

Revolta-Picard And Runyan-Smith Teams Pace Entries At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., March 7.—(Special)—A field of 16 teams composed of the 32 greatest golfers in the land will tee off Sunday morning at Miami Country club in the first 36-hole round of the twelfth international four-ball matches.

Paced by Johnny Revolta and Henry Picard, defending champions, and Paul Runyan and Horton Smith, winners once and finalists on two other occasions, the 16 combinations are shooting for a $4,000 purse and the glory going to winners of the greatest team competition of them all.

Revolta and Picard had to fire a course record at Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruickshank to get by the second round last year, and the 36-hole final match against Runyan and Smith carried to the 54th before the youthful pros could claim a victory.

For the gallerites, the International four-ball turns up the winter season's top-flight amusement. In no other tournament can a fan see more spectacular shots because at least one of the team is always shooting for the pin while the other puts his gambling instincts in his pocket and lays them down in orthodox fashion.

The smart money with an eye to long shots is giving Harry Cooper and Jimmy Thompson a chance to come through. With the longest driver in the game ready to slaughter the 6,354-yard course and Cooper's shots around the cup promising to make the short game experts sit up and take notice, this team will furnish a lot of golf for anyone in the lists with them.

The play is 36 holes a day with the finals scheduled for Wednesday.

WYKOFF FIFTH IN 100-YARD FEATURE

LONG BEACH, Calif., March 7.—(AP)—Frank Wykoff failed today in the first test of his comeback attempt pointing toward the Olympic games. He finished fifth in the 100-yard-dash of the annual Long Beach relays.

Al Fitch, of the University of Southern California, a converted quarter-miler, won in 9.7 seconds.

Wykoff, curly-haired sprinter whose record of 9.4 seconds, established in 1930, still stands, won a preliminary heat in 9.9 seconds today. He has been out of competition for more than two years.

TRAINING CAMP Notes

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, saw the Boston Bees split into two squads today and play their first game of the training season.

Team No. 2 with the veteran pitchers, Veach, Babich and Mac Fayden hurling three innings each and holding the opposition to 7 hits, defeated team No. 1, 7 to 3.

DODGERS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Buddy Hassett, the expensive first sacker, took part in his first workout with the Dodgers and performed impressively both in the field and at bat. Like the rest of the "sore muscle brigade" which arrived yesterday, Hassett was not in as good form as the early arrivals but he banged out a few good line drives.

GIANTS

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Jimmy Ripple, the switch-hitting slugger from Montreal, was named to fill the place of holdout Hank Leiber in the Giants outfield today as Bill Terry picked his teams for the first intra-club game tomorrow. Terry will not take part in the first few camp games, remaining on the bench to rest his damaged knee.

PHILLIES

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Manager Jimmy Wilson had his Phillies hurling squad bear down today for the first time in the training camp season, and was pleased with the results.

The twirlers had their batting practice opponents eating out of their hands, except for First Baseman Dolph Camilli, who showed a mid-season batting eye by clubbing the pitchers' offerings to all corners of the lot.

WHITE SOX

PASADENA, Calif., March 7.—(AP)—After going through a workout without ill effects today, Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox decided he would be ready to play third base tomorrow in the first game of the exhibition season against Seattle of the Pacific Coast league at Santa Monica.

RED SOX

SARASOTA, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—General Manager Eddie Collins said today the Boston Red Sox had made their "final offer" to Bill Werber, the team's lone holdout. He added Werber, leading American league base stealer last season, "knows how we stand."

P. DEAN WEAKENS IN HOLDOUT WAR

Daffy Hopes To Sign Soon; Higgins Remains Firm In Demands

DALLAS, Texas, March 7.—(AP)—Paul (Daffy) Dean, less talkative member of baseball's brother bad boys, indicated today he is weakening in his holdout fight with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Not so, however, with Frank (Pinky) Higgins, who said he was getting nowhere with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Before teeing off for a round of golf, Daffy remarked:

"I haven't signed yet—but I sure hope to soon. I haven't heard a word. I'd like to settle this business."

He apparently has recovered from a bruised leg suffered in a recent automobile accident.

Daffy has been training on golf—and golf has been "terrible," he said. He figures it would take him a full three weeks to get ready for the season.

Higgins, star third baseman of the Athletics and the outstanding remnant of the club after a winter's heavy trading and selling, is training with the Dallas Steers.

"I'm just waiting," he said. "Mr. Mack hasn't said a word in several days—and neither have I."

Higgins, who picked up $10,000 last season, received a pay cut on the first contract offered but the second contained his old wages. Now he wants more—and argues he's worth it if he's worth $100,000 on the auction block.

N. CAROLINA TAKES BASKETBALL TITLE

RALEIGH, N. C., March 7.—(AP)—North Carolina's White Phantoms defeated the top-seeded Washington and Lee Generals 50 to 45 here tonight to win the Southern conference basketball championships for the second consecutive year.

SUMRALL, JOHNSON WIN

HATTIESBURG, Miss., March 7.—(AP)—Sumrall of Lamar county and Johnson station, a line school between Lincoln and Pie counties, will represent south Mississippi in the state boys' basketball tournament next Friday and Saturday at Carthage. Johnson Station defeated Biloxi 27 to 25 in one semi-final game here today and Sumrall whipped White Oak, 22 to 11.

LOCAL SEXTETTE DEFEATS BRUSLY FOR TITLE, 36-15

Jena Trims Coushatta, 27 To 20, To Cop Boys' Championship

BATON ROUGE, La., March 7.—(AP)—Jena was today crowned the champion boys high school basketball team of Louisiana and Ouachita high of Monroe won the state cage title for girls.

Jena defeated Coushatta in the finals of the annual boys high school tournament, 27 to 20, in a finely played, hard fought tussle, while Ouachita ran roughsod over Brusly 36 to 15.

No consolation game was played in either the boys or girls competition.

Fortier high of New Orleans, beaten by Coushatta in the semi-finals 31 to 29, technically won boys third place by outlucking Jesuits of New Orleans in a coin toss.

Jesuits was eliminated in the semi-finals by Jena, 42 to 30.

Lyon, defeated by Ouachita, 40 to 29, won third place in the girls play on a forfeit from Athens who lost to Brulsy, 26 to 25.

Jena played fine ball and was considered a team to be reckoned with from the start of the tournament. The boys from Lasalle parish showed genuine strength in downing the Coushatta quintet.

Ouachita displayed a fast team built around Natalie Wall, rangy center. Miss Wall ran wild as an individual scorer, tallying 28 points. The feat ran her four-game tournament total to 120 points.

Ouachita led at the half by only 15 to 13, but pulled well out in front as the game progressed.

NOW THEY'RE ALL PICKING ON POOR OLE DIZZY DEAN

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 7.—(AP)—Joe Engel, master showman of minor league baseball and president of the Chattanooga Lookouts, announced tonight through Freddie Russell, sports editor of the Nashville Banner, that he had offered Dizzy Dean $15,000 to fight him "a six-round, finish bout with no holds barred."

Engel said he made the offer to Dean because "I would get a great deal of personal satisfaction out of whipping him for walking out on an exhibition game" at Chattanooga last fall.

The Lookout prexy last fall charged Dean refused to pitch in a scheduled barnstorming game because of a small crowd. He quoted Dean as saying he could "make more money playing poker on the train" than in appearing on the Chattanooga diamond.

Engel said he called Dean over long-distance telephone at Bradenton, Fla., tonight and challenged him to the fight.

He said the bout would be acceptable to him in Chattanooga, Nashville, Atlanta, Memphis or New Orleans.

The colorful showman quoted the great Dizzy as replying:

"I think Chattanooga is a great town, has a good ball club, but a mighty lousy president. I'm willing to fight anywhere, but would like to talk it over with my wife first."

Engel said there's Dizzy's chance to get the difference in salary which he wants from the Cardinals. "I'll guarantee him $15,000 and that with what St. Louis will pay him will give him about the $40,000 he says he is holding out for."

Both Dean and Engel are well over six feet tall, weigh upwards of 180 pounds and have always been known for their ability at ready repartee.

Engel told Russell that if "Dean accepts my offer I will start roadwork tomorrow morning" to condition himself for the battle.

JORDAN TO TEACH BOXING CLASS HERE

"Curley" Jordan, one-time runner-up for the world's featherweight title, has accepted a position as physical education director and trainer for the Monroe recreation department's boxing club and is now making his home in Monroe.

Jordan was at the height of his fistic career 25 years ago and in recent years has spent his time training and managing newcomers to the ring. Among his most noted products are Quina Lee, southern fly and bantamweight champion, and Eddie Wilson, bantamweight contender.

In taking up his new duties in the recreation department here, Jordan makes himself available to the athletically, and especially fistically, inclined youths of the city. Jordan is especially anxious to have a general get-together of boys and young men on Wednesday afternoon for a special introduction in the art of boxing.

Warneke's Arm Is Okeh---All's Well With The Cubs

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of stories covering big league training camps.

AVALON, Catalina Island, March 7.—Lon Warneke's mighty right arm again is as loose as Dizzy Dean's tongue, and the young Chicago Cubs sing merrily.

Warneke is the key man of the Bruins' pitching staff. The slim slinger from the Ozarks chucked the Wrigley entry to the National league championship in the greatest stretch drive in the history of baseball last fall, and might have hurled it to the world championship had not a ligament in his shoulder tightened after he had shut out the Detroit Tigers for 15 consecutive innings.

Manager Charley Grimm is thinking of having the Chicago dugout steam-heated as the result of this sad experience.

There is no reason why the Cubs should not boss the works in the National league for several years to come.

The outfit averages only 25 years in age, and if you omit Grimm, who will do little playing, and Charley Root and Gabby Hartnett, the oldest active battery in the business, the Wrigley lads as a group are younger than many varsity football squads.

This is well, for the Cubs are making a spring trip that would be much too much for a lot of old blokes. Going to Catalina to train wasn't enough, so the Cubs are returning to Chicago via Florida—over a sort of circular staircase route. The object undoubtedly is to avoid the blizzard that the Cubs invariably encountered in Kansas City along about April 7. To do this, they'll travel more than 13,000 miles.

There is real danger of their leaving their September speed on the spring training trip. Clubs have done this before.

Lindstrom Release Explained

When a manager can give a smart player like Freddie Lindstrom his release, with the athlete in question fresh from helping the club cop the gonfalon, he indeed is sitting pretty.

"Talk of Lindstrom having managerial aspirations is ridiculous," explains Grimm. "We are the best of friends. When I engineered the deal with the Pirates that gave us Lindy last winter, I intended to use him on third base."

"I wasn't sure about Stanley Hack. Bud Parmelee, of the Giants, had broken the Sacramento boy's wrist with a pitched ball in the fall of 1934.

"But what developed was this. Lindstrom no longer could play a full season at third base, and couldn't field as he did in his days with the Giants. Meanwhile, Hack's wrist mended perfectly, and he developed into a corking third baseman.

"Lindstrom filled in beautifully at center field during the latter part of the 1935 campaign, but there is only one player to look after that position now. He is Augie Galan. Frank Demaree will start in left field, and Chuck Klein in right."

In addition to the five who packed the pitching burden last year—Warneke, Bill Lee, Larry French, Root, and Tex Carleton—the Cubs have the squatty southpaw, Roy Henshaw, and expect a great deal from the recruits, Clay Bryant and Clyde Shoun, the latter a southpaw.

Hartnett, Ken O'Dea, and Walter Stephenson gave the Cubs remarkable catching in 1935, and the scouting staff has come up with another fine-looking prospect in Harold Sueme, who spent last season with the Pine Bluff, Ark., club.

Well Fixed With Reserves

Phil Cavarretta, not yet 19 years of age, is certain to be better than ever at first base. As a second-basing combination, Billy Jurges and Billy Herman will do until a more capable pair comes along. Hack reached the peak of his form only last year.

That a club is no stronger than its reserves is an old baseball saying. The Cubs are well fixed along that line. Without going into the recruits, there is Woody English in the infield, and Tuck Stainback in the outfield.

Grimm has an idea that Johnny Gill, an outfielder up from Minneapolis and one who has been around for some time, and Gene Lillard, a third baseman who hit 56 home runs for the Los Angeles Coasters in 1935, will stir up plenty of trouble before regulars are assured of their jobs.

Charley Grimm is strumming his banjo again. Why shouldn't he? He has a young club that has just started to go places.

NEXT: The White Sox.

TULANE WINS SOUTHEASTERN BOXING TITLE

MANTERIS TAKES CROWN IN SENIOR WELTER DIVISION

Former Local Fighter Beats Carville; L. S. U. Second In Tourney

NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—(AP)—Tulane university's mittmen lifted the Southeastern conference boxing crown from its arch rival, Louisiana State, tonight by winning four of the eight division titles.

Every Tulane fighter that qualified for the finals won his fight, rolling up 20 points for the Greenies, while the defending Tigers were able to amass but 17, despite the fact they had five scrappers in the championship tilts.

Mississippi State college, with 13 points, was third, Tennessee university with 11, fourth, and Georgia with three points was fifth.

The two defending champions entered in the third conference mitt tourney both met with surprising setbacks.

Mickey Radutzky, whirlwind Georgia welterweight, dropped a decision to Fred O'Banion of Louisiana State, and Jimmy Blakeman, L. S. U. light-heavyweight titleholder, was stopped by Carl Inman of Mississippi State.

Other division titles went to Mike Maroun, Tulane, bantamweight; Bill Tunnell, Tennessee, featherweight; Joe Bracato, Tulane, lightweight; George Manteris, Tulane, senior welterweight, and "Moon" Mullins, Mississippi State, heavyweight.

Maroun defeated Joe Gersack, Louisiana State, to win the 115-pound title and give the Greenies five points toward the team championship.

Bill Tunnell of Tennessee, annexed the featherweight title by gaining the decision over Brent Murray of Mississippi State in a close setto.

The judges' decision was greeted with a round of booes from the crowd, which had demonstrated its favoritism for the Mississippi boy from the start. Tunnell rolled up points by long range jabs.

The lightweight crown went to Joe Brocato of Tulane. He won over Lonnie Alexander of Tennessee in a slugging match that had both fighters on the floor in the second round. The Tulane boy proved a bit too rugged for Alexander.

The first upset of the evening came when Fred O'Banion, L. S. U. outfought and gained a decision over Mickey Radutzky, Georgia, to take possession of the welterweight title.

Radutsky, the defending champion, waded through his first two fights in easy fashion, demonstrating the deadly left hook that won the title for him a year ago. Tonight, however, O'Banion smothered the punch and won over a tired fighter.

The Georgian took the second round after O'Banion had gained a slight advantage in the first, but lost the third by a wide margin.

Manteris had the edge in the first two rounds but dropped the third under a rally by the Tiger scrapper. However, it was not enough to offset the advantage piled up by Manteris.

The middleweight title also went to Tulane when Cameron Gamble outpointed Earl Dugas of Louisiana State in three fast rounds. Gamble's superior reach was the deciding factor. He punched his much smaller opponent from long distance and kept Dugas from rushing him.

Another defending champion went down in the next fight when Carl Inman, husky Mississippi State light-heavyweight, lifted the crown of Jimmie Blakeman, L. S. U.

Inman, a slashing-attacking scrapper, carried the fight to Blakeman throughout and had the Tiger near exhaustion at the end of the third round. It was a clear-cut victory for the Mississippian.

The heavyweight championship went to big "Moon" Mullins of Mississippi State, who had little trouble blasting out a victory over Frank Crawford of Tennessee. Mullins was the better boxer of the two as well as the superior slugger.

Indian Boxers Meet Gentlemen In Return Match Friday

TWO CENTENARY BOXING STARS

Willard Dean, left, and Linden Bonner are two outstanding members of the Centenary boxing squad, which meets Northeast Center's mittmen at Neville high school auditorium Friday night. Dean, the best of the Gents, lost to Sammy Bono on a foul when the two teams met on February 5, although he was said to have been far out in front when the bout was stopped. Fans are anxiously awaiting their second meeting. Bonner decisioned Red Reynolds in the 135 pound division in the previous match but Reynolds has improved materially and is seeking revenge over the hard hitting Centenary star.

CENTER MITTMEN TO BE READY FOR CENTENARY TEAM

Indians Hope To Turn Tables On Gents In Week-End Match Here

The Indians of Northeast Center of L. S. U. will be out for revenge in a big way here Friday night when Coach James L. Malone's Redmen face the Centenary college boxers at the Neville high school auditorium. It will be the second meeting between the two teams.

The warriors have an old score to settle with the Gents and have been planning and working hard for the battles that are in store for this week-end. In the previous engagement the Centenary mitters walloped the locals 5 to 2, and the Indians were not at all pleased with some of the decisions.

Sammy Bono, in particular will have a score to settle, and he hopes it will be at the expense of the rugged Williard Dean, who fouled him at Shreveport in the first engagement. Although some reports aver that Bono was taking a terriffic beating when Willard fouled him, the Indian believes he can stay with Dean and the added experience and traning since that engagement has improved the Redskin greatly.

Coach Malone won't send the same lineup against the invaders that they met before. The locals have been strengthened and improved with each match since the first battle with Centenary and now have a stellar combination that should afford plenty of trouble for the highly touted Gentlemen.

Frankie Bono, new 145-pound star, will be an important addition for the Indians against the visitors and will probably meet Leo Simmons, who fought Louis Breard to a draw on the occasion of their first meeting.

Two other new boys, both promising scrappers, will be in action for the locals also. James Williams will fight Paul Hudson in the 155-pound scrap, instead of James Gremillion, who lost to Hudson in the previous bouts, and Ed Walker, who has replaced Frank Mosley in the 165-pound class, will take on Oscar Bailey.

Arthur "Boy" Blue, who gained a decision over "Bumps" Gormley, 118, at Shreveport will have a tough time when he meets Gormley a second time. There was some question concerning the decision in Blue's favor and Monroe fans will get a chance to see how Blue and Gormley really stack up here Friday.

Jack Beckett, 126-pound Indian, will get a chance to redeem himself. He lost a hard fought battle to Clyde Jackson at Shreveport and can expect the Gent to be just as tough in the coming bout.

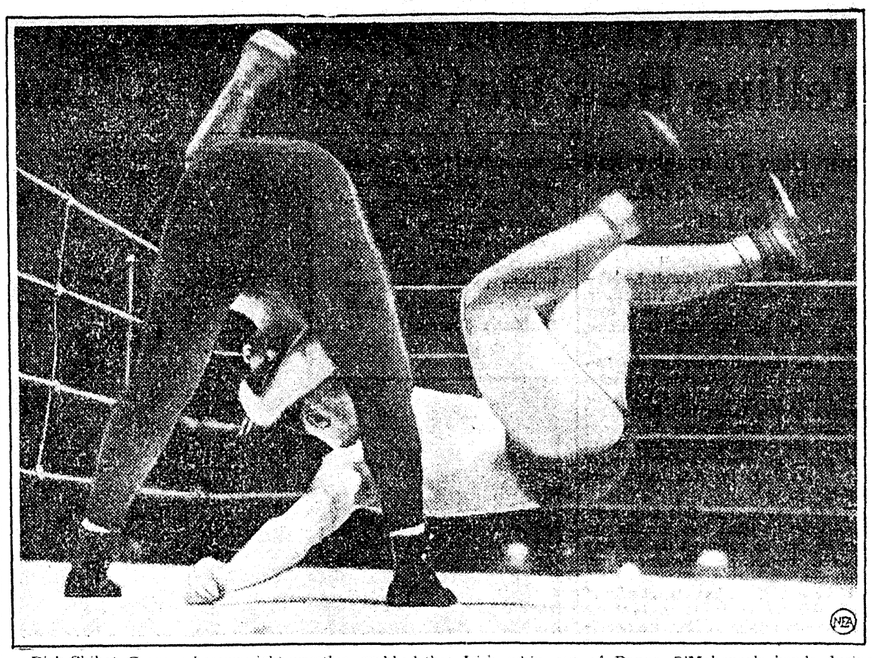
Coach Malone will provide added zest to the workouts in store for his charges this week and promises to have them in tip-top shape for the Shreveport delegation.

M'COMB, BILOXI WIN

McCOMB, Miss., March 7.—(AP)—In the semi-finals of the girls big eight basketball tournament McComb eliminated Gulfport 28 to 20, and Biloxi eliminated Jackson Central high 42 to 40 this afternoon. Both games were featured by thrilling comebacks in the last period. Jackson trailed three quarters, then tied the score at 35 with three minutes to play, but was outpointed in that last three minutes. McComb was two points behind as the last period began, but came from behind to win.

Appropriations made by congress for running the U. S. government during 1932 totaled $4,674,073,917.

FALL OF AN IRISH MAT EMPIRE



Dick Shikat, German heavyweight wrestler, grabbed that Irish whip out of Danno O'Mahoney's hands during their championship bout in Madison Square Garden. When he had finished cracking it around the Mick's head, he climbed onto the mat throne. Here is an unusual action shot, taken through Shikat's legs, as O'Mahoney fell to defeat.

MANHATTAN WINS I. C. 4-A TRACK AND FIELD TITLE

Jaspers Cop Crown For Third Straight Years; O'Brien Is Winner

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, March 7.—(AP)—Climaxing their performance with a smashing triumph in the 1600 meters relay, final event of the meet, Manhattan college's track and field team tonight captured the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. team title for the third straight year with a total of 26 points.

Scoring in only five of the 12 varsity events but capturing three of them, the Jaspers from the sidewalks of New York, coached by Pete Waters, asserted their supremacy on the boards by a decisive margin, while a crowd of 10,000 spectators acclaimed their performances.

Yale and Harvard waged a hot battle for second place, with the Elis emerging in front, with 18 1-2 points to the Crimson's 17 3-4.

Manhattan's team struck its first big blow in defense of the title when Lou Burns, lanky sophomore, and the veteran Bill Ray ran one-two in the 1500 meters run.

Burns came from nowhere on the last two laps and outfooted his teammate to win by three yards in the relatively slow time of 4 minutes, 5 seconds. Ray, the favorite, set all the pace until he was overhauled by Burns. Cornell's Johnny Meaden, after following Ray's pace closely, faded back to fourth at the finish as he was passed by Herome Calijone of Fordham.

The 1935 winner of the 1500, Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania, was unable to compete because of an attack of grippe.

Eddie O'Brien, Syracuse's spectacular middle distance star, survived rough going to capture the 600 meters final. The Orange flier, badly pocketed and bumped during the first half of the race, shook himself loose just in time to outsprint Edgar Borack of Manhattan on the final lap and win by five yards.

Penn State, thanks to a brilliant anchor 800 meters by Duverney Book, carried off the 3,200 meters varsity relay, beating Boston college in a ding-dong race, with Manhattan, the favorite, third.

Howard Downey, running third for the Nittany Lions, closed a substantial gap and enabled Book to take command of the race at the start of the last leg. Book fought off a series of challenges from John Downey, Boston college anchor runner, and pulled away to win by five yards.

Lou Burn, returning to the track soon after winning the 1500 meters race, carried the baton for Manhattan on the last leg but lacked the finishing powers of his fresher rivals.

Winning Golf

By Lawson Little

BELLAIR, Fla., March 7.—The stymie has been a subject for argument for over a hundred years as far as I know. Back in the 1830's the Royal and Ancient Club at St. Andrews voted to abolish the stymie. However, it was reestablished the next year.

To those who do not quite understand the stymie, I shall explain: A stymie can happen only in match play. The word in golf means that two balls lie upon the putting green so that the ball nearer the hole is in the way of the other one, but they must be more than six inches apart. Golfers speak of this interference as a full-stymie, a half-stymie, or a quarter-stymie.

It is interesting to see a stymie negotiated. There are various ways of doing it. Under any case it is a very ticklish shot and requires complete control of muscles and nerve. If the balls are from six to fifteen inches apart, the best way to make the shot is to jump it. A niblick or some other well-lofted club is used.

Favors Jump Shot

I usually try to play the jump shot in as many cases as I can because I feel that the chances are greater for sinking the ball. If you use a putter and try to cut the ball around a stymie, there is too great a possibility for error. If you do not hit the putt exactly right, you either hit your opponent's ball or miss the hole. I have never been successful in giving the ball enough spin to curve it on the putting green, so I always try some other method.

If I have to play an absolute stymie, I find that there are three avenues open to me regardless of the distance between the balls. I will always use a lofted club of some sort and try to either pitch over the ball in front of me, bounce over it or cut my ball around it. It is easier to put spin on the ball with a more lofted club. Of course, this is taking a chance, but a little practice will soon show you that a good deal of control can be quickly attained.

Every year the age-old question of the stymie comes up—should it be abolished or continued? I don't believe there is a more spectacular shot in golf than a successful stymie shot; I know that I get the greatest satisfaction when I make a successful attempt. During the last two years, since the advent of the new all-match play Amateur championship, the stymie argument has been at white heat, and there has been no end of discussion as to whether a player stymied many times in a eighteen hole match had a fair chance. Many players feel that luck plays a prominent enough part in golf without the stymie.

Lawson Little using a lofted club is lining up the shot preparatory to negotiating the stymie that confronts him.

Suppose you were playing the eighteenth hole of one of these sudden death matches and were one down. Suppose you hit a fine drive and an approach shot—say 5 feet from the hole, and in the meantime, your opponent had hit a mediocre second shot to the green—say—25 feet from the hole. Then he putted and left his ball on the lip of the hole directly in your line—the reward you should have had from playing such two great shots under pressure, would probably not be forthcoming. Such luck would seem to be all hard, but we consider it just a break of the game—a tradition of the game which St. Andrews loves.

Against Stymie

I personally am against the stymie because it throws an outside influence into the match—that is, I believe that if a player makes a good shot, he should be given the opportunity of following it up and collecting his reward. I don't believe that he should be made to suffer for something over which he has no control.

Furthermore, I believe that people who do not play championship golf are laboring under the illusion that good players can lay stymies at will. This is a great misconception—the hole is much larger than the area upon which a ball must be stopped in order to lay a stymie. If any player is that accurate, he would be the greatest putter the world has ever known. Most of the players themselves are against stymies and even if they could lay them, they would try for the cup instead of playing for the possibility of a stymie. In my ten years of competitive golf, I have never seen a case where it was more beneficial to stymie an opponent than sink the putt.

For instance, if you're one of those die-hards who believe that some day a filly is going to repeat Regret's feat and become the second of the fair sex to annex the Bluegrass classic, then R. A. Kleberg's Split Second appears to be the lady on whose nose your deuce should be riding May 2.

This filly was the best of her sex as a juvenile, winning three out of four starts, and finishing third in one. Her big moment was the winning of the Selma Stakes; the purse of that event, added to the other dough won by the daughter of Sortie and One Hour, gave her total earnings of $24,655.

Two other ladies are entered in the classic—W. C. Goodloe's Seventh Heaven, winner of the Lone Star Handicap at Epsom Downs; and William du Pont's Gold Seeker, a maiden.

Two women stable owners who have won the Derby before are gunning for top money with strong strings.

Mrs. Payne Whitney, whose Twenty Grand won in 1931, has nominated Brush Hook, Galsac, Jamboree, Memory Book and York. Memory Book, a stake winner by the great St. Germans out of Memento, is the best liked of the Whitney string, being quoted at 20-1.

Mrs. Sloane Names Five

Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, whose Cavalcade copped the Derby in 1934, has entered five horses, Gean Canach, Corundum, Delphinium, Indian Broom, and Clocks.

Delphinium, a stakes winner, is quoted at 20-1, and appears to be the most likely colt on the Brookmeade Stable's list. The horse is by Blue Larkspur out of Multiflora.

Of course, the talent in the entries is composed of the three favorites, Grand Slam, winner of the Pimlico Nursery, Arlington Futurity and Kentucky Jockey Club stakes; Hollyrood, winner of the Pimlico Futurity, and Brevity, winner of the Champagne stakes; as well as Tintagel, Coldstream, Snark, Ned Reigh and a couple of others.

But down there, at odds of 40-1, is a hoss that deserves your attention, purely on his blood lines. The animal is Count Morse, a likely colt of Warren Wright's Calumet farms. His daddy is none other than Reigh Count, the great nag that copped the classic in 1928, finishing in front of Misstep and Toro.

Like Pop, Like Son—We Hope

This department, which rarely picks a Derby winner this early in the year, climbs out on the limb in favor of Count Morse—if he ever gets to the post. But this is simply due to sentimental reasons; we had a two spot on his dad's nose when the sire popped in.

Don't let that selection influence your own good judgment, for there are several factors which may rule out our guess. Three of them are owned by that shrewdest of shrewd horsemen, Colonel E. R. Bradley, suh!

The Kentucky gentleman, who has won four Derbies with Behave Yourself, Bubbling Over, Burgoo King and Brokers Tip, has three nominations, two of them sons of Blue Larkspur. Bien Joli and Banister fall under that classification, the former being out of Silver Hue, and the latter out of Bessie Alix. The third horse is Bow to Me, by Epinard out of Beginner's Luck.

Not a little has been said about the first and last horse, but, from past experience with Bradley strategy, that makes Banister a pretty good colt.

The colonel generally ballyhoos the hoss or hosses with which he doesn't figure on winning, and then comes home with a sleeper when everyone is watching his supposed star.

Oh, yes, the colonel is to be figured strongly in this season's classic—especially since reports are circulating that this will be his last active season of campaigning.

MAROON NINE TO NEED REBUILDING

Graduation Takes All But Two Regulars At Mississippi State

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., March 7.—(AP)—Although he is not superstitious, Coach C. R. (Dudy) Noble has misgivings about the number "13"—the exact number of 1935 baseball players whose names are missing from the roster this spring.

Last year's graduation toll left only two regulars and depleted the reserve ranks drawn upon frequently while the Maroons and Alabama were locked in a nip-and-tuck struggle for the championship which was won by the Tidesmen.

Noble must begin all over, taking such material as he has and wielding it into a cohesive ball club.

Missing reserves who divide time with the regulars are Clarence Hine, outfielder; Bill Denton, Buddy Richmond and Hunter Pratt, infielders, and Vic Shaw, pitcher.

A fairly large squad of men has reported for practice, among them being some likely prospects, but the 1936 baseball team will be largely composed of sophomores and reserves brought over from last year.

"It will take a good bit of practice to determine what we will have this year," Coach Noble said, "but we hope to get together a pretty fair team by the time the schedule gets well under way.

"But a big question mark is all I can see regarding prospects for this 1936 baseball team at State college."

The Maroons have the advantage of two big ten games as warm-ups for the conference schedule. Minnesota's baseball team, swinging through the south on a training tour, stops over for games March 27 and 28. State opens the conference schedule against Louisiana State at Baton Rouge April 7 and 8.

Stern, Silent Men, Neatly Dressed, Are Best Umpires, Says 'Prof' Barr

By R. Hendrix Chandler

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 7.—(AP)—If you can take it without dishing it out, if it doesn't disturb you to work without friends and if you think silence is the highest reward for achievement, then, my boy, you might become an umpire.

So says "Professor" George Barr, National league arbiter, as he expounds the art of calling 'em out and making 'em like it to 40 students enrolled here in his school of umpiring.

To be a success, the sorrel-topped professor explains, you can't let 'em get your goat no matter what names they call you. "The only thing to do is act as if the names were meant for the guy in the back row of the bleachers—and go right on calling 'em."

Retain Your Dignity

"If you talk back to players or fans, you lose dignity and eventually they'll take you for a real ride. Don't kid with the players because when you do have to call someone down he'll think you're still kidding.

"Don't let yourself be seen talking with players before or after games, because someone's sure to get the impression you're going to be partial to that particular player."

Barr's pupils officiate at league games between students attending the all-star baseball school here which is taught by such celebrities as Schoolboy Rowe, Rogers Hornsby and Tris Speaker.

First impressions mean a lot in umpiring, too, and there's no better way to start a game than a good, thorough, business-like dusting of the plate with the whisk-broom, which is the symbol of an umpire's authority. The dusting business "gives the impression that you're in charge of the game."

"PROF" GEORGE BARR

"And always look neat. Start the game with a freshly-pressed suit, shined shoes and clean collar though you know they'll be covered with dust a minute after play is called.

"My friends used to razz me for dressing up for the game," Barr says, "but one incident in my minor league experience convinced me.

"I had taken unusual care to look my neatest but my fellow worker, a great umpire and a great guy, came out with a slightly ruffled suit, shoes unshined and a dirty collar.

"I'm not taking any bows for being a Prince Albert but it wasn't long before the crowd noted the contrast and began yelling uncomplimentary things like 'Who's your ragged friend, George?' Soon they were riding his decisions.

Fast On The Feet

"Of course, you're going to make wrong decisions," Barr confesses, the best do it. But there's nothing to do but bear down on the next one and don't let the razzing get you. Don't try to even it up by calling the next close one for the other side."

"A good umpire has got to move on every pitch," says he, demonstrating with a leap into the air to "catch" the high pitch, a dive to look at the low one and various contortions to bring the inside and outside pitches into focus.

One of the greatest commendations Barr ever received resulted from a sprint from home plate, through the pitchers' box to second base to make the decision on a player who was trying to stretch a drive over the infield into a double. You've got to be fast on your feet to do that, and Barr arrived to make the hair-line decision.

KELLY MEETS WESTENBERG TUESDAY NIGHT

LOCAL FAVORITE RECOVERS FROM RECENT ILLNESS

Marvin Claims He'll Win Kelly's Title; Lever Meets O'Connor

The long-sought wrestling match between Ernest Kelly, pride of Roosevelt stadium, and Marvin Westenberg, claimant of the southern heavyweight championship, will be presented at Roosevelt stadium as the main event of the weekly mat show next Tuesday night, Promoter Charlie Bruscato announced yesterday.

Kelly was booked in here for the first heavyweight show three weeks ago but became suddenly ill at Shreveport and was forced to cancel a week of engagement. Then he was signed for last week's card, after he had recuperated enough to work out in a Shreveport gym. The workout apparently cost him heavily, for a day later he was taken to a sanitarium, where he remained for three days. Thus Bruscato's second attempt to book a Kelly-Westenberg match went for naught.

Last Tuesday night Kelly was well enough to appear here and take a bow from the ring. His right arm was in a sling, however, the result of an attack of influenza which settled in the member. Later in the week the popular Tennesseean worked out a couple of days and Saturday night he entered the wrestling wars again, appearing in a match at Corpus Christi. Thus Promoter Bruscato is certain that Kelly will be able to work here Tuesday night, unless hard luck overtakes him again.

Meanwhile, Westenberg has appeared on the two previous cards as scheduled, meeting substitutes. He is anxiously awaiting a crack at Kelly, according to Bruscato. He has ably demonstrated that he's one of the best grapplers to appear here since the sport was revived several years ago and Kelly backers are beginning to wonder whether or not the popular Ernest will be able to top the Washington State husky.

"I understand Kelly is the stadium champion," Bruscato said Westenberg told him two weeks ago. "Well, I'm the southern champ and I don't mean to be boasting, but I'll be the stadium champion too if I can ever get Kelly in the ring with me here."

That's big talk, because Kelly has been able to dispose of the best of 'em at the local arena, but Westenberg has shown that he's pretty well able to back up any argument he starts.

The card as a whole stacks up as the best presented here in a long time. In the semi-final match, Bruscato has booked Dick Lever, Nashville youngster who was a big favorite here a year or so ago, and Dan O'Connor, Irish heavyweight who will be making his local debut. Lever is a clever grappler who mixes lots of rough stuff with his science. O'Connor also has a reputation as a roughhouse artist, so there should be plenty of action in the semi-final tussle.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event having a two-hour time limit and the semi-final limited to one hour. "Butch" Martin will referee both matches.

Max Lives In Scrapbook Memories, Telling How He Played Santa Claus

Baer Likes To Imagine He's 'White Hope' To Beat Joe Louis

By L. S. Kimball

ROSEVILLE, Calif., March 7.—(AP)—There are whispers that Max Baer, the forgotten man of the ring, may come back to the leather-pushing wars.

For the present, however, the former heavyweight champion who went down and out under the furious onslaught of Joe Louis last September is taking his ease among the rolling hills of the Sacramento valley, where the moon and stars provide most of the bright lights for this alumnus of Broadway.

To the environs of this little railroad town he came five months ago and started life anew on the 40- acre "ranch" owned by Manager Ancil Hoffman.

Since then Maxie has played a lot of golf, dabbled at ranching, attended the movies regularly. He occasionally referees a wrestling or boxing bout and he's put on weight. He scales 231—20 pounds over ringside normal.

Max Is Studying

Lounging back in a chair, watching the sunset, Baer exclaims: "This is the life." He seems to mean it.

The 26-year-old one-time playboy is not ready to settle down forever on the ranch. He and Hoffman are dickering with Hollywood and Max is studying English and speaking.

Will he ever fight again? His wife, the former Mary Ellen Sullivan, says no.

But Baer likes to toy with the idea that he might be the "white hope" if Louis erases Jim Braddock—and Max says Louis will do that. However, right now Max is not looking far past the movies, golf and the ranch.

"There's a great guy!" he exclaims. What would have happened if Jack met Louis in Jack's hey-dey?

"Jack would have killed him," says Max. "I may not be so hot, but the guy who taught me how would murder Louis. Dempsey is as rough as they come."

'Alias Santa Claus—'

Baer flipped the pages to headlines screaming his startling loss to Braddock.

"Boys, I was the biggest Santa Claus of 1935—I gave Braddock the title!

"I'm only 26 but I've sure lived a lot," he muses as the pages of the scrap-book stir the depths of his memory. "And I'm going to live a lot more."

A comeback—the movies, radio, master of ceremonies or even wrestling, maybe—somehow Max expects to climb back into the thick of things.

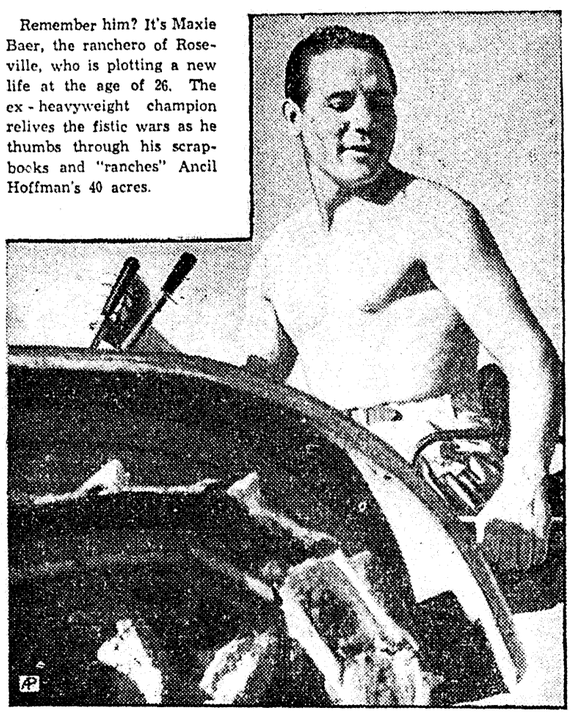
For the moment he is content to let the world roll by as he tries to whip his strong-arm golf game into the 70's. He seldom mentions his sorry showing against Louis. When he does, he wisecracks. A friend called him "five round Maxie."

"Don't flatter me," Baer shot back. "He knocked me cold in four."

Brother Buddy Baer is Max's pride now.

"He's only 20 but watch him develop. He's twice as regular about living as I am. They say he's easy because he was beaten on the Louis card, too.

"Sure, he got licked. Buddy was all broken up after I lost in the bout preceding him. He felt about as much like fighting after Joe put me to sleep as I did. Get the sentiment out and Buddy will go places."



Remember him? It's Maxie Baer, the ranchero of Roseville, who is plotting a new life at the age of 26. The ex-heavyweight champion relives the fistic wars as he thumbs through his scrapbooks and "ranches" Ancil Hoffman's 40 acres.

BREVITY WINNER IN FLORIDA DERBY

Widener Star Equals World Record In Copping Hialeah Classic

MIAMI, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Brevity, a royally bred dark bay colt, carried the red and white striped Joseph E. Widener colors to victory today in the ninth—and last—Florida derby.

A stablemate, Dnieper, owned by Mrs. P. A. B. Widener, was second, and the C V. Whitney entry, Bright Plumage, was third. Brevity clipped one-fifth of a second from the track record of 1:48 2-5 for the mile and furlong gallop.

Brevity, winning by five lengths after leading from the outset, equalled the world's record for the distance set at 1:48 1-5 by Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Discovery at Aqueduct last year.

Ridden by young Wayne Danforth Wright, who rode Top Row to victory in the recent Santa Anita handicap, the gallant three-year-old from the Elmdorf stud was never headed, and won by three lengths.

The overwhelming favorite, Brevity paid $2.50 to win, $2.90 for place and $2.20 to show. Dnieper, an entry, paid the same as the winner for the place and show, and Bright Plumage returned $2.60 in the $2 mutuels.

MRS. CREWS WINS EAST COAST TITLE

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews of Miami today chased the jinx that has been pursuing defending champions this winter by crushing her old foe, Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, four and three, to retain her Florida east coast golf championship.

Through a heavy mist and against a brisk wind, Mrs. Crews won three of the first four holes played, beat back a rally from the Kansas City veteran, who eliminated the sensational Patty Berg of Minneapolis in yesterday's semi-final, and then won out with a closing rush that found her beating the elements and par.

The victory gave Mrs. Crews a .500 batting average for her winter play. In four championships, she won the Palm Beach title with a four and three triumph over Miss Berg, was defeated by the Minneapolis wonder girl in the finals of the Punta Gorda, lost midway in another and then won today with one over women's par golf.

Mrs. Hill, suffering from an attack of intestinal flu, was no match for the Miami star. She couldn't get started, winning only two holes of the 15 played and then by her opponent's mistakes. For the distance, Mrs. Hill was six over women's par.

MANY QUALIFY IN MUNY GOLF MEET

Dr. Harberson's 77 Leads Field Of 36 Who Have Posted Scores

Thirty-six golfers have posted qualifying scores for the spring handicap tournament at the Municipal Golf club, with Dr. R. T. Harberson's 77 the low score so far, Winnie Cole, muny pro, announced last night.

The tournament officially opens on March 15, and that is the final date for qualifying, Cole said. Despite the fact that Dr. Harberson is leading the field now, the medalist, of course, will not be determined until the close of the qualifying round.

Cole yesterday urged that all golfers who expect to compete post their scores at once so that handicaps may be figured for the tourney.

Other who have qualified are:

Bill Lovett, H. E. Roberts, Charles McCord, T. S. McLain, Vance Rhodes, Jordan Barton, W. W. Washburn, H. L. Hipp, Gilbert Faulk, Charles Stubbs, George Weaks, Jr., Kenneth Holt, Charles Dunlap, Jim Harris, L. K. Turner, Aaron Parker, Joe Goyne, J. O. Pilcher, Ted Schwantis, Ray Buce and Shelby Cage.

It is expected that at least fifty golfers will compete in the season's first tournament, Cole said.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., March 7.—Duke university took the Southern conference indoor track and field championships here tonight in easy style, sewing up the title after ten of the 12 conference division events had been run.

MADISON BROOKS LEADS BULLDOGS TO 42-36 VICTORY

Normal, Western Kentucky And Murray Also Reach Semi-Finals

JACKSON, Miss., March 7.—(AP)—Two Kentucky and two Louisiana teams will battle it out in the semi-finals of the S. I. A. A. basketball tournament here Monday night as a result of today and tonight's tournament victories. The semi-finalists are Murray Kentucky Teachers, Western Kentucky Teachers, Louisiana Normal and Louisiana Tech.

Louisiana Normal college of Natchitoches won its way into the semi-final tonight by nosing out Mississippi college of Clinton, 44 to 43, in an extra period, while Louisiana Tech of Ruston defeated Wofford college of Spartanburg, S. C., earlier in the night.

The Kentucky teams had fought their way into the semi-finals in afternoon games, with Western Kentucky defeating Stetson with little difficulty and Murray eliminating the University of Louisville.

In the semi-finals, Murray will be pitted against Louisiana Normal, and Western will oppose Louisiana Tech.

The Mississippi college-La. Normal game tonight was the most spirited game of the tournament, and the first extra period tilt.

Noble Day Anderson's long field goal in the last second of play tied the score at 41 to 41 as Mississippi college pulled up even with the Louisiana team as the regular playing period ended. In the extra period, Magee, La. Normal substitute center, looped in a field goal, and Loftlin tossed in a free shot to give Normal the victory.

Murray eliminated a third Kentucky team, the University of Louisville, by the impressive score of 46-24, with its sophomore sensation, Floyd Burdette of Martin, Ky., setting the pace for his teammates.

Western Kentucky had little difficulty in defeating the Stetson university Hatters of Deland, Fla., 50 to 36. Western substitutes finished the game after the regulars had piled up an insurmountable lead.

Neither of the Kentucky teams was pressed to win today, Murray outdistancing Louisville all the way behind the brilliant work of Burdette and his mates. Burdette accounted for 19 points and was a tower of strength on defense.

Captain Murchler, Reed and Garner were Western's stars in their walkaway victory over Stetson.

OUACHITA STARTS SPRING GRID WORK

Lions Report To Coach Haynes Monday For Opening Of Training

Spring football training will begin at Ouachita parish high school tomorrow, Coach Vernon "Lefty" Haynes announced yesterday. The spring work will last from six to eight weeks, the Lion mentor said.

Ouachita lost six regulars through graduation, but despite that, the Lions expect to have another good team this year. The local eleven experienced one of its best seasons in years last fall in Coach Haynes' first year as football mentor.

Trimble and Eason, tackles; Cobb and Renwick, ends, and Gregg and Bowles, backs, will not return this year, and their loss will be felt. However, Coach Haynes will have a wealth of material with which to work, and it is expected that he will mould and even stronger team than last year's.

Veteran backfield men who will return are Mayer, Cason Mitchell, Stewart, Roye and Strom, and it will be around these players that Coach Haynes will build the Ouachita attack. In the line, the coach will have Wheeler Mitchell, Vandenberg, Peters, Bates and Gattis as a nucleus of veterans around which to construct his forward wall. Bates, an end, is a particularly promising prospect. He's a southpaw and is rated as the best pass receiver on the squad.

The remainder of the material which will greet Coach Hayne Monday consists of last year's reserves and a promising flock of sophomores, who were members of last year's husky freshman team. Several big boys have graduated from the freshman ranks and Coach Haynes believes they will become valuable members of the varsity squad this year.

MANGIN, HARTMAN TO INDOOR FINALS

Defending Champ Advances When Hines Becomes Suddenly Ill

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—Titleholder Gregory Mangin took a "walk" into the final of the United States indoor tennis championship today while Leonard Hartman, whose previous athletic fame has been won on basketball courts rather than on tennis courts, had to grind down Frank Bowden to gain the other berth.

Mangin, three times champion and in the final for the fifth successive year, advanced without lifting a racquet through the default of Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., who reported a sore throat and a high fever. Mangin and Hartman will decide the 1936 title Tuesday night, when the first combined men's and women's championships will be brought to a close.

The final brackets in the women's division were gained by Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn of Philadelphia, wife of the Davis cup doubles player, and former Champion Norma Taubele of New York. Mrs. Van Ryn, who entered the tournament for experience on board courts and without title aspirations, eliminated Millicent Hirsh, 6-1, 7-5, while Miss Taubele had some trouble disposing of Mmme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0. The women's final will be played Monday night.

Karle Schroeder of Sweden and Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., scored a major upset with a semi-final match of the men's doubles championship with a 7-9, 6-2, 7-5, 12-10 victory over the highly fancied and top-seeded combination of Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., and Henry Culley of Santa Barbara, Calif.

MANGAN NOSES OUT CUNNINGHAM

New York A. C. Star Given Nod In What Appears To Be Dead Heat

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 7.—(AP)—Joe Mangan of the New York A. C. caught the judges eyes when he ran what appeared to be a dead heat with the world-record holder, Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, tonight in a special three-man mile race that featured the New England A. A. U. track and field champions at the auditorium. Mangan was timed in 4:28.8.

It was the rubber meeting of the current indoor season for those outstanding milers and Mangan, who reached the last turn a yard behind Cunningham, wiped out that deficit during the last 50 feet of flat going.

They appeared to hit the finish line shoulder to shoulder but Mangan, on the outside, was declared the winner after much delay. The third starter, Lieut. Dick Bauer of Fort Myer, Va., trailed from start to finish and was five years behind when his famous opponents broke the tape.

Cunningham, whose unintentional high running on the last turn caused Mangan's defeat in the Prout games at Boston in January, finished third behind Mangan and Gene Venzke in the latter's 4:11 Wanamaker mile victory in New York the following week.

Dusek Brothers Are The Quintuplets Of Wrestling

By John J. Romano

Wrestling is more than a sport with the Hason family. It is a business of considerably more satisfaction and profit than that of the fish market conducted by Papa Hason in Omaha, Neb. There have been twins and brothers in wrestling. It remained for the Hasons, better known as the Duseks, to furnish the first set of quintuplets to the sport.

Rudy was the first born. His job was to wrestle crates and baskets of frozen fish in the early hours of cold mornings. Built like his father, tall and broad, his muscles soon developed under the hard work, and seeking an outlet for his energy he joined a group at the local gym to pick up a few points about the gentle art of twisting his companions into knots. After a few matches as an amateur, Rudy discovered that strength alone was not sufficient to cope with better schooled boys. Out of his earnings he paid Farmer Burns, an old champion who is best remembered as a tutor of Frank Gotch, to take him in hand.

Rudy Won 165 In Row

Fourteen years ago Rudy was good enough to win the amateur title from Paul Jones. Turning pro Rudy Dusek lost his first six matches. Spurred on by the encouragement and coaching of Farmer Burns, the Omaha Strong Boy accepted a match with Charley Rentrop in Memphis and then went on to win 165 bouts in a row. With this fine record and the fifteen hundred dollars he dropped into the lap of his mother, Papa Hason decided his son had not renounced a sure job for one not as steady.

It required no persuasion to induce brother Ernie to take the same step. Ernie was as big as Rudy and, profiting by the latter's example, had also gone under the wing of Farmer Burns.

After Ernie came Emil, Joe and now Walter, who weighs in the neighborhood of 200 pounds and stands only five feet nine inches tall. This is the average height of the Duseks.

Heavyweights are considered at their best when they are six feet tall. But Rudy Dusek disagrees with this. He points to his match with Joe Stecher in 1926 when the master of the scissors hold was the champion, his two-hour draw with Champion Jim Londos, and his four-hour, fifteen-minute match with Joe Maliciewicz in Tulsa, which ended in a draw.

Known As "Riot Squad"

The Duseks have on occasion all appeared on the same card. This lent distinction to a card. It was something unheard of in the annals of wrestling. And if you think the opponents of the Duseks let up on them just because they were something of a novelty or an attraction you have but to talk to some fans who have seen them in action. You will learn they are better known as the "Riot Squad."

This means they have taken up with what the fans want in wrestling. Plenty of tackling, butting, elbowing and anything else that makes wrestling one of the most gripping on the sports calendar. Any time a Dusek is billed you can look for everything short of modified mayhem. It is expected from them and they give it with a will. Sometimes it is wondered how they or their opponents manage to return to the ring after being thrown out.

Two More Coming Up!

At the present writing Ernie Dusek seems to be the best wrestler of the family. This much is adduced from the fact that he was good enough to hold champion Danno O'Mahoney to a draw. How much this means to Promoter Jack Curley is gauged by the fact that Ernie gets the first crack at any wrestler who considers himself good enough to stack up against the Irish world's champion.

Wrestling may come under the heading of an "exhibition" in some states. To those who have witnessed the tortuous holds and bone-crushing head-locks the grapplers put on one another, it is a wonder ambulances are not provided each arena on the night of the bouts. Wrestling three and four times a week is the usual stint of the Duseks. They seem to thrive on that sort of fare and, judging from the messages seeping back from a big farm on the outskirts of Omaha, there are two more Duseks ready to join their older brothers and set a new all-time mark for members of one family taking a prominent part in any sport.

Neighbor Dusek has no kick coming that the brawny Hasons took his family name and made it one to conjure with wherever wrestling is discussed.

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—(AP)—A sudden spurt of buying toward the close of the cotton market here today apparently inspired by the unsettled European situation sent prices up 40 to 70 cents a bale.

Rush of shorts to cover and some price fixing in the final hour of trading caused near months to rise from 8 to 10 points and the new crop positions to advance 13 to 14 points above yesterday's close.

After opening around the lows the market closed near the highs for the day with the steady trend the same for all months except March in which there was very little trading.

March closed at 11.14 bid, unchanged from yesterday's final figure.

Outside of the troubled situation in Europe there was little in the day's news to stimulate activity.

After opening unchanged to 3 points higher despite slightly unfavorable cables, the market was quiet most of the morning.

October showed the greatest net gain of the day and closed at 10.17, or 14 points net higher.

Exports today were 21,211 bales.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank

(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—The stock market listened to war talk today, and prices became highly unsettled.

As Hitler's troops marched into the Rhineland, recent equity leaders dipped fractions to 2 or more points before meeting support. At the same time, aviation and mining issues developed strength on prospects of military orders from abroad.

The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 1,500,000 shares.

Market analysts generally felt that, aside from the disturbing political situation on the continent, the list was due for a technical reaction because of its lengthy advance.

The French franc and other gold currencies were weak in relation to the dollar. Wheat rallied and cotton steadied. Bonds pointed lower.

Active selling in the first hour put the ticket tape behind floor transactions. Trading slowed later, but the pace again quickened near the finish.

Gainers of as much as 2 or more points included Douglas, United Aircraft, Boeing, Curtis-Wright, American Smelting, U. S. Smelting, Cerro De Pasco, Anaconda, Phelps-Dodge, Crown Cork and U. S. Industrial Alcohol.

Among the principal losers were General Motors, Chrysler, American Can, Case, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Johns-Manville.

Brokers with foreign connections reported some foreign selling, but most Europeans were not expected to liquidate to any great extent in view of the shaky conditions in that part of the world.

Most observers, while viewing with some concern the latest German developments, felt that little would be done by the former allies as the result of the Nazis' renunciation of the Locarno and Versailles pacts.

Recovery in the average rate of industrial activity, while small, was viewed with satisfaction by the financial district. Hopes were expressed that the uptrend would continue throughout the month. If this occurs, it would compare with a flattening out of the trade line in March last year, with a steady decline through spring and summer.

Attention was paid to advices from Washington that the federal reserve is seriously considering putting into effect, some time during the next few months, the long talked of increase in bank reserve requirements.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—Stocks irregular; foreign developments unsettle list. Bonds soft; foreigns quiet and narrow. Curb easy; specialties lower. CHICAGO.—Wheat—Strong; European warlike crisis. Corn—Higher; sympathy with wheat. Cattle—Nominally steady. Hogs—Steady; top $10.45.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, March 7.—(AP)—In the face of disturbing European political developments, wheat prices early today showed little change.

Opening unchanged to 3-8 higher, with but moderately active trading, May 98 3-8 to 58, July 88 3-4 to 78, wheat then scored fractional gains all around. Corn started 3-4 off to 1 7-8 up, May 60 1-8 to 1-4, and later displayed relative firmness.

Wheat closed relatively buoyant, 1 1-4 to 1 3-4 above yesterday's finish, May 99 3-4 to 1.00, July 89 7-8 to 90, corn 3-8 to 5-8 up, May 60 7-8 to 61, oats 1-4 to 3-8 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 25 cents.

CONTRACT IS LET AT CROSSETT FOR BIG PAPER MILL

Work Will Be Done By Rust Engineering Company Of Pittsburgh

CROSSETT, Ark., March 7.—(Special)—Rust Engneering company of Pittsburgh, Pa., construction firm, has been awarded the contract for construction of the new $4,000,000 pulp and paper plant to be built here this year by the Crossett Lumber company. L. J. Arnold, manager of the Crossett Lumber company, said today that engineers of the Rust company were scheduled to arrive here this week to make further surveys at the proposed location. Representatives of the Pittsburgh engineering firm made preliminary surveys of the industrial section of the town last July, following the announcement that a $4,000,000 loan had been granted to the Crossett Lumber company by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Plans are going forward here for immediate construction of the big plant, although there will be no actual building work until after engineers of the Rust company arrive. G. C. Thornburgh, vice-president of the engineering firm, said the plant will occupy a 20-acre site and have a capacity of 150 tons of paper and pulp daily.

Workmen have started clearing the site and work has been started on the three miles of railroad track to be built to the mill. Independent timber owners in the section have received orders to start producing ties and piling to be used in construction of the railroad and foundations for buildings. The ties and piling will be pressure-treated to prevent decay and termite attack. It is believed that 1,000,000 board feet of pine ties, piling timbers and roofing will be used, all of which will be treated at the Crossett Lumber company's plant here.

Hundreds of job-seekers have applied by mail and scores of applicants have called at the lumber company's here since Crossett-Watzek-Gates executives announced February 14 that construction would be begun at once.

M. Arnold announced here today that he felt sure that the services of many men will be required on construction as soon as work starts. Attempting to save applicants a useless trip here in search of work, he said:

"When the Rust Engineering company engineers reach Crossett we will place notices in the daily papers so that those interested in furnishing construction materials and interested in obtaining work during construction can be fully advised. Until such notice appears, there will be no work available."

K. A. Forrest has been selected to manage the plant when operation begins next year. Mr. Forrest has headed plants in several states in the United States and Canada.

He recently has been working with Hardy S. Ferguson, New York engineer, who designed the plant to be built here. Mr. Ferguson will not arrive here for several weeks, but will continue his research work in New York.

Since plans have been announced for building 200 additional houses for employes, hundreds of carpenters have applied for jobs.

The Layne-Arkansas company, Stuttgart, has started work on water wells to furnish a water supply for the new plant. Eight wells will be drilled.

THREE MEN ARRESTED

Roy Peterson, Milton Worley and Otha McDuff, residing in ward 9, were arrested Saturday by the sheriff's department and placed in the Ouachita parish jail on a charge of shooting hogs with intent to steal. The complaint was filed by Bud Baugh. Officers allege that the prisoners had killed a number of hogs recently. Bond was fixed at $750 for each of the accused.

Kit Hathorn and C. C. Linzay, in the second Democratic primary election Tuesday, each polled 530 votes, the official promulgation of returns showed.

COAL PRODUCERS SAY ACT ILLEGAL

Declare To Supreme Court Guffey Statute Is Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—Sixty-six soft coal producers told the supreme court today that the Guffey coal act is unconstitutional in its entirety.

The brief was filed shortly after the state of Pennsylvania had urged that the law be held valid.

The producers' document presented preparatory to arguments Wednesday on the law's constitutionality, was signed by John W. Davis among other attorneys. The document declared that the act "is wholly void for the reason that it is not confined in preparation and effect to transactions in, or directly affecting, interstate commerce."

It added that the act "by its arbitrary, unreasonable, and capricious terms, deprives producers of liberty and property without due process of law in violation of the fifth amendment."

The Pennsylvania brief urged that the act be upheld as "the only way out of a situation that is fraught with grave peril not only to the 23 states concerned, but the whole nation as well."

Davis, one time Democratic presidential nominee, said "the imposition of drastic penalties as a device to compel compliance with legislative mandates of doubtful constitutionality has been repeatedly attempted and as consistently condemned by this court."

"The proponents of this act," he added, "wrote into it penal provisions for the double purpose of coercing acceptance of the code by all bituminous producers, and of denying them the right to test the validity of the code and act in advance of such acceptance.

TWO KILLED, ONE BADLY WOUNDED IN LABOR FIGHT

SEASIDE, Ore., March 7.—(AP)—Two men were killed and another injured in a fight between workers and pickets at the Crown Williamette Logging company today.

James Day, about 35, of Seaside, and William Blackwood, about 40, both pickets, were shot to death. William Weedel, also a picket, was critically injured.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH REVIVAL CONTINUES

"Sign Boards to Hell" was the subject of a sermon Friday night by Rev. Crayton S. Brooks, at the First Christian church. His text was in Matt. 25, 41:16 and Mark, 16, 14:16.

J. F. Sturgis, musical director, sang a song by the Ackley brothers.

In addition to the regular services today, Rev. Brooks and Mr. Sturgis will lead in a meeting at the Louisiana Training institute at 2 p.m.

At 3 p.m. today, Rev. Brooks will give a lecture to children of the First Christian church on "Nails and Strings." Each girl is asked to bring a string as long as she is tall and each boy is required to bring an old rusty nail. The string or the nail will serve as admission fee.

The revival services at the First Christian church will continue through this week at 7:30 p.m. nightly.

Three-fourths of the residences in the United States are constructed of wood.

MAKES OPERATION ON FROZEN FEET

Trapper In Lonely Northwoods Cabin Uses Knife On Himself

WILLIAMS LAKE, B. C., March 7.—(AP)—From a hospital cot Dan Crawley related today how he operated upon himself to save his life as he waited for seven days in a cabin in the wilderness for help.

With a jack-knife Crawley cut away parts of both frozen feet when gangrene set in after his partner, Ted Vachon had left him in their cabin 45 miles from Blue river to summon medical aid.

Crawley was out on his trapline when he discovered his feet frozen and barely reached the cabin.

"Vachon and I tried to thaw my legs but in spite of everything we could do gangrene set in," Crawley related. "Then Ted set out for Blue river. It took him six days to negotiate the 45 miles. During his absence, I was fireman, cook, nurse, doctor and general housekeeper and didn't know what was going to happen.

"You can imagine my joy when I heard the whirr of a plane landing."

Romance Is In The Air; Engagements Expected

By Eve Bradford

MARCH did not come blustering in with traditional lionlike ferocity but rather like a gamboling lamb; and as a result, gaily-flowered spring hats are bobbing up over the cocktail glasses, the tea cups and the dinner china.

With springtime well on its way and the world a place of pictorial beauty, romance is in the air. Brand new twosomes are cropping out all over the place and soon engagement announcements will be flying thick and fast. With Georgine and John Holmes honeymooning somewhere in the sunny south (their hideout still remains a secret), another wedding has been taken from the list of springtime events. It was a quaint and exceedingly sentimental idea that prompted Jeff and Mildred Cole to have the old plantation bell ring out the joyous refrain when the ceremony was being performed. To old residents of Monroe assembled at Pargoud plantation for Georgine and John's wedding, memories came trooping of those days when life was more abundant—days of blissful peace and cheerful living. Down the paved road leading to Pargoud plantation motored many who rode back and forth through the broad cotton fields in carriages drawn by high stepping horses. The ringing of the old plantation bell brought back all these pleasantries tucked away in memory's storehouse to be brought out whenever a note from the past is sounded.

Society came out of the Lenten doldrums long enough to take a deep breath of the flowery fragrance wafted on the Virginia roof last Thursday. We found flowers to the right of us and flowers to the left of us. There was no volley and thunder, but there was sufficient beauty and fagrance to make a whole springtime. As we all know, it takes more than one swallow to make a spring, but just one tea like society enjoyed last Thursday provides enough beauty to weather the remaining days of Lent. True Hudson and Mary Hudson passed among their guests radiating that sense of bien-etre which seems to be their special gift. In their flower-sprinkled frocks, they looked as youthful as their own lovely daughters. Porgie, carrying a lighted taper that guests might light their cigarettes with greater ease, was a picture with face framed in the mellow glow of the candle. So many, many smart-looking women were wearing camellias on their furs and their smart tailleurs. Cherry Bernstein, who loves flowers passionately, wore a superb specimen. So great is her love for flowers that in years past she spent the springtime motoring through the azalea gardens of Charleston and Mobile, and then back home through old south Louisiana, where nature spreads beauty with a lavish hand.

Mrs. W. F. Cummings is a lovely person—gentle of voice, gracious of manner and so delightfully friendly. Hostesses are wise indeed who request that she mingle with their guests. There were others on Thursday equally lovely and gracious who assisted in creating the hospitable atmosphere radiating in every section of the hotel roof. Irma McHenry, for instance, and Daisy Haas, Hortense Touchstone, Margaret Downing, Zett Trousdale, Frances Keenan and Arie Milner.

It took Violet Meyer, that progressive soul, to introduce that fantastic game, "Monopoly," in which embryonic big business men buy and sell whole communities, juggle mortgages and get thrown into jail for their questionable tactics, all at a throw of the dice. The Meyer home is constantly swarming with devotees of the game.

McLeod-Bacon

Claiming the affectionate interest of friends was the wedding of Miss Wilma Allyne Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Irwin Bacon of Bastrop, and Mr. Floyd A. McLeod, on February the twenty-eighth, at five o'clock in the afternoon, with Rev. H. M. Bennett, pastor of the First Baptist church of Bastrop, performing the double ring ceremony in the presence of intimate friends and relatives.

While the guests were assembling, Miss Elaine Hotze, pianist, rendered several numbers and accompanied Mr. Billie Mott, who sang in splendid voice Cadman's "At Dawning." Miss Hotze played "Oh Perfect Love" during the ceremony.

The marriage took place in the home in Bastrop of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. Turpin. The ceremony was performed before the picturesque fireplace, converted for this occasion into an altar fashioned of southern smilax, English ivy and woodwardia. Tall silver baskets overflowing with white blossoms flanked the fireplace at either end. High on the mantel, myriad cathedral tapers in antique silver candlesticks pricked the dimness.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. Miss Oma Shaw Jones, maid of honor, and only attendant of the bride, was lovely in a gown of French blue net and taffeta. She wore a close fitting hat of net and carried an arm bouquet of exquisite golden jonquils.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful wedding gown of traditional white satin, fashioned along classic lines. The skirt was long and full, with tight-fitting bodice and regal collar of Alcenon lace. Her veil of illusion fell from a small halo hat of lace and satin. She carried a superb shower bouquet of roses and valley lilies.

The bridegroom had as his best man Mr. Douglas Bickley.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held, permitting the guests to extend their well wishes and congratulations.

The wedding cake, a luscious three-tiered confection surmounted with a miniature bride and groom, and encircled by silver wedding bells, was cut by the bride ere her departure on her honeymoon. She changed her wedding raimant for a smart ensemble of midnight blue and white.

Mrs. Bacon, moving among the guests offering many courtesies, wore a handsome Mediterranean blue crepe model with shoulder corsage of valley lilies and violets. Mrs. Jarvis, mother of the groom, wore a becoming model of black crepe with corsage of roses. Others extending courtesies were Mrs. David Blackshear, Mrs. Baynard Turpin and Miss Fannie Hobbs, who presided over the refreshment table. Mrs. Lewis Clark, Mrs. William Morris, Mrs. J. B. Rawlinson, Jr., Mrs. Evans Turpin, Mrs. Allen Turpin, Misses Sue Turpin, Dot Turpin and Francis Pettiss also assisted in serving.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Walter Smith of El Dorado, Ark., Mrs. William Morrow and Mr. Charles Bacon of Camden, Ark., Mrs. Donald Bacon and Miss Elaine Hotze of Mer Rouge.

Mr. McLeod is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jarvis of this city and is a valued employe of the Southern Kraft corporation.

Holmes-Shuck

Of interest to friends in this city, as well as northeast Louisiana, is the marriage of Mrs. Camille Shuck, lovely daughter of the late Dr. R. L. Credille and Mrs. Credille, and John Christian Holmes, Wednesday, March the fourth, in the Cathedral at Washington, D. C., at twelve o'clock noon.

They left immediately for New York, from where they sailed for Bermuda.

Mr. Holmes, a graduate of the University of Maryland, is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He is head of the registration division of the securities and exchange commission of Washington, D. C. He is a member of the Chevy Chase Country club and the Metropolitan club of Washington.

They will make their home in Washington.

Terry-Crow

Friends will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Sadie Marie Crow, daughter of Mrs. Claude Crow, and Mr. Clifford Earl Terry on Sunday, March the first, at the First Methodist church parsonage, with the pastor, Reverend W. C. Scott, performing the ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends and the bride's mother, who gave her in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry are now at home to their friends on North Fourth street.

Bracken-Kitchen

The interest of friends is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Angie Kitchen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Kitchen, and Mr. Joe Bracken. The marriage took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. G. M. Akin officiated.

The bride possesses a charming personality that has won for her a large circle of friends. Until recently she was a student in the Ouachita Parish High school. Mr. Bracken is the local manager of the Independent Ice company and has many friends who congratulate him upon his choice of a bride.

Following the ceremony the bride, in an early spring model of navy crepe with accessories of white, stood with Mr. Bracken to receive the good wishes of friends.

The wedding cake was cut and served with iced fruit punch during the reception hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Bracken will be at home to their friends with Mrs. Bracken's mother for the time being.

Mason-Vowell

Friends of Mr. Thomas Mason, son of Mrs. Joseph T. Mason and the late Mr. Mason of this city, will be interested in the following announcement of his marriage in Pine Bluff, Ark., Monday morning, March the second:

"Miss Patricia Vowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Jackson Vowell of Jonesboro, became the bride of Thomas Mason, son of the late Joseph T. Mason and Mrs. Mason of Monroe, La., at a beautiful ceremony Monday morning at nine o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam B. Robinson on South Poplar street, with the ring service read by Dr. Gregory H. Keller, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends.

"Tall baskets filled with stock and snapdragons in pink, lavender and white marked the place of ceremony in the living room. The mantel was adorned with flowers in the same shades in crystal containers.

"The bride was lovely in a costume suit of slate blue with blue fox trimming and gray accessories. Her flowers were gardenias.

"Miss Carmelita Wellman, Miss Edythe McKinney, Herman Frazer and Cornelius Bryant were the attendants. Miss Wellman and Miss McKinney were attired in dark blue tailleurs with matching accessories and their corsages were of Briarcliff roses.

"Mr. and Mrs. Mason left soon after the ceremony for a wedding trip and when they return to Pine Bluff, they will be at home at 402 West Ninth avenue.

"Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mrs. Joseph T. Mason of Monroe, La., mother of the bridegroom; Mrs. Roy Harley of Warren and Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer of Stuttgart.

"Mrs. Mason, an attractive blonde, is a graduate of the Rector High school and also of St. Bernard's hospital in Jonesboro. For the past year she has been a valued member of the Davis hospital staff.

"Mr. Mason, one of the city's popular young business men, graduated from the Monroe High school and the Williams School of Embalming in Kansas City, Mo., and for the last eight years has been connected with the Ralph Robinson and Son mortuary."

Embanato-Ticheli

An impressive twilight nuptial service at St. Matthews' Catholic church united in marriage Miss Angelina Ticheli, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Ticheli, and Mr. Anthony Louis Embanato, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Embanato, with Father N. F. Vandegaer, pastor, officiating. Reverend Father M. F. Walsh, assistant pastor, assisted with the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Joseph Jacola, matron of honor, and four bridesmaids, Miss Rose Embanato, Miss Angelina Danna, Miss Mona Ticheli and Miss Frances Comrato. They all wore picturesque white crepe, floor-length models with short jackets of silver metal cloth and flattering halo hats and carried arm bouquets of crimson Radiance roses tied with silver tulle.

The flower girls, Mary Agnes Rizzo and Mary Margaret Comrato, wore white taffeta frocks and Shirley Temple bonnets. They carried baskets of rose petals, which were strewn along the aisle in the pathway of the bride. The ring bearer, Frank Jacola, carried the rings in the heart of a white lily.

Mr. Embanato was attended by Mr. Leo Paul Ticheli. The groomsmen were: Messrs. Sam Ladart, Ignatius Ciraulo, and Charles Miller, Jr. The ushers were: Mr. Pete Embanato and Mr. Nick Danna.

The altar, banked with crimson roses and palms, created a beautiful setting for the ceremony. Wide, white satin ribbons formed an aisle for the bridal party entering the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Frank Ticheli, Jr., wore a handsome wedding gown of white satin with tight fitting bodice and long, flowing skirt that ended in a court train. The beautiful veil was held to the head with a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried an exquisite bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies and for something old included some of the blossoms from her mother's wedding bouquet.

Following the ceremony, a large reception was held at the Columbus Social club, where the bride an bridegroom stood to receive the congratulations and well wishes of friends and relatives.

Linen Shower Given

A beautifully planned linen shower was given by Mrs. Malcolm Norris in the home of her mother, Mrs. A. E. Smith of Choudrant, La., Tuesday afternoon, complimentary to Miss Claudine Butler, bride-elect.

Bronze And Dark Green Set Off 'Petticoat Ruffles'

THIS chic "petticoat ruffle" frock cleverly uses a dark green print punctuated by bronze and blue flowers. The bronze kid pumps with flat golden bows and the tall bonnet of bronze grosgrain complete an unusually smart spring ensemble.

About Social Security

"Clubwomen can play a vital part in determining the success or failure of the federal social security act," declares Mrs. Clarence Fraim of Wilmington, Delaware, chairman of public welfare for the General Federation of Women's Clubs, who is urging women to study every provision of this act, which she describes as "the most comprehensive public welfare measure ever enacted by congress . . . and probably the greatest peacetime taxing measure ever passed by any country in the world."

"Social security through federal regulation is something entirely new in these United States," Mrs. Fraim says. "Major parts of this are admittedly experimental. What consequences of the act will be on the lives of our people depends in large part upon how the states prepare for it and how they administer its several parts once they go into effect. Clubwomen, working in their own states and making their attitudes known to their own representatives in Washington, can go a long way towards insuring that this measure shall bring security to the American people." Mrs. Fraim has prepared a comprehensive study outline of this act, for the use of clubs.

That we are passing out of an emergency period and must fact problems of public welfare on a permanent basis, is pointed out by Mrs. Fraim.

"Our first stop," she says, "should be to take stock of the present situation so that we may be ready for the eventful day ahead. Clubwomen can serve intelligently only when they know what welfare agencies now exist in their own states, how these agencies function, and what others are needed. Hold fast to those agencies affecting human beings which have proved their worth. Work to save our hard won gains. Study public welfare administration—state, parish and city.

"Study how orders for supplies are placed for tax-supported agencies. Are these orders combines? Are they placed by a state purchasing agent? Compare the provisions of your state law with those of the federal social security act. Study the old-age pension section of this act and check your state law against it. Face the fact that the problem of relief probably will be with us for many years and work for permanent plans for handling this problem. What plans of relief have been proposed in your state?

"Regardless of what we as individuals may think of certain legislative measures already enacted, there is one point on which there can be no dispute—we are living in a period of great social change. Whatever action is taken on matters of public welfare now will not only influence our own times but will affect profoundly the life and happiness of generations to come."

A series of questions posed by Mrs. Fraim as a guide to clubwomen in studying their welfare agencies include: the care of handicapped and crippled children; vocational training and protection of handicapped adults; provision for prisoners' families; free clinics, prenatal and maternal care; the control of communicable diseases, statistics on cancer and cancer control; group hospitalization; and the coordination of welfare agencies.

American art will feature the program of the Fine Arts club at its monthly meeting Monday night in the home of Mrs. C. W. Oseland on Iseland drive. Members are asked to bear in mind the change of date to the second Monday of the month that will be in effect during the remainder of the club year, starting with this month. Hostesses for this month's meeting will be, in addition to Mrs. Oseland, Mrs. Darwin Nichols, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. A. C. Roberts and Mrs. Dean Selig.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Kimbark of Chicago are the interesting house guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Lovett. Several social affairs of a charmingly infirmal nature have been planned complimentary to Mrs. Kimbark.

Reception Held On Hotel Roof Here For Much-Feted Visitor

Beautiful Springtime Decorations Utilized

Blossoms From Gardens Of Sycamore Hall Used In Profusion; Monroe Society Welcomed En Masse

ALL THE florescent beauty of springtime in Monroe was reflected on the roof of the Virginia hotel on Thursday, during the tea hour, when Mrs. Frederick Hudson and Mrs. Murray Hudson welcomed society, almost en masse, with Mrs. Edward Matteson, a much-feted visitor in the city, the guest of honor.

The old gardens of the Hudson home, known to the older residents of this city as Sycamore hall, offered up the lavish supply of blossoms that transformed the roof into a flowery little kingdom. In the Hudson gardens can be found growing specimens of all the floral and ferns known to this region; and when springtime comes, beauty reigns supreme.

The hostesses both wore smart blue and white, flower-sprinkled crepe afternoon models and both carried artistic little bouquets of old-fashioned flowers. Mrs. Matteson wore an afternoon model of aquamarine blue crepe with corsage of pink Columbia roses, pink sweet peas and valley lilies.

The presence of the hostesses' lovely daughters, Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Hudson and Miss Doll Hudson, added charm to the occasion. Miss Margaret Hudson, whose piquant face was shadowed by the flaming candle, centering the cigarette tray she passed among the guests, wore a simple lovely frock of Madelon blue. Miss Elizabeth Hudson, who assisted in the courtesies, wore a smart model of printed crepe. Miss Doll Hudson wore a distinctive frock of blue with short jacket of Chinese blue moire.

The guests gravitated to the tea table, covered with apple green damask and piled high with superb rose-colored camellias. Green tapers flared along the board, where great silver platters of luscious confections were found.

Guests were permitted to occupy the green linen-covered tables scattered at one end of the roof, where the delectable refreshments were enjoyed in leisurely manner.

In a flower-banked alcove, comfortable garden chairs were grouped for several older members of society, among them being Mrs. Matteson's mother, Mrs. E. M. Hudson. Mrs. Hudson wore a black velvet model with a corsage of rare camellias from her favorite bush.

Assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Mrs. H. K. Touchstone, Mrs. Ben Downing, Mrs. Morris Haas, Mrs. George Trousdale, Mrs. W. F. Cummings, Mrs. Henry Bernstein and Miss Leigh Russell.

Noted among the beautifully-gowned guests were Mmes. Gordon Cummings, R. L. Davis, Victor Davis, Edgar Florsheim, Daisy Terzia, J. H. Thatcher, J. H. Trousdale, Frank Farmer, George Snellings, T. H. Guests Entertained

Misses Gertrude Feazel and Sue Kilgore entertained at bridge complimentary to Mrs. George Green's house guests, Mrs. William Guerriero and Mrs. Lee Tyler of New Orleans.

Plaques of yellow daffodils and orchid spring flowers were used in profusion throughout the living room, where the games were played. The golden color scheme was also reflected in the crisp linen covers for the tables.

A delicious salad course and individual yellow embossed cakes were served to: Mesdames William Guerriero, Lee Tyler, C. Powell, Raymond Spence, Hinson Coon, Henry Guerriero, Misses Dorothy Guerriero, Ruth Easterling and the hostesses.

Club Members Dined

Mrs. J. E. Kersh entertained members of the Parliamentary Law club of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book club at a beautifully appointed dinner Wednesday evening.

A low plaque of golden-hued daffodils encircled with tall slender green tapers graced the damask-covered table. The place cards were clever little conceits reminiscent of the Emerald Isle and in keeping with the St. Patrick season.

A delicious five-course dinner was faultlessly served to the members and the following officers of the club: President, Mrs. Dudley Stone; vice-president, Mrs. G. H. Dunnaway; secretary, Mrs. George Lofton; treasurer, Mrs. John Leist.

Birthday Celebrated

Mrs. Crayton Brooks is privileged to celebrate her natal day only once every four years, as she was born on the twenty-ninth of February. This year's celebration was unusually interesting as friends arranged a gala affair as a surprise to her.

Hostesses who planned the details were: Mrs. E. R. Dawson, Mrs. Fred Keller, Mrs. B. B. Martin and Mrs. George Morgan. Mrs. Brooks, upon arriving home, found the guests assembled and was presented with an exquisite corsage and beautiful twin lamps, gifts from the hostesses.

The outstanding feature of the evening was the "treasure hunt" that led Mrs. Brooks to the beautiful array of gifts, wrapped in crisp green tissue reminiscent of St. Patrick and bearing cards from each guest present.

Hostesses of the evening planned several clever contests for diversion and presented Mrs. W. W. Boxley with a handsome gift for her successful efforts.

The lighting of tall green tapers encircling the beautifully embossed birthday cake centering the lace draped table was the signal for the guest of honor to enter the dining room, where the cake was cut and delicious refreshments served. The handsome silver coffee service gracing either end of the table were presided over by Mrs. Keller and Mrs. Martin. Luscious sandwiches, shamrock confections and green mints were found along the board in long silver platters.

The occasion was unusually joyous, as Mrs. Brooks, wife of Dr. Brooks, pastor of the First Christian church, is dearly beloved by the entire congregation. Mrs. Brooks' birthday anniversary supplied the medium through which members of the congregation were privileged to manifest their love, admiration and high esteem.

'Kollege Kapers'

The 1936 edition of "Kollege Kapers" is built around the history of Centenary college during its 111 years of existence, particularly in its infancy, when it was located at Jackson, La. To show the life of a college boy in the days of a century ago, several original and entertaining numbers have been prepared and are presented by an excellent cast.

The different scenes are bound together by a central thread which tells of the education and life of a boy and girl, played by Bob Vaughan and Helen Finke. We see them when Bob is a freshman at old Centenary and they are beginning their life full of dreams and ideals. We watch them grow up through the years until they are old, and their son, Bob, Jr., is preparing to enter Centenary to follow in his father's footsteps.

Helen and Bob enact their roles so as to take their audience with them into the bygone days of crinoline and candlelight. Helen's blonde beauty is offset admirably by the old-fashioned costumes she wears, while Bob's portrayal of the timid school boy of the past is excellent.

Since those were the days of much impromptu speaking and "literary societies," it is only fitting that some mention of these should be made. Bob gives an original dramatic reading written by one of the members of the group. Miss Oschenbein, a newcomer to "Kollege Kapers," offers a dramatic monologue which is one of the highspots of the evening. Elizabeth Palmore and Dana Dawson, Jr., furnish background with an old favorite song.

Fifteen variety acts including band, orchestra, comedians, trios, solos, playlets, skits insure an enjoyabe evening.

"Kollege Kapers" will be presented at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 10, at eight o'clock.

Clothes Spring Tonic

Our grandmother's recipe for a spring tonic was sulphur and molasses, but the youth of today have found another tonic much more to thier liking. It is a matter of clothes; and no matter how serious the case of spring fever, a new hat or one of those new slim, tailored suits with the fluffy white accessories will bring almost instant relief.

The silhouettes of spring are settled. You can be as slim wasted as your romante grandmother, slender and even a little boyish in your tailored suits, you may have an inverted parachute silhouette with a skirt that spreads at the floorline and slinks in at the hips, waists and bodice and ends is a peaked hat.

There is nothing too lovely for the clothes of today if you prefer to follow the heaviest influence of the three leading trends of fashion. One is the period of 1890 to 1900 and the other two are Spanish and Chinese. Whenever the gay 90s are in ascendency the Directoire period is also popular.

The details of the first are all in your mother's photograph album: lacy jabots, mousquetaire sleeves puffed to "muttonleg" fullness, almost; tight little tailored jackets, pleated skirt backs, revers of all kinds, taffeta and lace day and night; fancy blouses of every sort with little tucks, insertion, foggoting and allover embroidery; crepes and linens, piques that do not look prim, sailor hats, flowers, veils, ruffles on rustling petticoats, camisole tops under transparent bodices, colored slippers with square toes and low heels, sashes, necklaces and little broaches to catch collars and cuffs and laces.

Suits are in gray with saffron yellow, navy or chartreuse blouses. Sleeves may be full and broad shoulders many emphasize slender waistlines. Navy is important for spring with copper colored accessories. The redingote idea of a long navy coat with a printed dress is carried on by the gray coat over the wine colored dress, an idea Paris designers have popularized.

Thé gay and daring Spanish influence may be a rose in the hair, a lace evening dress of a bolero. Perhaps it is a brilliant silk cummerbund, such as bull fighters wear about their waists. Spanish colors are themselves romantic and fit the mode of the season. Pick up the details of the current fashion and it is Spanish in jewelry, in color and in line.

Flower Suggestions

The blue delphinium—that garden favorite that grows in the most heavenly blues, and gives the needed spire effect to your border!

Keep an eye on the calendar, for early March is the time to plant delphinium seeds so as to have a supply of new plants to replace the weak or dead ones in last year's border. Or, if you are beginning a border, you'll surely want to include masses of these tall blue spikes at the back of the hemerocallis, white phlox, white lilies and pink or red roses.

Of course, you know that delphiniums do come in red, pink, yellow and white, as well as blue, and that delphinium is just the Latin name for perennial larkspur.

If that's all clear, let's get out to the garden. Take along the larkspur seed, mixed with a cupful of soil. If it's the annual larkspur you have, sow the seed right in the spot where you want it to grow. It can be transplanted, but does best if it is not.

Sow the perennial larkspur, or delphinium, in a seed bed, and transplant it after the first true leaves appear.

Annual larkspur from March-planted seed should bloom in June, while the perennial delphinium planted this March will bloom a little this fall, more next spring, and be at its best when three years old.

Some time in every month of the year should be given to the garden, whether it is spent planning for or working in it.

There is one little duty which should be done right now and that is to sow poppy seeds. These annuals are a most satisfactory plant. They take much sunshine, little moisture and soil not too rich, the natural condition in most yards. On any elevel spot in the open poppy seeds can be put right on top of snow. Scatter them well and do it quickly, the sooner the better. There are wonderful ones for a show of color, called the "Double Carnation Flowered," which must be given a space four inches square for each plant to develop properly. The new single ones in art shades, such as a maroon, a purple one with deep cut edges and the white, pink and red ones, should be planted now and another planting made a month later, so as to have a succession of bloom. All of these can be used for vase arrangements if they are picked when in bud and the ends of the stems plunged into the flame of a candle or the gas. All of these will re-seed themselves, so need to be planted only every other year.

Blue And Gray

By Mary Elizabeth Plummer
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, March 7.—A parade of navy blue and gray stretched from the Empire State tower to Central park this week when Manhattan's department store windows blossomed with spring attire.

All along Fifth avenue, blue and gray suits were the theme, with forthy blouses, bright gloves and gay sprigs of artificial flowers for accent.

One display combined navy suits with scarlet straw hats, scarlet leather bags, gloves and carnations; another paired navy with dark green, and many windows flaunted dusty pink and dark blue.

Gray with raspberry was another favorite color combination. A smart shop displayed a dozen suits of raspberry wool, with gray furs and gray suede shoes.

Crisp jabots, frosty with lace, frothed over many suits at the neckline. A gray lace one appeared on an all-grey ensemble, and the mannequin even had gray hair.

The shade variously known as "British tan," "Haitian tan" and "rust" was the predominant shoe shade, but there were many of dark blue kid, and gray ranked next.

Among the new lapel decorations were purple clover, violets, frosty plums and crabapples on sharkskin suits, and mimosa on gray flannel.

Neither ivory-white nor satin appeared in the one spring bridal ensemble on the avenue. The bride wore mauve chiffon, with a trailing mauve veil, the flower girls were in violet, the bridesmaids in "white-violet" (a shade of faint lavender) and the bride's mother in "anemone pink."

A feature of the evening was the splendid talks delivered by Mrs. J. E. Lanham, Mrs. Ray Leonard, Mrs. C. A. Hunt and Mrs. L. H. Morrow. The serving of refreshments completed the evening's pleasures

Chiffon, Taffeta Shower In South Proves Spring Can't Be Far Away

MIAMI, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Spring will bring milady's wardrobe tailored lace and linen, soft clouds of chiffon, pleated tulle and flowered chintz.

That is the promise contained in the fashion preview of smart dinner frocks and glamorous evening gowns being worn at peak-of-the-season festivities at this winter resort.

In most of the more formal evening costumes, the material is caught high in front and cut to the waistline in back to emphasize more sharply the extravagance of floating skirts.

Where linen and cotton prints are used, the frock is usually of the shirtwaist type. Many models feature suspender back, rounded boyish collars, pockets, and suede or patent leather belts.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Basil and son of Fort Worth, Texas, arrived in the city Sunday to visit in the home of Mrs. Basil's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Blackwell. Mr. Basil is an umpire in the American league and will leave Monday for Lakeland, Fla., where he will be in training until April 8, and will then join the St. Louis Browns for the exhibition games in the north.

Conventions Near

Springtime is convention time for the club women of Louisiana. Especially interesting is the season of 1936, with its comprehensive programs brimming with constructive ideas, new thoughts and plans for greater activity in every line of endeavor.

Of paramount interest to member of the Louisiana Federated Music clubs is the state convention in this city on the twenty-sixth of March. An elaborate program has been arranged by the senior federated clubs of Monroe, which will act as hostesses for the three-day session. The program on the opening day will feature a concert by the Mississippi State Teachers' College Vesper Choir at Northeast Center. This musical event will add luster to the entire program.

Another state convention claiming interest among the club women of Louisiana is that of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in Lafayette on the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth of April, when Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, national president, is scheduled to speak. Mrs. Albert Smith of Winnfield is state president.

Several members of Fort Miro chapter, D. A. R., and their pages are planning to attend the state convention in New Orleans later in the month. Mrs. J. Harris Baughman of Tallulah is president of the state organization.

Members of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs in addition to the district meeting are looking forward to the council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs which will open April 27 in Lafayette. A number from this state plan to attend this session which will attract much interest.

The Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs will meet May 22, 23 and 24 at Baton Rouge. Dr. Mabel F. Wood of New Orleans is state president and Miss Allene Hawsey of Baton Rouge has been named convention chairman. Miss Charl Williams, national president, is scheduled to attend this convention.

And closing the list of spring conventions will probably be that of the Women's Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, which will be held at Lake Charles. The exact dates of this assembly have not been announced but it will be held early in June.

There are no doubt other conventions in the offing and dates for these sessions will be announced shortly by those in charge. However, this list will give some idea of the busy time which faces Louisiana clubwomen for the next few months.

Contest Announced

The department of press and publicity of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs announces a contest in program building in lieu of the scrap book contests which have been in effect for the past few years.

Club leaders are of the opinion that such a contest would raise the standard of club programs, and in accord with their wishes, the rules have been made simple in order to allow for originality. The rules are as follows:

1. Programs shall be limited to one general subject.
2. Programs must be adapted to the club.
3. Programs (year books) may be hand-made or printed.
4. Two programs (year books) may be entered from a district.
5. District chairmen of publicity may select the two books to be entered in the state contest.
6. Programs must be in the hands of the chairman of publicity, Mrs. Addison Thompson, Ruston, not later than October 1.

Judges in the state contest will be Miss Essae M. Culver and committee. Awards will be made at the annual state convention. Clubs will please state location. This is a detail which is often overlooked and the information is needed.

Friends will learn with exceeding regret of the serious illness of Mrs. J. M. Lee at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hillyer Speed, on Pine street.

Dr. John Snelling Speaks On Cancer At Meeting Of P.-T. A.

Officers Are Elected By Twin City Council

Monroe Physician Stresses Fact That Cancer Is An Arrestable Disease; Mrs. E. P. Cudd Is Named President

DR. JOHN SNELLING was the principal speaker on the program at the regular meeting of the Twin City P.-T. A. council of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at the Ouachita parish courthouse Thursday. New officers of the organization were also elected at the meeting.

"Cancer, An Arrestable Disease" was the subject of Dr. Snelling's address. He pointed out the dangers of cancer, its causes and its cure.

The new officers elected were Mrs. E. P. Cudd, president; Mrs. King Hunt, vice president; Mrs. Charles Reid, second vice president; Mrs. W. H. Vincent, secretary; and Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, treasurer.

Cancer can be controlled in 80 per cent of the cases, Dr. Snelling stated in his talk, but the public must be educated to its dangers and be on the alert to fight it. The disease is curable if caught early in its beginning and treatment began at once.

Cancer is not heredity and neither is it contagious, he said. It is a "normal body cell gone wrong." Cures for the disease are surgery, radium and x-rays. Surgery is usually the most popular, he said.

All parts of the body are attacked by the disease, which "hangs like a cloud over every nation." The death toll last year from cancer was 128,000, he said. However, there was a definite decrease in cancer for the first five months of last year, he added.

A report on the "Major Doolittle Amateur Hour," sponsored a week ago was made by Mrs. King Hunt and it was decided that a token of appreciation for aiding in the success of the show would be given Walter Veach, who acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Don Weil, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. W. M. Greenwell and Mrs. Paul Keller were appointed to select the gift.

Mrs. Carl Couch, fifth district P.-T. A. director, gave a report of the meeting held in Shreveport Wednesday. She also announced that a meeting of the fifth district organization would be held in Tallulah on March 14, when, as part of the program, a "model" P.-T. A. program would be given.

An educational picture, "Life and Its Beginning," will be shown by the organization next Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1 p.m. and 10 p.m., Miss Myrtle Rodgers, announced. The picture is being sponsored by the Twin City council and the Ouachita Medical auxiliary at popular prices. Persons under 16 years of age will not be admitted, it was stated.

Summer roundup work will begin soon and Mrs. Marvyn Johnson, chairman of health, requested at the meeting that the presidents of the various units in the Twin City council turn in the names of their summer roundup chairmen preparatory to the beginning of the summer work.

Fairbanks P.-T. A.

FAIRBANKS, La., March 7.—(Special)—As the principal speaker at the Founders' day meeting of the Fairbanks school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. A. L. Smith of Winnfield, state P.-T. A. president, opened her address with this quotation from Themistocles:

"My little five-year-old son rules the world. He rules my wife, my wife rules me, I rule Athens and Athens rules the world."

She continued by obesrving:

"So we find this the keynote on down through the ages—a little child ruling the universe."

Mrs. Smith sketched briefly the lives of the founders of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and gave a resume of the work of the P.-T. A. from 1897 to 1936. She stressed four characteristics that should be imbued in children—frankness, sincerity, enthusiasm and tenacity.

She concluded by praising the local unit for the work it had accomplished.

Other numbers on the program were:

P.-T. A. song, by the assemblage.

Vocal trio, "A Little Child Shall Lead Them," by Mrs. V. Brazil, Mrs. T. Wilson and Mrs. V. Marsala.

Candle-lighting ceremony, participated in by Mrs. G. L. Morgan, Mrs. V. Marsala, Mrs. V. Brazil, Mrs. S. Welch, Mrs. D. Carter, Mrs. O. J. Ham and Carolyn Louise Boyd.

The offering taken was sent to Mrs. E. H. Wellemeyer of St. Rose, state Founders' day chairman.

Mrs. G. B. Wilson, president of the association, presided. Among the guests present was Mrs. Kelso of Winnfield.

Lida Benton P.-T. A.

Founders' day was celebrated at recent meeting of the Lida Benton school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

After the P.-T. A. song was sung and the members had repeated the objects of the P.-T. A., the minutes were read by Mrs. Murphy, the new secretary.

Mrs. McAuliffe announced there would be no business meeting, for the day was set aside to celebrate the founding of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and to pay tribute to its founders, Mrs. Theodore Birney, Mrs. Pheobe Apperson Hearst and Mrs. David O. Mears.

On September 7 the congress of parents and teachers lost one of its co-founders, Mrs. David O. Mears. Mrs. Parker McComb gave a talk on the life of Mrs. Mears. From the day of its founding until her death, Mrs. Mears took an active part in P.-T. A. work.

Two very interesting articles, clipped from a California paper by Mrs. McAuliffe, were read by Mrs. Aubry Boyd and Mrs. Grayson Guthrie.

Mrs. C. P. Cudd, president of the Twin City P.-T. A. council, made an address on "Founders' Day and What It Means." She gave a brief talk on the lives of all three co-founders of the congress and ended with a plea that all dedicate themselves to continue the work of these women.

Two songs were sung by the mother singers, with Mrs. R. M. Gochenour as pianist.

The counting of the mothers found that the 6-B, 6-A and 1-B grades had the most present.

Millsaps P.-T. A.

Founders' day was observed at a recent meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of the Millsaps school in West Monroe. Mrs. Fred Bennett, president of the organization, a unit of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, arranged the program.

Mrs. W. T. Simpson's subject was "The Purpose of the P.-T. A.," which proved to be enlightening and inspired the enrollment of new members. Charles Eby, principal of the school, talked on "Child Welfare," which was also very interesting.

Mrs. Carl Couch, fifth district P.-T. A. director, was present on this occasion and talked along P.-T. A. lines. Mrs. Couch heartily commended the organization on the fine progress made and the number of members enrolled, stating that it was far above the average, considering age and size of the school.

Pupils of Misses Clarice and Golda Roan closed the program with several dance and song numbers.

Attend Conference

Eight members of the Twin City P.-T. A. council and the Barkdull Faulk school Parent-Teacher association attended the conference in Shreveport Wednesday conducted by Mrs. Alice Sowers, national chairman of parent education.

The necessity of parent education and reading of the P.-T. A. magazine and third-year book were stressed at the meeting.

Directors Appointed

The Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, through the state president, Mrs. Albert L. Smith, Winnfield, La., announces the appointment of two new district directors who have already assumed their duties. Mrs. Emile Mentre of Covington is the new director for district No. 6, succeeding Mrs. G. O. Salassi of Slidell, and Mrs. S. W. Maxwell of Sulphur, La., succeeds Mrs. J. O. Modisette of Jennings as director of district No 7. Mrs. Menetre and Mrs. Maxwell have done outstanding work in their local units and are well qualified for the important offices to which they have been appointed. Mrs. N. J. Amy of Eunice has been appointed associate director for district No. 7.

Four new units have come into state and national membership within the past week, making a total of 24 new and reinstated units which have come into membership since May. The four new units are John Dibert school of New Orleans, Mrs. Paul Lemairie, president; Dufrocq school of Baton Rouge, Mrs. J. L. Glover, president, Atlanta school, Mrs. Sam Fowler, president; Gaars Mill school, Mrs. Gaar, president.

Dates for spring district meetings have been set as follows: District No. 4, March 12 at Cotton Valley, Mrs. Howard Brown, director; district No. 3, at Morgan City, on March 14, Mrs. R. H. Bolyard, director; district No. 1, at New Orleans March 18, Mrs. T. B. Beenel, director; district No. 8 at Alexandria March 21, Mrs. P. S. Gaharan, Jr., director. Mrs. P. A. Blanchard, fourth vice-president of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association of New Orleans, will represent the state organization at the first and third district meetings, and Mrs. Albert L. Smith, state president, of Winnfield, will attend the meetings of the fourth and eighth districts.

Enterprise P.-T. A.

ENTERPRISE, La., March 7.—(Special)—Lighting of candles on a birthday cake, which was later cut and served to those present, featured the Founders' day meeting of the Enterprise High school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The program was as follows:

1. Song, "America the Beautiful," by the assemblage.
2. Candle-lighting ceremony.

(a) "A Tribute to the Founders," by the chairman of the Founders' day committee.

(b) "Message from the Founders," by three members of the association.

(c) "The National Congress," by five members of the association.

(d) "An Alphabet," by 26 members of the association.

(e) "Seal of Approval," by a member of the Association.

(f) "Challenge," by a member of the association.

(g) "Loyalty in Observance," by a member of the association.

(h) "Loyalty in Service," by the president of the association.

Winnsboro P.-T. A.

WINNSBORO, La., March 7.—(Special)—"The Place of Music in the Life of the Child" was the March program topic presented at the Winnsboro High school P.-T. A. meeting Monday, March 3. Miss Vernon, music teacher, gave a talk on "Musical Education That Educates." A chorus by Miss Bivens' class was enjoyed. It was followed by a piano solo, "Country Gardens," by Harry Richardson. A group of third grade children gave a victrola demonstration and Charles Louis Mims sang a medley of old southern songs.

Annual reports claimed main attention during the business session since the P.-T. A. fiscal year closes March 15 and the reports must be in the state office on that date. A report summarizing the year's work of each officer and committee chairman was read and filed with the secretary.

Noteworthy among the reports presented was the marked increase from 143 members of last year to 189 members at the present, about 60 of which are men. A noted increase in attendance at meetings during the year is also commendable.

Mr. Glover made a splendid report commending the P.-T. A. for their cooperation during the year and solicited their continued support in bringing before the minds of the people the needs of Winnsboro High school so that the greatest service may be given the youth of the community. He presented three outstanding needs. First, more room; second, a commercial department; third, a larger music department.

Charming hospitality was extended friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mattison Friday night when they entertained at a bridge party in their home at 1500 Fairview avenue. The gifts for high scores presented by the hostess at the conclusion of the interesting games of cards were claimed by Mrs. Perry Marine and Mr. Ben Syres. Others awarded prizes were Mr. Aubrey Dumas, Mr. Doc Rabun and Mr. David Dumas. Mrs. Mattison was assisted in the courtesies by Mrs. David Dumas. The St. Patrick color theme was carried out in all the details. This delightful evening was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Semmes, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Cain, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Marine, Mr. and Mrs. "Doc" Rabun, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. David Dumas, Mr. Ben Syres, Mr. Arnold McQuiston, Mrs. Kutz and Mrs. Joe Norris, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mattison.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. N. Dortez and son and daughter, Raymond and Dorothy Russell, will regret to learn that they will make their future home in Shreveport. Mr. Dortez has for a number of years been associated with the Southern Bell Telephone company here and has been transferred to Shreveport as supervisor foreman, effective March fifteenth.

Mesdames R. B. Henry and B. Poimboeuff visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Landis, Jr., in Winnsboro, last week.

Mrs. B. Beasley, who has been the guest of her sons, Messrs. B. Beasley and E. F. Beasley, and their families, for several weeks has returned to her home in Orange, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson and daughter, Helen, and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson and baby accompanied Mr. Wilson's mother to Orange, Texas, Friday, where she will spend the summer. As customary each year, Mrs. Wilson spent the winter months here with her sons, Messrs. Earl, Sam and R. E. Wilson, and their families.

Dr. and Mrs. George Wright returned home yesterday from Dallas, Texas, where Dr. Wright attended a special meeting of the American College of Surgeons. The trip was enjoyed via the airplane route.

Mr. Howard Hunt has returned to the naval training station at Norfolk, Va., following a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Hunt. Mr. Hunt, in a recent communication, stated that he successfully passed his examinations and has been assigned to the service school for a five weeks' course of study.

Mrs. John King completed a week's visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duffie Brown and returned to her home in Ferriday on Saturday.

Mrs. Edward Matteson, the much feted guest for the past month of her mother, Mrs. E. M. Hudson, left Saturday morning for Miami, Fla., where she will enjoy a visit before returning to her home in New Jersey. Mrs. Murray Hudson, who accompanied Mrs. Matteson to Florida, will enjoy a week's visit in Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Houston of Ellwood, Ind., guests at the Frances hotel for the past week, are spending the week-end at Waverly plantation as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Frazier.

Mrs. Grace Potts of New Orleans and Miss Grace Cook of Baton Rouge and Thomas Gillen, Jr., student at L. S. U., are enjoying a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Frierson.

Clarks

The adult choir of Clarks Baptist church was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Megison at their home recently. The regular choir practice was held with Mrs. Paul Jones, director, in charge. During the social hour Mrs. Megison served her guests with milk chocolate and walnut wafers. Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Paul Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. White, Mrs. Evans Reitzell, Mrs. M. D. Ballard, Mrs. R. D. White, Mrs. C. W. Wilson, Miss Helen Chapman, Damon Bradford, Karl and Wilbur Kraft, Miss Nina Peterson of Columbia, Herman Megison, H. O. Cooksey T. O. Megison of Pineville and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Megison.

The Naomi Schell Y. W. A. of Clarks Baptist church met in the home of Miss Bertrease Corbin recently. The Y. W. A. manual was reviewed to prepare members for the examination to be held this week in the home of Mrs. S. H. Allbritton. A delicious refreshment course of sandwiches, coffee and cake was served by Miss Corbin to the following guests: Mrs. Norman Simpson, Miss Odessa Streetman, Miss Evelyn Blair, Miss Helen Chapman, Mrs. Dolby Johnson and Miss Ethel Riser. Mrs. D. Johnson invited the members to hold their next meeting in her home.

Members of the Clarks home demonstration unit have been engaged at the clubhouse this week with the canning of meats. They have also been working in their home vegetable and flower gardens, making preparations for their display in the community garden show to be held in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crenshaw of New York City were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Sheppard. Mr. Crenshaw is a brother of Mrs. Sheppard.

Perry Cooksey, a medical student of L. S. U., Baton Rouge, was a recent guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cooksey.

Sidney Hines Jr., was the recent guest of his cousins, the Misses Marjorie and Margaret Funderburk in Winnsboro.

Mrs. A. T. Kelly of Bellville, Ill., arrived Sunday for a month's visit with her sister, Mrs. C. C. Sheppard.

Mrs. Alex Busch, who recently underwent an operation in a Monroe hospital, was moved to her home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Kessyner of Lafayette, Ind., are looking over the manufacturing plants of the Louisiana Central Lumber company this week.

Among the teachers who returned to resume their classes this week were Miss Alice Lineback of Monroe, Miss Mildred Bird of Shreveport and Loy Camp of Haynesville.

Mrs. Herbert Freezer of New York City, the beautiful and talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Megison of Clarks, is now playing the leading feminine role in the "Black Widow," at the Mansfield theater on 47th street, west of Broadway. Playing opposite Mrs. Freezer is Stanley Smith, personal friend of Ginger Rogers. The drama has been running for the last three weeks.

Mrs. Freezer has also recently posed for commercial artists.

Mrs. Fred Kunz, who has returned to Springfield, Mo., after a two weeks' visit with her daughter, Mrs. W. L. McDermott, and Mrs. H. O. Cooksey, who celebrated her birthday, were the honorees of a charming little remembrance party, at which Mrs. L. L. Jackson was hostess to the members of the Kaffee Klatsch Klub in her home.

Jonquils and spiraea arranged about the reception rooms were symbolic of the sprng theme. The gift packages were wrapped in art tissues and tied with ribbons holding spring flowers. These were placed at the covers marked for Mrs. Kunz and for Mrs. Cooksey and were opened soon after the group was seated.

Another interesting feature during the refreshment hour was the cutting of the birthday cake by Mrs. Cooksey. The large angel food cake, frosted in white and decorated with fresh cocoanut, was served with tea. Mrs. E. T. Hobson presided over the tea service.

Enjoying this intimate little affair were: Mrs. Fred Kunz, Mrs. H. O. Cooksey, Mrs. W. L. McDermott, Mrs. Henry Mitchell, Mrs. Walter Crowell and Mrs. U. N. Bradford of Grayson, Mrs. V. E. Lewis, Mrs. E. T. Hobson and Mrs. L. L. Jackson.

A courtesy of appreciation was extended to Mrs. S. H. Allbritton at her home recently by a group of young people who called to present her with a bottle of perfume and a bouquet of spring flowers as a token from the Senior Sunday school class of the Baptist church. Mrs. Allbritton, recently selected as the teacher of this class, has increased the enrollment from three to 18 members, with almost 100 per cent in regular attendance. Mrs. Allbritton served those calling with coffee and cake. Included in the party were: Miss Helen Chapman, Miss Evelyn Skinner, Miss Evelyn Blair, Mrs. Dolby Johnson and Miss Bertrease Corbin.

"Home Missions" was the subject of the program rendered at the recent meeting of the Naomi Schell Y. W. A. of the Baptist church in the home of Mrs. Dolby Johnson. Special numbers were the devotional, Luke 9, 18-26, Miss Evelyn Skinner; "Fields That Are White Unto the Harvest," Mrs. Normon Simpson; "Mary Lee, a Jewel of the Orient," Miss Ethel Riser; and "A World of Dolls," by Miss Helen Chapman.

During the social hour, refreshment tables were arranged with colored linens and centered with burning tapers. Mrs. Johnson served her guests with pineapple salad, saltines, coffee and mints.

Present were: Mrs. Norman Simpson, Miss Ethel Riser, Mrs. S. H. Allbritton, Mrs. Margaret Kirk, Miss Evelyn Skinner, Miss Evelyn Blair, Miss Helen Chapman, Miss Bertrease Corbin and Mrs. Dolby Johnson.

Mrs. John D. Stuart has returned from a month's visit with relatives in Prescott, Ark.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Two comely Florida mermaids have proved to their satisfaction that there "always is room at the bottom."

For Aileen Perry and Hedwig Koepke earn their living, and a nice though damp living it is, by posing in the deep crystal clear waters of Silver Springs.

Dropping to the bottom of the pool, they perch momentarily on some sunken giant of the primeval Florida forests while cameras click and tourists applaud.

The camera man descends with the young ladies, but he's protected by a glass box, spurned by his subjects.

After long training the mermaids can open their eyes, smile while exerting sufficient mouth pressure to keep the pressing water outside, and wiggle white toes as a signal they are ready.

The photographer makes a short time exposure, signals from his glass inclosure, and the girls shoot upward 80 feet like a cork bobbin released by a giant fish.

The mermaids, as part of their act, have learned to grip unseen some part of the tree trunk upon which they pose. This combats the natural tendency of water to displace its own weight and force the girls to the surface.

Jonesboro

A few relatives and intimate friends of Mrs. Mary Ellen Wells, better known as "Grandma Wells," gathered at her home recently to celebrate her eighty-sixth birthday anniversary. More of the honoree's many friends were not present because she has not fully recovered from an attack of the influenza.

Mae West's Latest, 'Klondike Annie,' Plays At Paramount

Gold-Rush Days Theme Of New Hit

Victor McLaglen Also Scores In Glamorous Star's New Picture

FROM the perfumed, silk-cushioned boudoirs of a Barbary Coast gambling-dive to the frozen reaches of the Arctic Circle may seem like a far jump, but that grand gal, Mae West, does it easily, and as gracefully as ever, in "Klondike Annie," her new film, which opened to a packed house of enthusiastic fans last night at the Paramount theater.

And whether she's draped in a clinging negligee or bundled up in a warm fur parka, the audience liked her equally well! Too well, as a matter of fact, for in the howls that greeted every one of her lines, the first words of her partners' speeches were often lost.

La West plays the role of a San Francisco gambling-house hostess who escapes from the police to Alaska on a battered old boat belonging to Captain Bull Brackett (Victor McLaglen). Bull falls for her in a great big way, and urges her to marry him, but she stays on in the Klondike, adopting, to throw the police off her track, the name and reputation of "Sister Annie," an evangelist who has died on the way north.

Mae's revival meetings are the talk of all Alaska—torch songs, chorus numbers and everything that goes to make a swell song-and-dance production, and suddenly, "Sister Annie" realizes that the man with whom she's in love, Jack Forrest (Phillip Reed), a federal agent who has been assigned to locate the missing gambling-house gal, is deeply in love with her!

"Sister Annie" wants to marry Jack, but just as she's about to accept his proposal, she realizes that it would be unfair and she takes Bull's offer. They're so much better suited to each other—both of them want a mate who'll be a good sparring partner, and in this combination, they'll both have what they need.

"Klondike Annie" is splendid entertainment—every member of the cast is perfect in his role, and Mae West has been given the opportunity to display an additional, and entirely new brand of humor, which will keep the loyalty of all her old fans, and add many new ones.

At last Mae meets her Victor! The West is conquered . . . and the rest is history. Here is Mae West, as the Spell of the Yukon, in her latest success "Klondike Annie," the attraction playing at the Paramount theater today and Monday. Victor McLaglen, Phillip Reed, Conway Tearle, Helen Jerome Eddy and others are in the important supporting cast. Mae West sings four new song hits written by Gene Austin, who also is in the picture.

Husk O'Hare, above, nationally-known orchestra leader, brings his "Genial Gentlemen of the Air" to Three Mile Inn Tuesday night. O'Hare's band, which is favorably known to millions of radio fans, brings a floor show which is said to be one of the best now on tour.

Lawrence Tibbett . . . fresh from new triumphs in radio and opera . . . comes to the Capitol theater Tuesday in "Metropolitan," revealing the glamour, romance, comedy, temperament and drama behind the curtain of the world's most spectacular opera house. Lovely Virginia Bruce is the romantic lead. Tibbett sings "Pagliacci," "The Road to Mandalay," "Toreador Song from Carmen," "The Barber of Seville," "De Glory Road," and "Faust."

Katherine De Mille, Larry "Buster" Crabbe and Tom Keene head the cast of featured players in Zane Grey's "Drift Fence," playing at the Capitol theater today and Monday. "Drift Fence" is an action-filled story of the Arizona range, with villainous bands of cattle rustlers trying to stop the erection of a "drift fence" to protect legitimate ranchers' cattle.

Zane Grey Film Now At Capitol

'Buster' Crabbe And Katherine DeMille Star In 'Drift Fence'

STIRRING drama, such as one has come to expect of a Zane Grey story, characterizes "Drift Fence," the new Paramount action picture which has its opening today at the Capitol theater. It unfolds a colorful story of the days when desperadoes ruled the Arizona cattle lands, and refused to let big ranchers confine their herds within fences.

No one is more adept than Zane Grey in presenting primitive struggles of the vanished frontier days of Arizona. And "Drift Fence" is one of the most engrossing stories that has come from the pen of this wizard of western tales. Adventure, romance, and humor are skilfully blended in this danger-bristling melodrama.

A "drift fence," peculiar to the frontier days, was an enclosure used to thwart rustlers, by preventing cattle from passing into the wrong hands. In "Drift Fence," Tom Keene plays a Texas ranger who takes the place of an eastern lad come to learn ranching, and starts to build a drift fence, knowing that the cattle rustlers will do all they can to prevent it. Complications get under way when the rustlers persuade a hard-fighting small rancher to side with them, since it is to his interests to have his cattle graze at large.

Interwoven through the fast fight-it-out action is a romance between the ranger and the sister of the young rancher out to protect his grazing rights.

COLUMBIA, La., March 7.—(Special)—Officers and directors of the Citizens' Progressive Bank of Columbia have been re-elected to serve during the coming year.

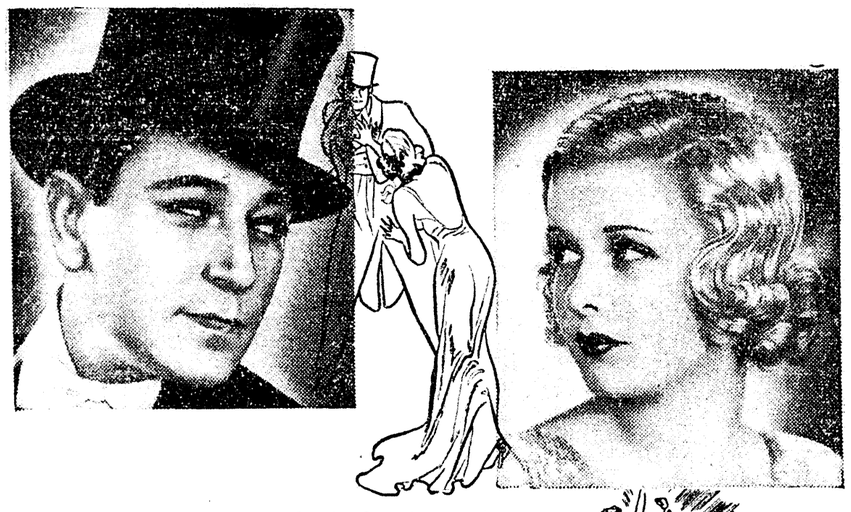
Directors are: J. W. James, J. W. King, L. C. Nunn, J. E. McClennahan, G. E. Rogers, W. C. Ferrand, W. C. Hester, W. B. Reitzell, Sr., and W. H. Waggoner.



What happens when Public Enemy Number One takes over the job of managing the eccentric and headstrong heir of one of America's wealthiest men? You'll find the delightfully humorous answer to this question in Columbia's "She Couldn't Take It," playing at the Capitol theater Wednesday. John Boles, the blonde and lovely charmer who is the thorn in his side when he undertakes the tough assignment of taming the "Mad Van Dykes."

Shirley Temple, she's a honey child! More captivating than ever, in crinoline and pantalettes in her latest picture, "The Littlest Rebel," playing at the Capitol theater Thursday and Friday. In it she is a bundle of charm from Dixie, singing new songs, dancing new steps and mingling tears with laughter. She is supported by John Boles, Jack Holt, Karen Morley and Bill Robinson.

Ronald Colman and Joan Bennett, who with Colin Clive, Nigel Bruce and Montague Love, head the fine cast in the romantic drama chock full of thrills, "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo." It's the attraction at the Paramount theater Thursday and Friday. It is one of the most exciting adventures in fact or fiction, telling a story of a man who was the luckiest man in the world . . . in everything except love.

Madge Evans, Franchot Tone and Louise Henry in a scene from "Exclusive Story," the attraction at the Paramount theater Tuesday and Wednesday. Martin Mooney wrote the story and refused to reveal the source of information about the notorious policy racket and received a jail sentence. Now see the revelations on the screen. Stuart Erwin, Joseph Calleia and J. Farrell MacDonald are also in the big cast.

BUILDING IN USE

FERRIDAY, La., March 7—(Special)—The new office building recently constructed for the Bluff City Wharf company on the Mississippi river is now in use, the company having moved its equipment into the building. The office is located near the ferry landing used by the steamboats Ollie K. Wilds and George Prince, ferryboats of the Royal Route company.

HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION WORK IS PROGRESSING

FERRIDAY, La., March 7—(Special)—Work is progressing rapidly on topping the highway between Clayton and Sicily Island in Catahoula and Concordia parishes under the supervision of the Louisiana state highway commission and with continued favorable weather the new project will soon be completed.

A new project has been let in Catahoula parish by the state department, that of the nine miles between Serena and Boggy Bayou. Nelson Brothers of Baton Rouge were the successful bidders. In Tensas parish a contract for ten miles has been let by the commission on various projects to J. C. Leathers of Alexandria.

HOME ECONOMICS DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED

WISNER, La., March 7.—(Special)—Home economic students and teachers will meet in the high school auditorium here March 12 at 1 p.m. Invitations have been mailed to all students and teachers in Franklin parish.

The purpose of the meeting will be to celebrate the 25th anniversary of home economics in Louisiana. Approximately 18,000 girls and many teachers throughout the state will take part in this silver anniversary celebration from March 9 to 14, according to Miss Clyde Mobley, supervisor of home economics of the high schools of Louisiana.

O'Hare Band Plays Here On Tuesday

'Genial Gentlemen Of Air' In Engagement At Three Mile Inn

"HUSK" O'Hare, who brings his "Genial Gentlemen of the Air" to the Three Mile Inn on Tuesday for a limited engagement through the courtesy of the Music Corporation of America, has been in the public eye for almost 20 years with his distinctive rhythms which have won him thousands of admirers.

Winning the favor of his public has kept "Husk" plenty busy making new arrangements and studying changing styles in music so that he would be ready at all times to please the musical palates of his followers.

However, of late, the maestro has been gathering new honors unto himself. A few years ago he wrote a treatise on psychology called "Wherever You May Be, I Hope's You're Happy," which incidentally, is part of the signing off speech on his broadcasts. Receiving a call from Doubleday Doran, publishers of the book, "Husk" was amazed to learn that the book had met with unusual acclaim among students of psychology all over the world and that over 400,000 copies had been sold.

The book is rapidly assuming a place as one of the largest sellers in history. Upon learning of the reception given his first literary effort, the genial baton waver, immediately set forth to amass data for his second book which he is calling "Something to Remember," and which will be a sequel to his first book.

The book is already in the hands of his publishers and will make its appearance on the bookstand early this winter.

When he comes to Monroe while engaged in making a limited tour of this section of the country, O'Hara will present the same featured artists and entertainers who have won fame through his broadcasts over both NBC and CBS networks. The "Three Girl Friends," a lovely trio of captivating singers who have been with the maestro for five years, are featured on the vocals of his tuneful melodies.

CHAPTER VII

Their last evening together! Mary MacKenzie had not had an altogether gay girlhood, what with the drear barrenness of Moosetown and the tyrannical domination of her father. But this was a new kind of pain—this thought that tomorrow Tony would soar into the air and be gone, in just the same unexpected manner in which he had arrived in the winter.

And Tony himself, Tony the gay one, the good companion, the almost never serious. Was she after all no more to him than pleasant company in a wilderness? Certainly he had indicated no more during the evening they spent together after the boat left, carrying Dr. Luke on his mission to the outside." They had laughed together, played their silly little games together, been very gay. Tony had obviously been excited at the prospect of flying south again. Was he really glad to go—would he go without leaving a single hope of reunion except anyway! Like it better here where it's like eating hash—never know what's going to turn up next!"

The plane stood at a corner of the field just ahead, with Greasy fussing at the motor in a gesture that was little short of a caress.

"You don't want to bury yourself in a hole like this, Tony!" burst out Mary. (And "Oh, how I wish you would," she said to herself.) "You want to be in a city, where there's excitement, and lights, and places to go, and ideas, and new people all the time. Away from all this narrow-mindedness and—and ignorance!" She blurted out the last word explosively.

"You mean you do!" corrected Tony gravely.

"That's it, I guess," admitted Mary candidly. "That's what I mean." There was another silence between them as they walked across the field to the plane.

"All ready, Greasy, is she?" called Tony as they approached. In his impatience, Greasy already had the motor throbbing.

Greasy's face fell. Visions of a new crack-up danced before his eyes. "Say —" he began. But Tony cut in ahead of him.

"Get in!" he said to Mary, his tone completely matter-of-fact. Mary drew away slightly.

"Come on, get in!" Tony urged.

"Are you crazy?"

"Sure, but what's that got to do with it?" asked Tony cheerfully. And with the same impudent grin spreading across his face he picked Mary up bodily. She struggled faintly, half-frightened, half-delighted at the prospect of a hop—a chance that might never come to her again—with Tony as pilot.

"Tony, you mustn't!" she objected faintly. "Please, Tony . . . let me down!"

"But if Dad should find out—"

Tony maliciously speeded up the motor, which responded with a deafening roar.

"Can't hear you!" he shouted impudently. "Can't hear a word you say!" And with a louder roar of the motor, the plane trundled down the field, bouncing and rocking on the rough surface, and suddenly spurned the ground behind it.

"I hate to admit it," she replied, "but it's wonderful!"

"Higher?" he asked. They were getting accustomed to the roar of the wind and motor, and he spoke more normally. Mary peeped over the edge of the cockpit at the straggling houses and overhanging pine forests of Moosetown.

"Yes," she replied, speaking more softly into the tube. "As high as you can go!" As though shocked at her own daring, Mary relapsed into her seat as the ship circled higher and higher, peering over the edge of the cockpit from time to time. Then she took up the speaking-tube again, and as though speaking to it alone rather than to a person at the other end, she said softly,

"Tony—can you hear me?—I'm happier than I've ever been in my life! I'm happy, Tony—so happy I'm crying!"

"You mean laughing, don't you?" came back Tony's voice through the tube.

"No, Tony, I'm too happy to laugh," —but a smile won out over imminent tears.

Puzzled, Tony shot back through the tube "You don't think the altitude's making you a little dizzy?"

"No. I'd like to go even higher," returned Mary, glancing over the side at the miniature map of the Moosetown country that lay far below. She lowered her voice and spoke again as to the tube itself.

"Because I couldn't talk to you like this if we were down on the ground, or if you were looking at me. This is kind of like talking to your picture up in my room, and saying, "Tony, I don't want you to go away."

Whether Mary intended the words for Tony, no one but Mary can ever be sure. But the fact remains that he heard every word. He stared at the tube like one who has seen a wonder. "W-wh-what was that?" he stammered.

"I don't want you ever to go away, came Mary's soft voice. "I know it's wrong to talk like this, but I don't care. It seems right, way up here, just us two! You can't go away without knowing what fun you've brought into my life—what you've come to mean to me!"

"Now, Mary!" came Tony's voice. "You're too young to be saying such things! Why you're just a kid!"

"Am I?"

"Well, I thought you were! Say what's happening up here, anyway? You were just a little kid down on the ground, but now—" Jubilantly he resumed, "Why I don't care what it is, it's all right! I'm just as daffy as you are, right now! And a swell time to find it out, just when I'm going away! For two cents I'd head for Montreal right this minute!"

The ship dipped suddenly. Terrified Mary cried, "No, no! Not now! Please! Take me down, please!"

Into a long, circling glide went the ship, bounced slightly, and rolled across the field. Tony jumped out, and lifted a trembling Mary from the plane. For just a moment they were in each other's arms.

Then came a sudden splintering crash, and the two sprang apart. Rounding the fuselage to see what was going on, they saw a strange sight. Mary MacKenzie's father, purple with rage, and spluttering expletives, was hacking violently at the wing of the plane with an ax. Struts, covering, and wires were rapidly becoming a tangle of wreckage under his furious blows.

"This'll teach you to take my daughter away!" he blazed. "I'm on to you and your tricks!" he yelled, swinging the ax. "I'll fix your clock, you young smart-aleck! Now get out! Get out o' this town!"

Tony took one quick step toward MacKenzie in furious anger, then suddenly stopped and began to laugh, hysterically.

"Are you mad, man?" growled MacKenzie.

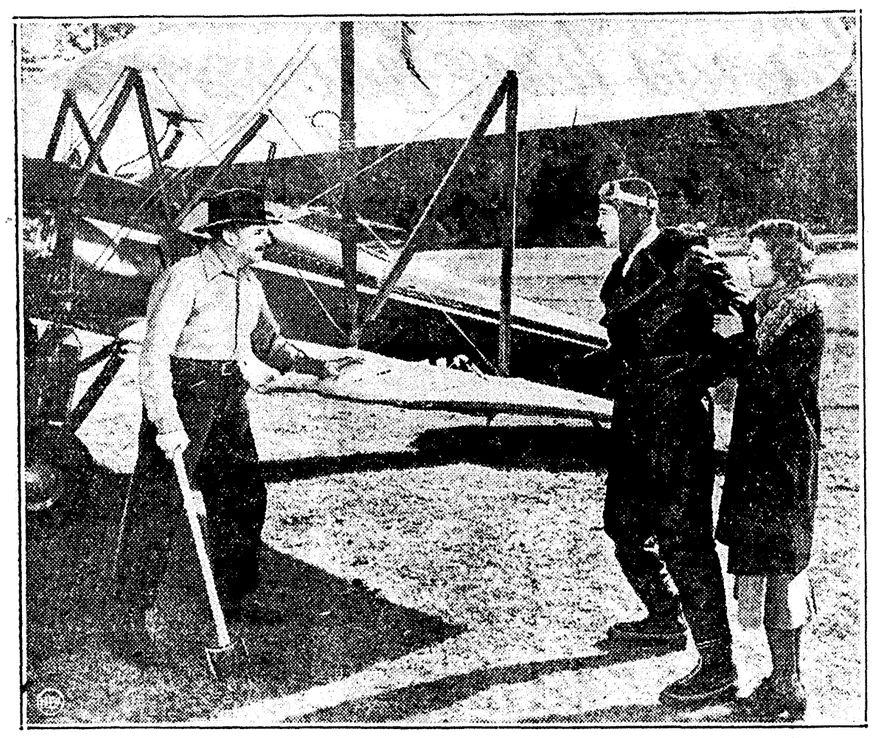
(To be continued.)



"This'll teach you to take my daughter away!" blazed MacKenzie. "Now get out! Get out o' this town!" Tony took one quick step toward MacKenzie in furious anger, then suddenly stopped and began to laugh . . .

ASSIGNED TO BASE

Jord Hamm, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Hamm of this city, who recently enlisted in the United States army, has written his parents from Fort McPherson, Georgia, that he will be transferred along with a number of recruits to an army base near San Francisco. The trip to San Francisco will be made soon by boat through the Panama canal.

Oak Grove

The Oak Grove Methodist Missionary society met in the home of Mrs. Ollie Briggs, with its president, Mrs. John R. McIntosh, presiding. "Teaching Christian Living" was presented by Mrs. Howard E. Pfost, then discussed by the society, with "What Place Do Children Have in the Home," also presented by Mrs. Pfost.

A report on social service was made by Mrs. Jerry Williams. A prayer by Mrs. Jessie James closed the meeting, which was attended by 16 women, to whom a salad course was served by the hostess. The next meeting of the society will be in the home of Mrs. John R. McIntosh, when "The World's Outlook" will head the program.

The Methodist Women's Missionary society met recently in the home of Mrs. Mae Kelly. The song, "Bringing in the Sheaves," opened the meeting and Rev. Howard E. Pfost led in prayer. A letter from Dr. H. L. Johns, presiding elder, concerning a recent missionary rally in West Monroe, was read. Mrs. Pfost talked on "Parents As Teachers of Christian Living." A debate was entered into on the subject, "Can Children Think About Social Problems?" with Mrs. C. H. Neely and Mrs. R. V. Reeves having the affirmative side and Mrs. Dan Kelly and Mrs. W. McG. Dollerhide the negative. It was announced that the local society would have charge of the next zone meeting to be held at Waterproof.

W. S. Bassett has returned from Baton Rouge.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson of Eudora, Ark., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Williams last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Leach have returned from a visit in Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Duke and Marvin Lipp have returned from a visit in Little Rock, Ark.

Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Kelley and Joe Kelly attended the funeral rites of Jim Bolton in Alexandria.

The Baptist Missionary society met Monday afternoon at the Baptist church, where a class in mission study was led by Mrs. George Bryant and a class in a Bible study by Mrs. E. D. Butler.

Miss Dorothy Bradley spent the week-end in Monroe with friends.

Mrs. A. Nordgren and Mrs. Sam Brown motored to Baton Rouge and New Orleans for the week-end.

The Oak Grove Women's Departmental club met Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church and presented a program on "Resources of Louisiana."

Berry Yeldell, Buddy Moore and Ozell Daughtrey were recent guests of Miss Nobie Rae Whitaker.

Mrs. W. L. Bagwell has returned from a visit to her daughter in Jonesboro.

PLATT FUNERAL HELD SATURDAY

Funeral For Well Known Woman Is Conducted At Grace Church

The funeral of Mrs. J. W. Platt, 59, member of a prominent Monroe family, who died Friday night following an operation, was held at Grace Episcopal church Saturday at 3:30 p.m. The rector, Rev. E. F. Hayward, officiated. Interment was made in Riverview Burial park. Pallbearers were Guy Stubbs, Robert Layton, E. T. Lamkin, J. H. Trousdale, Dr. J. B. Vaughan, Fred Millsaps, T. O. Brown and Thomas C. Newton.

Mrs. Platt, before her marriage, was Miss Olive Reily, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reily, pioneers of Morehouse parish. She was left an orphan at an early age, and following the death of her father and mother, she attended Edward McGee college at Woodville, Miss., and later graduated from Louisiana State Normal college.

After her graduation she taught in the Ouachita parish high school until her marriage in 1905 to John W. Platt of New Orleans.

She took an active part in social and church circles here and was a member of the first book club formed in Monroe. She was a prominent member of Grace Episcopal church and belonged to the Grace church guild.

Surviving are her husband, two sons, J. W. Platt, Jr., of Monroe, Layton Platt, of New York; two daughters, Mrs. John DuBuisson of Opelousas, and Miss Ann Platt of Monroe; one brother, William B. Reily of New Orleans, and one half-sister, Miss Mollie Tucker of Monroe.

Heard, 1,954, Judge W. Decker Moore, 1,727.

Certification of the successful candidates will be made at a meeting of the committee which will be held Monday and the returns forwarded to the secretary of state at Baton Rouge.

TWO MEN ARE ARRESTED FOR ROAD DISTURBANCE

Accused of creating a disturbance on the Brown Paper mill road, in the vicinity of Baucomville, George Thomas and Newman Mize were at liberty under bond Saturday after being arrested by members of the sheriff's department. Mize was charged with driving while intoxicated and Thomas was charged with disturbing the peace and drunkenness.

According to information received by the officers, the two men were driving back and forth along the road, in a truck, throwing beer bottles at persons they met. They were said to have narrowly missed several persons walking along the highway.

INJURED RESIDENT OF OAK GROVE RECOVERING

OAK GROVE, La., March 7.—(Special)—B. S. McCasland, local citizen who was recently severely injured when melted metal exploded into his eyes and onto his face, is reported to be in an improved condition at a Vicksburg, Miss., hospital.

His eyes will be normal, it is said. He is expected to return home at an early date.

BIG CROWD HEARS SCIENCE LECTURE

Miss Margaret Murney Glenn Speaks At First Church Friday Night

A large audience, many of them from Vicksburg, Shreveport and other cities, attended the lecture given at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Friday night by Miss Margaret Murney Glenn, member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church, Boston. The lecture was entitled, "Man's Spiritual Nature as Revealed by Christian Science. Miss Glenn was introduced by W. J. Tremaine, a member of the local church.

Miss Glenn spoke in part as follows:

"A question of vital import to us all is, What constitutes our nature, our substance, our being? In other words, What is man? Natural science explains man as a wholly material creation; medicine treats him as a material body, with a mentality resident in the brain; theology believes him to be material and spiritual. The natural scientist is correct in believing that there must be a science to explain man's nature, but this science is the Science of Spirit, not of matter. The theologian is correct in maintaining that God created man in His image, but this image, in order to be a likeness, must be wholly spiritual, for God is Spirit, not flesh.

"The Science of Christianity does not deprive the natural scientist of science, but gives him a higher concept of it. Neither does it rob the religionist of his belief that man is God's image, but it reveals man in the perfection of his spiritual being as that image. The discoverer and founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, writes: "Nature reflects man and art pencils him, but it remains for science to reveal man to man." (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 124), and the Psalmist indicated man's purely spiritual nature when he said, "What is man, that thou art mindful of him?" Let us consider the things of which God must be conscious, or mindful, and thus learn more of man's spiritual nature.

"What is man's substance, that God is mindful of it? If the answers of the physical sciences are correct then are we, of all creatures, most miserable, for according to their analyses a mortal man consists of matter-substance which is subject to discord, decay, and disintegration. Can God really be mindful of a substance that is discordant, decadent, destructible, and can this unsubstantial, so-called substance constitute man, who is God's most noble creation? Assuredly not, and the science of man, opposed to the so-called science of mortals, reveals man's substance as consisting of spiritual ideas, which are as immutable as their source, the one divine and infinite spirit, God. Man's substance cannot be perceived by the material senses, for it is spiritual and mental. All there is humanly to you and me is our thinking. Remove a person's thinking and there is no longer human evidence of his existence.

Christian Science teaches that the qualities of love, joy, strength, harmony, honesty, and intelligence, that you and I manifest, constitute our substance. One often uses the expression, There is not much substance to what he says, or, He is a substantial sort of person, meaning not that he has a great deal of matter, but that his thinking is intelligent, honest, just and loving. Let us see why these qualities are substantial. Honesty cannot be burned, drowned, nor destroyed by an accident, and this is true of every other quality or attribute of God, such as harmony, health and love. These quaities do not originate in the brain, for a substance which is subject to discord, decay, and disintegration is incapable of producing its opposite, namely, substantial, immutable, harmonious ideas. Their origin is in the divine mind. This mind, being one, can know nothing unlike itself nor outside of itself, for it is infinite, and there is none else, as the Bible says. Mind's thoughts or ideas about itself constitute man, the only man of whom God is mindful. If the true man of God's creating were the man of dust, described in the second chapter of Genesis, or the man evolved by atomic force, think of what extremely ungodlike and unspiritual things God would be mindful. And it would follow that the more we knew of God the more we would have to know of such material theories.

"Even the most learned men do not claim to understand perfectly the origin, nature, and substance of a mortal. This mystery with regard to mortal life has led some to consider it a marvelous creation, and natural scientists, physicians, and others have continued to grope from one theory to another in the hope of finding the proper solution to the enigma of mortal existence, an existence which can no more be explained than can the statement that two times two are five.

"If we are not to know God and man, in other words, if we are not to have a science revealing the truth about them, then Jesus' work was in vain, for he said, 'I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.' And then he defines life in these words—'this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent.' Jesus came, then, not to mystify us, but that we might have a more abundant knowledge of God and true man, whom he represented, and that we might know God and man as he knew them. This true knowledge he declared to be life eternal."

COUPLE HURT IN TRUCK MISHAP NEAR WINNSBORO

Mr. and Mrs. John Hooper of 711 South Grand street, were injured Friday night when the truck in which they were riding turned over near Winnsboro in an accident reported caused by a herd of cows in the highway and blinding lights of another motor vehicle. Mrs. Hooper suffered cuts, bruises and fractured ribs. Mr. Hooper suffered general cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Hooper is under a physician's care at her home. Her husband is not confined to his bed but is unable to leave the home.

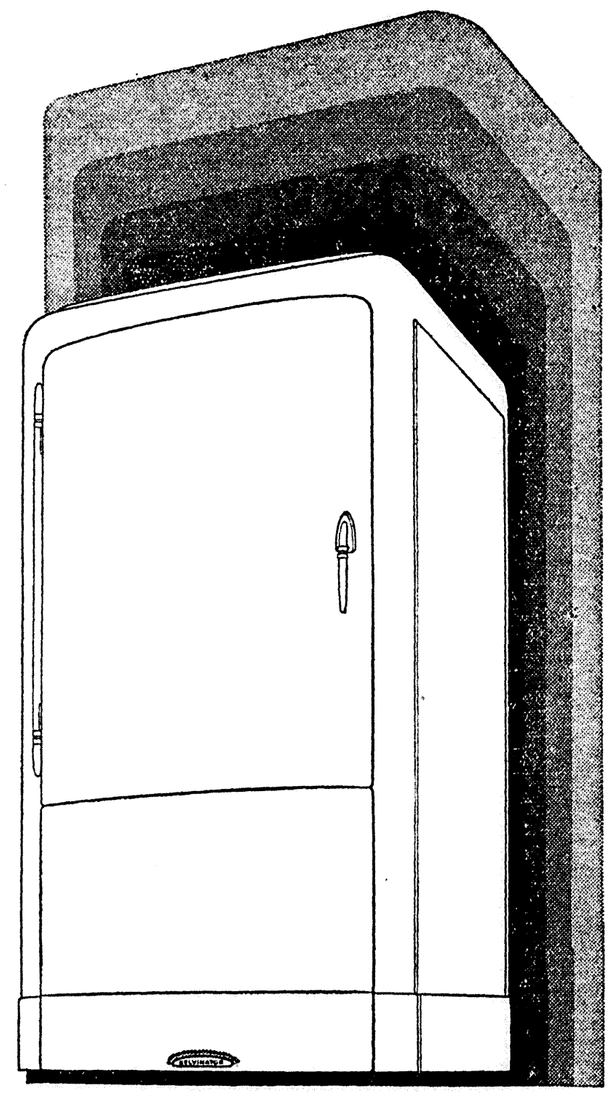
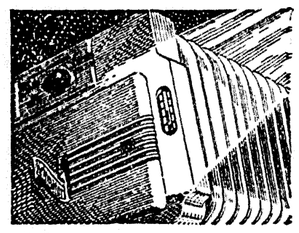
The Easiest Payment Plan of Any Refrigerator

On FHA Terms As Low As 15c a Day

Big things have happened since you or your friends bought refrigerators





Visible COLD

The controls of the 1936 Kelvinator keep food compartment temperatures ideal, regardless of how hot it is in the kitchen. And you can see what the temperature is, because a Built-In Thermometer tells you that food is being kept surely, safely, dependably cold.

Visible ECONOMY

Today, for the first time in the history of the industry, Kelvinator provides you with a Certificate of Low Cost of Operation. The 1936 Kelvinator uses one-half or one-third as much current as many refrigerators now in use. This saving alone may justify replacing your old refrigerator.

Visible PROTECTION

You may know today, beyond a shadow of doubt, that the refrigerator you buy will give you long years of service. Because the 1936 Kelvinator is backed by a 5-year Protection Plan, written and signed by the oldest company in the electric refrigeration industry.

IN EVERY CITY and town in America—in clubs and homes and on the streets—people are talking about Kelvinator—the new refrigerator.

Those who have put off buying any electric refrigerator—who have waited for new developments—have found in the 1936 Kelvinator the answer to every question a conservative buyer could ask.

Owners of automatic refrigerators are replacing them with new Kelvinators, not because the old ones are worn out, but because new developments, new discoveries, new inventions now offered for the first time have, by comparison, made former refrigerators obsolete, wasteful and old-fashioned.

The 1936 Kelvinator gives you Visible Cold. It maintains low temperatures in the food compartment to a new and amazing point of accuracy. And, for the first time, a Built-In Thermometer tells you in unmistakable figures how cold it is. You know food is being properly preserved, health properly protected.

It gives you Visible Economy. Many refrigerators now must be considered wasteful of electric current, for Kelvinator uses a half or even a third as much current as many now in use. And there can be no doubt about economy, for every Kelvinator is sold with a Certificate of Low Cost of Operation.

And it gives you Visible Protection. Every Kelvinator is backed by a 5-year Protection Plan signed by the oldest company in the business.

The 1936 Kelvinator gives a new meaning to the word "convenience." There are flexible rubber grids in every ice tray, automatic defrosting switch, sliding shelves, interior light—everything to lessen the burden of housekeeping.

If you are one of the 7 million owners of automatic refrigerators, or if you have not yet bought, see the 1936 Kelvinator, get all the facts about this new refrigerator, learn how easily you can own one by our liberal Deferred Payment Plan.
